GRAND OPENING OF AUTUMN EXHIBIT

John H. Taft & Co.
Out-filters for Women & Misses & Children.

Particularly was this the case of Curr-ry out of the game and probably the last time in the west to be met on the next Saturday. Yet when that Saturday came, the call of the ref­ erees whistle invited the Hawkeye ready to fight one of the greatest bat­ tles ever put up by the Iowa team. The Minnesota players were play­ ed of their feet during the first half and the Iowa eleven made a name for itself throughout the middle west for their stubborn fight. It was another case of a team coming back after ap­ parent defeat, and no matter what happens during the rest of the season, local followers of football will re­ member the way the team rallied at Minneapolis as one of the brightest spots of the 1911 season.

CARROLL D. WRIGHT

In the death of Carroll D. Wright, Iowa loses one of her prominent cit­ izens, and the university one of its most loyal supporters. He declined political positions for he chose to serve as a private citizen. He occu­ pied a high social place in his com­ munity and was a friend of good men and women. His culture and natural talents made him a leader; his per­ sonality gained for him the admira­ tion of the people of Iowa.

Carroll Wright served the universi­ ty long and well, while a member of the board of regents. He was never too busy to give his attention to the needs of the university, and after he left it, he continued his wide influence in his efforts to help make­ Iowa a real university.

Carroll Wright was an alumnus who appreciated the training received here, and with full measure of de­ vo tion, he worked for alma mater.

The balancing spirit

There is something which the aver­ age man can hardly help but admit­ ure about the way the football team has roared after defeat and gone into shape before the next game. It is not at all new for a team with all the essen­ tials of energy to get a poor start, then brace itself and make a game and effective display.

The day of the Yale team last year, when the mighty Harvard elec­ tron was held to the after the blue had met with nothing but encouragement all season, is a case in point. Many others might be cited, but this one remains clear at home will suffice.

The blue belief in the Carroll game was enough to dampen the ex­ hortations of the whole student body.

SOUVENIRS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Do not forget the date of the opening, Thursday evening, November 2nd and all day Friday, November 3rd.

ON Thursday evening November 2nd, 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock will occur the opening of our new Outfitting Establishment for Women, Misses and Children.

The sound of the hammer and saw has at last ceased and the decorators have put on the finishing touches and we are now ready to throw open to the public the most magnificent ready to wear store in the State of Iowa complete in all its appoint­ ments and extend this cordial invita­ tion to the public of Iowa City and vicinity to attend our formal opening.

Many of the beautiful gowns which we have had made under our own careful supervision and also some of the fine exclusive garments will be shown on this occasion on living models.

At the Colonnade Last Night
History does not record a sweeter love that which inspired the immortal Trumae poet, Dante, in his affection for Beatrice. A thousand ladies have made the appeal deploiting the pianette and spiritual relics of these two lovers familiar to almost everyone. As a result of the profound love and worship of Beatrice as a type of pure and lovely womanhood Dante has given to the world one of the greatest monuments in the world's literature, the divine comedy. The best known part of this monumental work is the "Inferno" of the soul, which, by reason of its graphic conception and compelling power, easily caught the imagination of the people and was most easily understood.

In order to make the bounties and harms of this dramatic creation intelligible to the great masses a company of famous Italian artists have rendered the entire poem into moving pictures. It would be impossible within the narrow limits of a newspaper paragraph to convey even a small idea of the magnificence of this production—either pains nor time nor money have been spared to make the greatest human skill and art procurable have been secured to produce a work which is worthy even of the greatest of Dante. Not even the illustrations of the best books can give an adequate conception of what the makers of this film have achieved. Almost the entire thirty-four cases have been used, every article and removable point in the poem has been brought out with unceasing power and accuracy in the pictures.

A full explanation of the pictures is given by a competent lecturer during the running of the film. Images and effects have been especially prepared to bring out the greater conceptions of the poem as the artist has desired. Almost the entire thirty-four cases have been used, every article and removable point in the poem has been brought out with unceasing power and accuracy in the pictures.
