In spite of the efforts of the coaches, no new men came out for practice yesterday. A number of the men were not available, and with no additions, the team that went through the exercises was just a rehash of the original, thus making it absolutely necessary to have more candidates," said Coach Hawley, after practice last night. "The starters are doing good work, but we must have more men to work with if we are to go on and make a fair bargain.

You can't build a team without plenty of men. The schedule is to be played up, this year will make it necessary for us to be able to put two teams in the field. There will be a chance for a big bunch of men to get on the team, because just a small group is needed to get out and work. Every fellow who is ambitious should be on the field, doing what he can to develop a great team.

Many entered for university tourney

Interest in Preliminary Finals High

First tournament open to everyone—Candidates精神病 victims in public meeting—Who's to count—To be busy.

Not until yesterday did the popular tournament prospects know the fate. There was little enthusiasm on the part of students and only a few entries were taken into consideration, but the change and there is doubt that the tournament this year will be more spirited than previous. On Tuesday above there were ten new entries and according to the tournament director the material is more.

All persons who wish to enter the championship tournament must have their names before 5 o'clock on Monday, Sept. 2, an entire place this time. Following the drawing of the lots, the matches will be published in Friday morning's Journal. The results will also be posted on the same evening.

Dr. Conzett wishes to emphasize that all contestants must be on hand on the morning of the first match or else make independent arrangements with him to play as soon as possible.

The Wright Brothers.

Nothing except perhaps the Exposition itself, is being more discussed in Cedar Rapids and eastern Iowa to day than the Wright biplanes in which wonderful flights will be made daily October 2 at the Eastern Iowa Exposition, Cedar Rapids.

Dimensions and specifications of the four-seated machine are given below. They give in condensed form the main points of interest in the Wright biplane. The weight of the machine is formed by the fuselage and other parts. Instead of the second seat, the biplane engine is fixed to the carterhouse. The biplane engine uses the gas as made in Midwest and is carried through the tumble of a pump driven by the engine itself. The propellers, located in the rear of the machine, are in directions opposite to each other, this system of revolution maintaining an equilibrium and a stability that is especially valuable when the airplane is turning corners.

All part work in the biplane is of especially made steel. The windscreen, located in the centre and covered with aluminum paint. The described dimensions of the machine follow:

- Length 25 ft. 4 inches.
- Width 8 feet tip to tip of planes.
- Coffee surfaces—44 feet.
- Weight of biplane—320 pounds.
- Place material—Light canvas.
- Lumber— Eight feet 6 inches
- Propellers—Eight feet 6 inches

Revolution—55 per minute.

Wood, Spruce, covered over with canvas.

The biplane will be sold at a cash on the arm for payment.
