It passed by with a "Dandy" Ganeau, of Iowa "Tina" as "Dandy Girl," were all shows the contrary. In fact, every number of the cast did all that was asked of him and more.

It is said to say that the chorus was the best looking one which has appeared in Iowa City for years.

Cover, splendid "Caludius" in the scenes. "Alternating Currents" they were all beautiful and carried the unusual appeal they received.

The man of steel, the stories were plunged into the audience and the success of the show was certain from the first time they tripped to the front of the stage. The look of the mass are treat-ten and will undoubtedly be seen in similar work next year.

The play was not stapled, the stanzas and rhymes effects being what would be expected from Iowa, enrollees. The longest list of all kinds of talk kind was the trip of the little plane.

Again and again the audience demanded that it be sent across the street.

The show staff in what the grand-net credit for the success of the performance must be given fellows:

"The Third Degree."

The plot of "Third Degree" is turned around a vault, the son of a man who is a political and stylistic poster. The father, a prominent man in the state, discover's his discovery has been offered a girl whose father has called upon unpleasant solicitor in attacks of New York. The girl, realizing her position, has made a gallant struggle to win the gift of her world through her character and natural ability. The young husband, hammered by his father's word and confused by every hand by his friends who assert that he has made a mistake, and that his marriage is a success, efforts to focus the guilt on the innocent men. Finding they must make people tell them, they bend every effort to the one that of fastening the chain of guilt to their victim. The method of the police, together with the powerful influence of the press are visible. For the first time, on our step, the audience is invited to a visual demonstration of the working of the detective department of a large city. An clarity and finely as one of the working of the public powerful and political bodies in the "Law and the Mouse", are the relevant positions of the points discussed in "The Third Degree," the one in a more vivid and interesting manner.

The student body at the University of Oregon are considering the question of installing the graduate magnet system.

The stories in the confessional school at Minnesota are considerably more elementary.
