MILITARY CAMP BEGINS; VISITORS' DAY SUNDAY

GOVERNOR CARROLL WILL INSPECT CAMP.

Powell Plans Ambush for First Battalion—Competitive Drills are Monday

This morning the cadet regiment leaves the armory for the annual march and encampment at West Liberty. The two battalions will leave separately, one at 6:15 and the other at 7:30. An ambush will be attempted by the first section which the other will try successfully to avoid. Major Clifford Powell is in command of the first battalion and after going over his plans yesterday seemed not at all displeased with life. "We've got them where they can't beat us," is the way he put it.

The men have all turned in their camp rolls and they are to be sent by train to West Liberty Other camp material will also be on the site of the camp by this evening and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for the soldiers when tney reach the grounds.

From present indications Sunday will be the big day at camp. This has been set aside as "Visitors' Day" and it is expected that many friends will go down to see the men in camp. There was some talk among the "fussers" yesterday of running a "co-ed special" Sunday morning to accommodate the vast crowd of fair ones that were expected.

Governor Carroll is one of the "big guns" expected. He will no doubt be accompanied by some of his staff with perhaps some other of the state's law-makers. General G. E. Logan, Colonel Lucas, Colonel Brooks, Major C. S. Grant and a few other of the state guard officers are also to be on hand for the big review and exercises of the day. Special arrangements have been made to accommodate a large crowd in the eating tents so that no one will meet with any inconvenience should he want to go down.

The company competitive drill of Monday is to be closely contested according to the "dope" handed out by cadet captans yesterday. Two or three of the squads are very evenly matched and the others are not far behind. Companies A and F are looked upon as likely candidates for the banner but the rest will have something to say when the time comes. The individual and squad contests ase also due to bring out some close fights. The judges of the competitive drills are General James Rush Lincoln, commanding 1st brigade Iowa National Guard, Major George W. Ball Jr., 54th regiment, and Captain John Cogswell 54th regiment.

Phi Delta Phi to Banquet.

Members of the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity will gather this evening at the Burkley Imperial to hold the annual banquet. Hon. Martin J. Wade will be toastmaster.

MEDICS DEFEAT FRESHMEN; THREE TEAMS TIE FOR LEAD

Freshmen, Exploding at Critical Times, Toss Off Game.

The medics muddled the race for the inter-department championship yesterday when they defeated the freshmen liberal arts team by a score of 4 to 2 on the varsity diamond. This throws the race into a three-cornered tie between the medics dents and freshmen.

Ascensions by the erratic freshmen gave the medics yesterday's game. Strickler pitched almost unbeatable ball, holding the opposing sluggers to two scratch singles and a terriffic home run which Sallander garnered with two down in the first. But his support blew up in the fifth and seventh innings, and he contributed to his own downfall by misplays of bunts around his own position.

Jacobs, although hit somewhat harder, kept the five safeties scattered over seven innings, and was never in trouble after the second, when Von Lackum and Patterson bunched two-baggers for a hard earned tally. The medics played a good fielding game and bouyed up by their rooting section, kept busy at all times. The score:

Pharmacists Have Outing.

The Mortan and Pestle and senior class of the college of pharmacy held a picnic at Black Springs park Wednesday afternoon.The seniors won the ball game 3 to 2 largely through the pitching of Ramsey.

The field events followed. Conoway won the 50 yard dash and Shallabarger took the 100 and 220 yard dashes in fast time. Rickman captured the broad jump with 21 feet and Parsons defeated Anderson in the high jump by clearng the pole at 5 feet 3 inches. Stone was the winner of the shot put.

Following the field meet the society served a picnic dinner.

Secondary State Meet Tomorrow

Under the auspices of Iowa college at Grinnell a state field meet for the secondary colleges will be held tomorrow. Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Leander Clarke, Parsons, Penn, Simpson and Iowa State Teachers college will probably enter.

More Seniors to be Teachers.

Eight more appointments have been made by the department of education since the first of the week. A number of excellent positions are still vacant according to statistics in the offices of the department and it is probable that the number of graduates will not meet the demand.

That the school of education of the state university is sending out efficient teachers is well proved by the ever increasing inquiries from the high schools and colleges of the state. Between forty and fifty appointments have been made this year; many of which have been to principalships and superintendencies.

A list of the latest appointments follows:

Ula Purvis, Latin-German, Algona.

Anna Gittins, Science, Denison.

Olive Williams Latin-Musivc, Afton

Genevieve Knight, History-English Odebolt.

Adelaide Rittenmayer, Grammar School, Iowa City.

Miss Mason, History-English, Wellman.

Miss Utley, Latin, Wellman.

Maud Brown, Instructor, West Des Moines.

Fraternity Game Tomorrow.

According to the fraternity baseball schedule Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Nu will meet on the diamond tomorrow in the last of the games for the chapters in East Iowa City.

SHERMAN ANNOUNCES SUBJECT FOR COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Vice President to Talk on Solution of National Problems.

In a letter received by Pres. Geo. E. MacLean of the university yesterday, Vice President James S. Sherman announced the subject of his address as "The Solution of National Problems." Coming at a time when several problems are occupying the public mind, it is thought his utterances will be especially noteworthy.

Vice President Sherman will have a busy time while he is in Iowa City. He wll arrive at midnight from the east on Tuesday. At 9 Wednesday morning he will deliver his address at convocation in the university armory and at noon will give a short talk before the alumni dinner. He will take the 3:30 train for the east Wednesday afternoon.

Because of the shortness of his stay in Iowa City, plans for his entertainment will necessarily not be elaborate. He will be shown, however, that Iowa appreciates his kindness in visiting the school. Univresity authoriteis are lookng for a record breakng attendance of alumni and friends residing throughout the state.

NEW BOOK PUBLISHED BY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

DWIGHT G. MC CARTY IS AUTHOR OF VOLUME.

Territorial Governors of the Old Northwest is Title—Closely Related to Iowa History.

The latest contribution to the literature of Iowa history published by The State Historical Society of Iowa is a volume entitled "Territorial Governors of the Old Northwest" by Dwight G. McCarty. To be sure the Iowa Country was not included with the Old Northwest but the connection between Iowa and the history of the northwest is pointed out by Professor Benjamin F. Shambaugh in his Editor's Introduction to the book in these words:

"The political inheritances of Iowa whch are Anglo-American, were transmitted through the Territories of the Old Northwest, the Indiana Territory, the Territory of Michigan, and the original territory of Wisconsin. Thus the study of the evolution of the government and administration of these territories forms a logical introdaction to the consttutional and political history of Iowa. And it is from this viewpoint that the State Hstorcal society of Iowa has undertaken to publish a book on the Territorial Governors of the Old Northwest."

The first chapters in the book deal with conditions as they existed in the country northwest of the river Ohio at the time it was won from the British and with the famous ordinance of 1787. Then follows a chapter on administrations of the Governors of the Northwest Territory, the Indiana Territory, the Illnois Territory, and the territories of Michigan and Wisconsin. As the author states in his preface, the purpose of the volume is "characterize rather than to present a detailed history—to indicate the real forces at work in the beginnings of territorial government and to point out the important part played by the governor."

And thus it presents an introduction to a study of territorial administraton in Iowa.

Mr. McCarty is a graduate of Iowa college at Grinnell and of the Harvard law school. He received the degree of M. A. at Iowa college in 1904. The volume on "The Territorial Governors of the Old Northwest," however, was prepared under the direction of The State Historical society of Iowa. Mr. McCarty visited the various libraries and archives both in the east and in the west where material on his subject is to be found, and has collected his data from widely scattered sources.

Favor Iowa's Medical School.

According to a special telegram received here yesterday afternoon from Des Moines by the Daily Press, the Iowa State Medcal society promptly and unaimously tabled a moton to combine Drake and the University of Iowa colleges of medcine.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

It is common in debating circles to give the honor men of the literary societies all the credit for the work done in debate and oratory. As a rule the men on the intercoliegiate debates and contests are not the pillars of their societies; they are very often the poorest members when it comes to maintaining interest in the welfare of the organization. These are not the men who make possible the literary society; it is the average man the man who attends the meetings regularly, the man who creates the interest in debate and oratory, the man who does his best whenever called up to debate; he makes the real strength of the society and is deserving of as much credit as his more brilliant brother.

Medical Course This Summer.

There will be a course in bacteriology given under the department of pathology and bacteriology during the regular session of the university summer school. The course is open to any one having the preliminary requirements. Credit will be given for the course to those who complete it and pass a satisfactory examination. The course will be essentially the same as that which is given during the school year except that, owing to more time, there will be more ground covered and more attention will be paid to bacteriological technique, especially such as relates to the clinical diagnosis of disease. The course may also be taken by dental students for credit, covering the whole subject of bacteriology as given in their department. The work will begin June 16th and will last four or five weeks, taking about six or seven hours daily. The fee for the course will be $10.00. The course will be given by Dr. R. G. Owen, instructor in pathology and bacteriology, to whom any communication regarding the matter should be addressed. Very truly yours,

R. G. Owen.

SEE THOMAS FOR GOOD RAZORS

A gentleman asked a friend "Have you ever had appendicitis?" "No" was the reply, "I've never reached a stage where I could afford it."

I've heard it said there are four great problems—hunger, thirst, shelter and tie in the ninth innings with two out and bases filled. Did you ever think of that when you sat on the bleachers waiting for the Ump to holler, "pl-a-y Ball!"

I think the funniest problem in life is the sample suit man who professes to sell you drummers' samples at less than manufacturer's cost. You've often wondered how they could get enough of these suits to go around; that is if you ever thought of it at all; haven't you? The demand would be simply fierce if they were first class suits, and any effort to supply the demand would result in putting the factories all out of business after about one year of the frolic. Well, sir, a regular clothing drummer put me wise to the game. He said, "My boy, the factories do not make up sample suits; they send out what are called 'swatches', and that is all the traveling men carry." I asked him what he meant by "swatches" and he said they were patterns of the cloth used in the suits—that was all.

Well, I wonder if a man ever reaches the stage where he can afford to be stung by another man's game? I guess the answer is, "Once taught, never caught." A man can not get caught even once in this fashion shop. He doesn't have to pay for any experience that we have bought—that's sure. You trade with us, don't you?

Humanist Society Review.

The Humanist society, composed of faculty members, have been holding weekly meetings at the homes of the different members throughout the year. Presented at these meetings were papers, the subjects of which covered a broad field, in connection with literature, philosophy, history and subjects related to things literary. Under this last would come numerous papers such as "Simplicity in Aesthetic Principle" by Prof. D. Starbuck, "Counting" by Prof. G. Weld and "Book Plates" by C. G. Wyer. The classics and modern languages were represented, and supplemented by talks on kindred subjects such as art, history and aesthetics. Both mediaeval and ancient literature were discussed as "The Romaunt of the Rose" and "Havelok, the Dane," as well as Greek subjects. The contemporary literature was not overlooked, reports being given on books as they appeared.

The aim of the society is to stimulate interest in the humanistic studies and to show those in one field what is being done in another. With this aim in view they concluded kindred subjects to literature in the society's programs.

LOCAL FIRST YEAR MEN TO MEET GOPHER TEAM

TEN HAWKEYES TO MAKE TRIP TO MINNEAPOLIS.

To Be Accompanied by Trainer Tommy O'Brien—M. B. Sands to Act as Referee and Starter.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock ten freshmen track men accompanied by Trainer Tommy O'Brien will leave for Minneapolis where they will engage in a dual track and field meet with the Minnesota first year men.

Last year a meet was arranged between the two teams, but for reasons unknown to the local management the contest was called off a few days before scheduled time. However, the two institutions have finally arranged for an encounter between their two minor teams, the meet to be held at Minneapolis.

Little is Known locally as to the strength of the northerners, but Hawkeye followers are confidently expecting a victory by the hard working bunch of Iowa stars. Several of the men who will make the trip showed up well in the home meet on Wednesday and will undoubtedly push the Gophers to the finish.

The records made by the freshmen tomorrow will furnish a basis on which to dope out the dual meet with Williams and Vashti college at Aledo Illinois, scheduled for May 28. The following men will make the trip: Dashes, Joslyn and Wishard; quarter and half mile, Wishard and Rock; mile and two mile, Yetter and Rock; hurdles, Rogers and Fitzgerald; weights, Weiss, Fife and Streeter; jumps, Fife and Hanson; vault, Fife.

M. B. Sands, former director of athletics at Yale will act as referee and starter for the meet tomorrow.

PROMINENT GRINNELL FACULTY MEMBER COMING ON MAY 25-26

Prof. L. F. Parker Formerly in University of Iowa.

Professor Leonard F. Parker, who will attend the meetings of the Mississippi Valley Historical assocaton here next week is well known to many university faculty members and alumni. Professor Parker began his long career as a teacher in Iowa in 1856 when he accepted a position in the public schools at Grinnell. After four years in that capacity he became professor of Greek in Iowa college where he remained until 1870, when he was called to the chair of history in the University of Iowa. He continued in this position for seventeen years, and then returned to Iowa college at Grinnell as professor of history in that school. He now resides at Grinnell where he is Emeritus professor in history in Iowa college, although he has retired from active life.

Professor Parker is the author of a "History of Education in Iowa," and a number of pamphlets and magazine articles on historical and educational subjects. His long and efficient service to the cause of education has endeared him to a host of people throughout Iowa. It will be remembered that an oil portrait of Professor Parker was presented to the university at the commencement in 1908.

OTHER COLLEGES

Two professors, Lord and Coddington, from Ohio state university, are making ready for their trip to the Hawaiin islands, where they will take photographs of Halley's comet as it crosses the sun. The equipment has been in process of collection for ten days, and consists of the necessary spectroscope, portable dark room and the like.

PERSONAL and SOCIAL
