Where the Present Clinic Was Held

Dental Building
The present Dental Hall, which serves as the administrative center of the dental school, was created in 1895 at a cost of $15,000. N. W. Stallman, who resided in Iowa City, donated $10,000 towards the construction of the building.

New Management
Under New Management

The building is occupied entirely by the dental clinic and the offices of the dean and faculty. A capacity of 45 chairs was added by the extension in 1906, making a total of 128 chairs for the use of the students.

Comings and Goings

We notice a good deal of activity at the new Dental Hall. Many students and faculty members are seen entering and exiting the building, indicating an increase in activity.

Nolan Archaeologist Coming
Professor Louis R. Pauten of the Harvard "Yale" and Stonybrook, Narragansett, Conn., will deliver a lecture in the Liberal Arts assembly and this evening on "Palestine in the Light of the Latest Archaeological Discoveries." Professor Pauten is one of the most distinguished authorities on the subject in the United States, and the lecture offers a rare opportunity for students of the holy land to learn the present conditions of affairs in that country. It is noted that many people do not realize what progress has been made in recent years in localizing this sacred soil and that the American School of Archaeology, which was founded by the Archaeological Institute in Jerusalem, has contributed her share toward these results.

The lecture is open to the public by the Archaeological Institute. Instructions such as the past are so few no special invitations will be issued by the society. The lecture begins at 4:30 p.m.
