THOMAS BARED

THE MOUND UNIVERSITY ALUMNI PROMINENT ON ROLL

Baron Joseph Newton was present at the annual meeting of the Mound Literary Society.

The contributions of Iowa authors to the literary field during the past year have been notable. Among them, "some" author's name is still a matter of speculation. A new member of the society, "Charles, Cardinal and Card," will be a continuation of this author's previous work on this very subject.

Tribute of Columbia show Stew Enormous Shooting in His Latest Match.

Washington, D.C., March 13—The eighth week of the Intercollegiate Rifle Shooting League matches showed Columbia University leading with the highest points among the eleven leading teams.

Missouri Agricultural College and the Iowa University are still tied for first place in single cones. At the conclusion of the regular season, a number of the Iowa cones came together in an event of the Iowa Shooting League.

The latest match was won by Columbia, which was followed by the Iowa University, the University of Washington, and the University of Minnesota. The Iowa University had the highest points of all the competing teams.

The Iowa Shooting University has become greatly interested in the success of the university athletic association in granting permission for the organization of a rifle team and recognizing the rifle team as one of the sports of the university. Plans are being made to enter a team in the Iowa Intercollegiate championship match, which will be held on March 15, 1911, at the time of the league matches for the week ending March 11 as follows:

The University of Iowa defeated Franklin University, 1935 to 1714, in the first match. The University of Iowa defeated North Carolina Agricultural College, 1941 to 1423, in the second match. The University of Iowa defeated New Hampshire College, 1713 to 1098, in the third match. The University of Iowa defeated Minnesota, 1786 to 1149, in the fourth match. The University of Iowa defeated University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the fifth match. The University of Iowa defeated the Iowa State University, 1786 to 1149, in the sixth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the seventh match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the eighth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the ninth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the tenth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the eleventh match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the twelfth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the thirteenth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the fourteenth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the fifteenth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the sixteenth match. The University of Iowa defeated the University of Minnesota, 1713 to 1149, in the seventeenth match.

nately shirt-fried Iowa writer, will be reprinted this spring. This novel, it will be remembered, from the basis of the play "Where the the Trail Divides," dramatized by Robert Bloch. Other contributions worthy of notice are "Puffing the Earth's Molotov," a scientific article with an adventurous title, by F. C. Marshall in the Fireman Technical World, which deals with the wonders accomplished with steam pump machines in modern fire fighting. "The Handkerchief," a stirring story of romantic proportions by Eugene Rice lately appearing in the Evening Post, and "The Danger of Twisted Stones" by Ellis Parker Butler in the Illustrated Sunday Magazine. The last is high in amusing, and will bear current in a leisure hour.

The recent performance of the choir was practically the same as the one given at the Holy Lands School last week. The choir gave a splendid performance of all the music they have come out of the Iowa chapter to date. The choir will hold their official organ recital in the Iowa chapter of the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, March 14.

The committee for the Y. M. C. A. has been working on the Y. M. C. A. work, and is planning to open the Y. M. C. A. work for the community at large. The committee will hold a meeting at the Holy Lands School on Monday evening, March 14.
