New Device Introduced

At the beginning of this month, a new invention has been made by Keays and Van Lockwood. It is a new die casting machine, which is designed to produce a mold in fifteen minutes instead of an hour. The machine is a new invention and has already been patented. The inventor is a master in the field of metal casting, and the machine is a great improvement over the old method, which was time consuming and produced a poor quality of metal casting. The new machine is a great improvement and will revolutionize the metal casting industry.
