represent the University in interstate contests.

So it is necessary that literary secretaries hold very frequent sessions — one each week in the general rule and it is also necessary that the members be regular in their attendance.

The members of the literary sectaries must meet once a week to receive instructions and explain-ations in detail, and the opponents are given such instruction and training, so that all classes may be better prepared to serve
