ALL EYES FOCUSED ON IOWA GRIDIRON

State Honors at Stake in Tomorrow's Game.

IOWA SPIRIT AROUSED AS NEVER BEFORE

Two Teams Evenly Matched, Despite Predictions of Pro-Americans—Al Fisher to Lead Yells.

With the championship hunting in the balance, Hawkeye and Aggie clash tomorrow afternoon on Iowa field in their annual battle for football honors of the state. On the Iowa gridiron for two hours tomorrow afternoon will be focused the attention of every college athlete in Iowa, and of many beyond the borders.

Already alumni have begun to pour into town. For the first time, the demand for seats for the game has reached a point which has attracted the attention of scamps, and an almost complete set of the good men remaining are collected in their heads. Today and tomorrow forenoon, fourteen thousand will see an unprecedented rash of visitors on every train.

Probably Iowa alumni have never before reached such a pitch. Already record breaking break meetings have been held, on Monday and Wednesday, and the one tomorrow is almost certain to be the biggest and noisiest ever held in the state. It developed yesterday that the engineers/engineering situated as the one of steady development, and that Iowa is the logical holder of the Hawkeye plaque in the western conference.

outside critics persist in giving the Aggies much the better chance for the shelf. No, none have objects that hated, but tomorrow is another day.

Meanwhile, on the cricket field and the depots all over the town are besieged by the lockout of two gridiron clubs, is parking for a sightseeing detour of this Alumni's alight. The last battle between these old foes has gone against them, but if they fall now, it may be years before another chance comes.

On the other hand, Harvard of New York is making every effort to send the Aggies home defeated again, and Iowa students in general, and particularly those with a critical eye, are confident of his ability to turn the trick. To any one takes the time to follow his work, it must be recognized that he has one in every great coach. Harvard's teams do not start brilliantly. As in the big "foot ball" contest, "fairly good" ones have little with him. He builds for the critical games of the season; and although the assiduous of discount may still look at him with a sense of Mr. and Mrs. Steen and the old gold team before its all-important battle. Hastings, Kent, Kirk Collins, and others have returned to Iowa field as ad extra polla to Howley's mighty machine. The entire strength of the Iowa student body and alumni is with the team in its fight with the traditional foe, as it has never been before. For better than a week, the Iowa alumni, "the men who have been blessed forth in letters of fire from the top of Emmerling hall.

At Ames, equal enthusiasm reigns: A week ago, every Aggie was convinced that the coming game would be a more facile for the home team. But during the past week this same, self-sufficient attitude has changed somewhat, and a tone of alarm can be heard in Iowa's showing against Purdue started the Agnesites believe, but they still firmly believe in the great team and in its ability to defeat the Hawkeyes.

At noon polls in the streets, rumors of a probable Aggie victory, but it was a wide margin. Inarguably the fact that year after year, Iowa has made

WRESTLERS ORGANIZE FOR COMING SEASON

The liberal arts runners easily won wrestler, was elected as president. He and Ballard are the only members left from last year's heavyweight wrestling club. Ballard was a lightweight wrestler last year but is considerable heavier this year and will enter the middleweight class. With these two men to start with, Iowa will be in good shape by the time of the intercollegiate matches.

In looking over the prospective Physical Director Schneider said, "There is a wealth of material this year and there is no reason why Iowa will not have some very capable wrestlers."

Physical Director Schneider has already made arrangements to meet Nebraska at Nebraska for a return match to take place some time in February. Nebraska defeated Iowa last year in all three classes and for that reason Iowa wishes to come back doubly strong. A match is also being arranged between Ames and Iowa to take place last. The time of the last match isn't yet known, but it will be after the Nebrasca match.

COLLEGE men play the game, usually, as real sportsmen; they play for the sake of winning, not for the sake of defeating the other side. That's really the difference between the true sportsman and the imitation; one plays to win, the other plays to defeat.

One nice thing about the good-clothes game as we're playing it, is that when you play it our way, we both win. That's why we sell clothes; they're just as profitable for you to buy as they are for us to sell; we don't make any better profit on them then you do; the fact is we don't consider that we make any profit on them unless you do.

When you buy one of these fine suits or overcoats and give us your money for it, we get the money, of course; but you get the clothes; it's a fair exchange. Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are the greatest value clothes made to-day; more real quality in them—all-wool fabrics, fine tailoring and the best styles.
