The subject of today's university-wide exercises is the arrangement and direction of activities, a topic that was addressed by the president, George E. Maclean. The president emphasized the importance of the event, stating that it is a significant milestone in the university's history.

The exercises were held under the guidance of the executive committee, which included John H. Fowler, president of the university, and George E. Maclean, the chairman of the exercises committee. The exercises were aimed at fostering a sense of unity and pride among the university community.

The exercises included a variety of activities, including a parade, a speech by the president, and a series of athletic events. The parade was led by the band, and the speeches were delivered by the president and other university officials.

The exercises were attended by a large number of students, faculty, and staff, who came together to celebrate the university's achievements and to look forward to its future.

The post-grocery store and the largest furniture store in the city.

D. Barth

In the small city of Iowa, the post-grocery store and the largest furniture store are located downtown. The post-grocery store was established in 1880 and has been in continuous operation ever since. The furniture store was founded in 1890 and is known for its high-quality furniture.

The two stores are located next to each other, and they serve as a hub for the city's economy. The post-grocery store offers a wide range of products, from groceries and household items to fresh flowers and plants. The furniture store specializes in custom furniture and offers a wide range of styles and designs.

The two stores are popular among locals and visitors alike, and they are known for their exceptional customer service and commitment to quality. The stores have won several awards for their service and product selection.

The post-grocery store and the furniture store are an integral part of the city's fabric, and they continue to thrive and grow, meeting the needs of the community and providing a vibrant shopping experience.

This is not the purpose of The Daily Iowan to publish a verbatim account of the speech, but to describe its character... In general it may be said that the crowd manifests a self-respecting attitude; but their manner shows that they are not to be tricked into a sense of superiority by a smile or by the perfect effrontery of carelessness. What we mean, in the class of "little" folks that don't know the habit of "going" or "knowing" the people.

The Varsity men who are wearing Max Mayer Clothes of Character are the ones who are winning medals of approval on the Campus of S. U. 1. If it means anything to you to carry yourself as well dressed, dignified appearing man; then you ought to invest in one of our admittedly correct Spring Suits at once. The words we would like to use in describing them are just the words which will be sufficient to bring you here to see them with your own eyes.

Head Up With The Season

Get covered with a Max Mayer Stetson and keep off the grass of criticism. The best line of Derbies in the city at $3 to $6 and a lot of Soft Hats that elicit a fund of satisfaction to the inventor—
