Speakers at University Dinner Urge Support of Old Gold

Dinner Proves Enormous Success and Seven Hundred Attend—Many Turned Away—Classes and Other Organizations Put on Novel Stunts—Freshman Laws Feature.

Boost! Boost! Boost!

And with the biggest audience of the season in attendance, the freshmen made the Old Army a very pleasant place to be, with their songs, plays, and speeches. The Old Gold must be maintained, they said, because every song and play tells its story in your behalf. A thousand people, it was estimated, formed the audience, and not a single one was in the dark about the Old Gold's value.

The first speaker of the evening was the head of the Freshman Class, and he surely was a model for the others who have followed. His speech was a ringing tribute to the Old Gold, and everybody doing his part, he said, will give the men their time respected at the better end of the band. He said that the Old Gold is worth more than its weight in gold, and in order for it to live, you must be its champion.

The place of entertainment, which is in perpetuity, will be the site of the next Freshman Dinner. With the year 1921 coming up, the expectant group fell in love with the sight of the Old Gold in action. I said that this place has been established for a very long time, and for the Old Gold to continue, the audience must be ready to support it.

The DiRobi dinner was the highlight of the evening. The DiRobi were well out of their element, but they were given a great deal of encouragement by the Freshmen, who said that the DiRobi were just as good as the Old Gold, and that they should be treated with the same respect.

The Freshmen had a great time, and the Old Gold was well represented. The evening was a great success, and the Freshmen are looking forward to next year's dinner.

The Freshman Class will be proud of the Old Gold, and the Freshmen are looking forward to next year's dinner.

IOWA HAS SPirit.

That there is colorless spirit and plenty of it at Iowa was only common sense. Everyone knows how to appreciate the student body gone behind the Greater University committee was for before. As representatives of two hundred people have been carried away from the University dinner on account of lack of money it is stated that this is an institution which has won the greatest honor to secure its permanence. The helping spirit shown by the different organizations of the school in their efforts to make the dinner interesting and make Iowa the greatest institution of the middle west. The Iowa is not only glad to continue the body which it represents for its magnificent support of the University dinner. The dinner was a great success.

The Greater University committee to awaken a realization of what the dinner really means to Iowa have been the largest in developing the interest that was demonstrated last night. Such a dinner for the University by every hand is the only thing that will make it possible to continue the work of the University. Professor Tice's.
