JUDGE TOWNER GIVES INTERESTING ADDRESS

"I love to read the news," Judge Towner said, "and when I read that California has no University, I feel that our University should be the best in the world."

The judge was addressing the law students of the University, and his words were greeted with enthusiasm by the assembled group.

"We must make our University the best in the world," he continued, "and in order to do this, we must have the best teachers and the best students."

The audience responded with a loud cheer, and the judge went on to discuss the importance of higher education and the role of the University in society.

"Our University is the heart of our community," he said, "and we must do everything we can to make it the best in the world."

The judge's address was met with enthusiastic applause, and the students were inspired by his words to work harder and strive for excellence.

A special feature of the hour was the presence of the "laws" who issue in a bath and set the fires. They gave nine rules for Judge Turner. This was at the beginning and at the end of the day. The Judges, who is a graduate of Iowa law school, is now training his international law and has to hold high to the law students.
