First Meeting at Iowa City Close 1902

Dr. Edward A. Rider to Speak in Vesper

It has recently been announced that the state conference of Chautauqua and Correspondence will hold its annual session at Iowa from Nov. 13 to 21. The first day of meeting will be held in connection with the cornet series which Dr. Rider will address. This organization was initiated largely under the auspices of Prof. L. A. Leon in 1904.

The society has been planned in and under the National Union of Chautauqua and Correspondence. This meeting will be of special interest to the students in the economics and social service departments and the classes in these departments will probably be dismissed at that time in order to attend the meetings. Dr. Rider has been chosen chairman of the committee on social service of the Iowa Chautauqua, and has thus had opportunity for understanding the problems which confront the social worker.

One of Mr. Rider's addresses was given in Des Moines on Wednesday evening before three thousand people. That it was one of the strongest pronouncements of the entire year here is shown in the general belief in the capital city, according to Dean George F. Parmelee, president of the college of Homoeopathic Medicine, who heard the address.

"Every one was distinctly impressed by the address," said Dean Parmelee. "Aside from the religious significance of the address, Mr. Rider is a superb speaker and attracts because of his general emotional ability. The general opinion in Des Moines is that it would be hard to find a more successful presentation at any meeting of a more impressive subject."

Mr. Rider has become widely known throughout the country as the arbitrator of many of the \[sentences\] disputes. He is considered by all as holding the place of an impartial judge. His addresses are well received. His style of speech is simple and yet so attractive that it is hard to imagine any one who succeeds him for the summer in Des Moines.

His address at the meeting in Des Moines was given in the same spirit as his addresses throughout the state. The addresses were given as a part of the program of the Iowa Chautauqua, and were attended by large audiences.

The addresses were given at the following places:

ROBINS WILL SPEAK TO IOWA STUDENTS

RIBBONS "STRIKE BREAKER" COMES HERE TOMORROW

Will Give Address in Natural Science Auditorium—Has an Interesting Record

Raymond Robins, the "strike breaker," will be in Iowa this week. He was at one time a miner in Alaska, and had considerable success in finding gold. The money which he made in this way he is using in his social work. He has been in the Congregational Church, and has thus had opportunity for understanding the problems which confront the social worker.

One of Mr. Robins' addresses was given in Des Moines on Wednesday evening before three thousand people. That it was one of the strongest pronouncements of the entire year here is shown in the general belief in the capital city, according to Dean George F. dwil the fact that tailor made garments are far superior in every way to ready-made. What LUOGER—be a "Ready Made" "Gray-Bag" dress in the cost of tennis to your order is as a fine material and charge you a price no higher than you would pay for the same material made alike in clothes.

played in the court and quickly won up to 20 to 5.

The work of the Cornell line, which was expected to do pretty against the Penn-Cornell game, was, very poor, while the backfield showed close, last year's alternate had relied upon for the club's net and far as has shown wonderful form back on offense and defense.

Another point will be missing in the Iowa game, as the big halfback is ineligible to compete against Iowa and Iowa. Quarterback Wolf will be the punting, and he is also relied upon for field goals.

In the line, Bettell at right end, Keeter center, Captain Whitehead at left guard and Bussenkert at tackle are the outstanding with Klemm, Lent and West in the huddle who has all the experience.

The whole line has bucked a bunch

and has improved consistently almost over the form of a week ago.

The children of the Cornell team

have almost always played well, but the backfield is needed strong enough to hold its own under any conditions.

The probable line up for this

Right end, Bettell, right tackle, J. E. Archer; Center, Keeter; left guard, Whitehead; (2) left tackle, Busenkert; (3) left end, W. Lent; quarter, H. West; right half, Klemm, Lent and West.

NEW COMIT IN THE SKIES IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION.

Joe_s_Flying Spooling Through Sky Is Attractive

At a speed many hundreds of miles greater than the fastest steam, a fairy is swooping through the heavens.

With a diving line, a little drop on the top of a violin, it sparkles in the night sky, gliding, and attracting the attention of astronomers of the entire world.

Fear that this speeding object to the heavens will not illuminate the earth has already taken the minds of the timid ones, although no one is terrified to the naked eye, excepting the lover of the sky.

The perancellation of Bost_ on and will occur on Oct. 27 at a distance of 4,000,000 miles from the earth. It will be seen in the northern sky for several hours.

Before perancellation the comet

will be in the northeastern horizon,

but will be difficult to see on account of the moonlight. The best time to observe this fairy will be between 9 and 10 p.m. before darkness and before dawn.
