AUGUSTE SCHODETTE
LECTURES ON BACH

Gives Third of a Series of Addresses

SPEAKS ON "POLYPHONIC MUSIC OF THE BACH"—NEXT LECTURE WILL BE "BEAUTY AND ITS DEVELOPMENT"

The third of a series of lectures on "The Appreciation of Art" was delivered by Auguste Schodette to an audience of several hundred students and faculty members, and was another example of the skill with which the composer has been able to present his subjects to an appreciative audience. The last lecture, "Folk Song," took the students to the wonderful world of the world music, which run directly from the field.

Special recital relating to the subject being considered will be put on in the auditorium between the balance of the year. Other times and dates are reported to come.

One of chief ideas will be to start an art museum for the encounter with the Aggie. The world museum and other museums will be examined in a way that has not been done before.

Honest is always last night and will probably stay in the line-up. His kicking has been as effective as ever, and he can receive with many threads for Hawkeye games.

The third last night was one of the most satisfactory of the year. The performance was good, as the canvas did not receive much, but the formations went off with some of the perfection that has been sought after all fall. The official play showed up the best that has ever been and if the Purdue matches work as smoothly on Saturday there will be a demonstration of the largest of anything comparable to the defensive work that has characterized the last two contests.

Coach Harvey Ely states that the team should undoubtedly win the Purdue game if they play as they have been doing the past two weeks.

The men hope to surprise the scores of Chicago and Illinois in their game. The silver anniversary, or similar achievement will give Iowa three place in the conference rating at the end of the season. If the Hawkeyes land such a position it will be the best that Iowa has had in the conference since 1946. The fight with American will probably decide the state championship whatever else has been the result on the schedule. The coaches are hopeful of winning from the Aggies.

The changes in the Hawkeye defense are those which have been accentuated by the loss of Flanagan within fifty yards of the Purdue goal. Miller will play his third game at center and should show some improvement of his second game. Round play was Cary went with the team but will not be used. The
