The great university movement has led toward democracy in Iowa. A marked evidence of this is seen in the university dinner to be given in the Henry Monday next. It is being popularized because it brings the student body and faculty together, where over the fire of state, a close acquaintance may be formed.

In preparation for it, every effort has been made to keep the college open in view. All feelings of good fellow-ship have been fostered. Everywhere has been planned for every one. A real family gathering is to be held. The whole body of us, including the free college sand students, can find here. The starting of U. songs will be a feature. Telling will be led by the band. Speakers are to be made by faculty members, students and alumni. Reports from county barns will be read. The complete costume of pleasure is in store for those attending. The committee in charge has sought to make this gathering the longest remembered event of the year.

The fact that this is a part of the greater university movement to secure a rapid sale of tickets. Many of the fraternity and class by present cannot be in a body, but those who have bought the ticket are asked of every loyal man who favors the movement for a generous support.
