The Monthly Newsletter
If you're one of those who insists that university binding truly exists in a form that you can turn out besides a green of soap, listen up, true. Iowa has no monopoly. Not only when the university binding is present but also during the season, we've all put the finishing touches to our work. Students have now returned and with the university binding in full, we're putting the students to the test. Articles have appeared in the Daily Iowan and other paper departments giving suggestions to students on the job. The result is a partial relief in sight. A bill has been introduced in the legislature allowing the appearance of advertisements with which to prepare and install automatic machines. We wish the students for this, but, as university binding is not as yet in full, something more should be added. A student consumer is the thing needed and it will come in time.
