Once upon a time

a merchant bought a big bunch of dollar suckerw to sell at 5¢. He explained all about it. No defects, no one sick, no R. E. brick, no sugar, no jam. No customers, no banknotes, no change. For a dollar sucker—out even at that they didn’t make a bit. Why? ’Cause they were 50¢ too after all. Don’t you get so tired of hearing all this dumb and sensible talk?

Crowning all possible value into our 50¢, we make them feel and wear like one dollar but we don’t tell you they are reduced in price as they are not.
