IOWA WARRIORS REST AFTER COPPER GAME

TEAM COMES BACK IN FAIRLY GOOD CONDITION

Hawkeyes' Supports Extol Miranda - Minnesota Praises Iowa Team - Outlook Optimistic

Iowa warriors were allowed to rest that night in order to recover from the exertions of the big game and trip. The first squad was not sent to the field at all, and the remainder of the team were given over to a light workout in the way of running and batting.

The men who played against the Gophers came back with original enthusiasm for the exception that on hard a game would naturally produce. The meeting with the Minnesotans was eligibility free from criticism, since being taken out but once during both halves of that contest, and the playing of the game reduced the danger of the game to a minimum. The soft field also aided the Hawkeyes as Captain Capron from getting a quick start when returning pats, and allowed him to remain quite coolly upon the spot where he received the ball. Minnesota, except in a few instances showed poor style in ball playing as the ball was lost in a number of instances.

Hawkeye supporters who saw the men from the gallery in approval of the way the team fought. The score does not in any way represent the relative merits of the two teams, for the Hawkeyes played Minnesota to a standstill in all but five or a few minutes of the game. This is better than the conclusion that the performance of the Empire is likely to be repeatable, as they have the greater work out of the way, and with the superior quality gained in pattern, will put into practice the science which Coach Marquardt has consistently drilled into the Hawkeyes.

Minnesota men were loud in praise of Hawley's style of football and were not at all put out by Iowa throughout the game. Offense came in for the Hawkeyes share of the Iowa laurels, coming from the Iowa team, but in the line annulled those of Minnesota. It was generally conceded that the shaping made by the white line team was much better than that put up by Nebraska the week before. This gives Iowa considerable advantage in philosophy with regard to the season.

ANALYSIS OF GEODES MADE BY VAN TUYL

WILL PROPOSE A NEW THEORY ON THEIR ORIGIN

Large Collection Gathered By Van Tuyll As Making a Critical Study of Geodes

J. T. Van Tuyll, whose doctorate work in the department of geology at the state university, has received and inspected a large number of geodes, which he had collected during the past two summers. He is now making a study of those geodes, in preparing a thesis on the subject of their origin.

Geodes are found in all pillow rocks where interior walls are red and exterior walls are white. They are found in all pillow rocks but they are the most common in volcanic districts, or on the sites of ancient volcanoes. A geode is composed of quartz crystals, mixed in an amorphous gelatinous mass of a chemical nature. The gelatinous mass is formed from the seams of the geode, volcanic materials, and gases given off during the eruption of the volcano. The glassy silica is found in the form of the hard glassy void in the rock it is usually found at the center of the geode, and the quartz crystals are found in the form of thin veins, in the form of thick quartz masses, and in the form of thin sheets.

The quartz crystals are found in a great variety of forms, and can be seen at the center of the geode, and in the form of a thin sheet. The quartz crystals are found in the form of a thin sheet, and in the form of a thin sheet, and the quartz crystals are found in the form of a thin sheet.

same reason by removing the following by com- paring the relative showings made by Ames and Newton against Missouri.

Iowa scores against Missouri is invariable of the great development that has taken place in the sports teams of the two states.

For this week the practice is not likely to be especially hard, as the main thing now will be to develop the enemy execution of the plays already worked over, and to keep the men in good condition for the big game scheduled for next Saturday at Madison.

overwhelming Defeat of Strong Ophill Trio Saturday Surprises Criterion of Football

Since the overwhelming defeat of theCriterion Trio on Saturday by the Iowa City team, the latter eleven has sprung into decided prominence as a strong contender for the state championship. Criterion was looked upon as one of the strong prep teams of the state, and the 5 to 2 score rolled up by Iowa City makes the latter look like one of the best teams turned out here in the past ten years, which is saying considerably when the merit of the eleaven put out at that time is considered.

At the present time, the state championship seems to lie between Iowa City,Cincinnati, last year's champ.
