DEAN RAYMOND APPOINTED ON IMPORTANT COMMITTEE

Will Help to Solve Some Valuable Problems

Dean William G. Raymond, of the college of applied science, whose name has been closely associated with recent railroad rate legislation, has just been appointed a member of another committee of national importance. He is a member now of a special committee selected by the board of directors of the American society of civil engineers. The task of the committee is to formulate principles and methods for the valuation of railroad property and other public utilities. Every county in Iowa and the state in the middle west is affected by the report of this committee.

The significance of Dean Ray­ mond's appointment is not only that he has been called to render service of world wide importance, said President Reiman yesterday, "but it is also that the people of Iowa may expect even more directly that much work in the service of the state. Second rate engineers are not trained by Dean Raymond."

The other members of the special committee with whom Dean Ray­ mond is to serve are as at the height of their profession. They are: Alfred Noble, who was in charge of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnels under the Hudson River, New York city; T. H. Johnson, consulting engineer of the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh, Pa; J. P. Row, chief engineer of the Boston and Maine railroad, Boston, Mass; C. L. Strobel, president of Strobel Steel Construction Co., Chicago, Ill; Prof. Derick P. Strobel, consulting engineer of Boston, Mass; Leonard Metcalf, consulting en­ gineer of Boston, Mass.

May Return Soon

Good news reached Iowa town yesterday when it was announced that John Ney, for the past two years left toils on the Iowa football team might be in school and eligible first season. Ney is a native in the city of iron, and was expected to graduate; but as he will be registered in the law school next year, he may not take his law degree this year and will return eligible for another season's play. Ney has a reputation of being a wide man, playing a strong game on offense and in the secondary defense when the enemy has the ball. If he returns, it will be a great addition to the team's rear guard but will be cut down to three.

SEASON'S LAST GAME PLAYED WITH PURPLE

YEARS WORK ENDS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Conference Standing Depends on Site of Margin Over Northwestern. Hawkins Injured

Purple and Gold clash tomorrow afternoon in the closing game of the 1911 schedule for both teams. The Harkovers are expected to win, in the light of the tremendous battle put up by the Iowa team against Chicago and Illinois, the ground for the confidence of the Iowa students does not appear to be very firm. The Iowa team is reported light, but is known to be fast. From pre­ match instructions, the field on which the teams will play will be frozen hard, and this will give a speedy set of backs a big advantage. However, the Iowa plays also call for a fast field, and this should not make much dif­ ference in the two teams making up the matter of injuries resulting from falls on the hard ground.

The Iowa team closed real work for the season last evening and today. There will be no more practice nor signals will be called out against angry axes will start to morrow; but this is not certain. Curry may be at quarter instead of Boler, and a sub may take Ray's plane of right half. Alexander and Murphy are in bad shape, but as it is the last game for each of these men. (Continued on Page 4)

PROF. GUSTAV SCHOLTELL TALKS ON GROWTH OF DANCE

Gives instructive and interesting address.

Seven Big Eight and Four Missou­ rian Valley Teams Will Finish Before Holidays

With Drake out of the Big Eight Conference race, there will be eleven teams instead of twelve in the cross country run to be held Saturday. Of these, seven will be conference schools and the other four visiting teams will be from the Missouri Val­ ley. The elimination of Drake will probably be advantageous to Ames so it will give them a stronger chance for points. The fight will come mainly between Ames, Wisconsin and Wisconsin, all of these have strong teams this year.

The race will commence at 7:15 o'clock, starting at the arena and swinging out through the country west of the river. The winners will dance in front of the stands just before the Northwestern games com­ mences. Of the winning men the first five will receive medals. The total time of each team of five men will be recorded and that having the low­ est will win the race. There will be sixty men in the run, more cross country contestants than have ever been seen here in an intercol­ legiate event. The men who will represent Iowa are: Wieland, Joes, Smith, Hedges, Gashley and Yaros.

MACKINAWS

YOUNG LADY STUDENTS

And all other young ladies who want up-to-date new mackinaws and flannel shirts will find them here at lowest prices.

The tremendous wave that has been started by Geo. M. Cohan's comedy, "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," is a distinct compliment to the fact that philanthropic and social plays that have been successfully staged many times in the past.

In previous years Wallingford, the devoted material companion of the comedy classic, are to be found in countless numbers, but in Illinois and perhaps in the author's native state, a piece of stage, craft assisted by few playgoers of minor times.

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford" will be presented at the Coliseum and Stade Saturday night, November 27.

It comes here after having made a record two-weeks in New York and Chicago and will be given with a few cast of principals direct from Cohan and Irving principal New York players, the Geo. M. Cohan theatre.

If you never saw Richard Cohan in former years, don't fail to see him when he comes to the Coliseum on Nov. 27, with his latest success, "Jumping Jupiter," for discerning critics have said that the simple-paced monologues are never so funny as in this piece and never appeared in a funnier play.

Mr. Cohan plays the part of our old comrade, a profession that entitles him to the name of the piece. Through the comic trips of the play it is forced to acknowledge an extra wife and his struggles to disguise himself from the mirth of the audience, who has found his line. This original comedy should be extremely amusing.

The music is from the prettiest piece of Kay Hovenson, that genius of melody who wrote "Madame Butterfly," "Swan Lake," and a host of other successes. "Jumping Jupiter" is heard in his best, and each number in "Little Girl I Love You," and "You're the One," which are popular, the one others which are popular are like "I Like to Have a Block of Men Around Me," and "The Birdies of the Wedding March."

The cast of "Jumping Jupiter" is headed by Edna Wallace Hopper, who has been splendidly staged for this production.

RICHARD CARLIE (himself), at the Coliseum, Monday November 27, is "JUMPING JUPITER."

Minnesota First to Cover

The first crisis country teams to arrive for the big race on November 27 in the Minnesota squad, which entered Iowa City yesterday morning and is now quartered at the St. James. Forever here have come unusually early in order to keep in shape.

The Nebraska team is expected tonight, and Chicago will be in tomorrow morning. When the others come it will be sweet. Because of injuries and the fact that the members of the Nebraska football team are busy indians in various ways to the Minnesota team, which reached the Minnesota squad, which entered Iowa City yesterday morning and is now quartered at the St. James. Forever here have come unusually early in order to keep in shape.

If you are bulky mammal finding works faulting backwoods, writing poems or trying in various ways to entice the upper classes tomorrow isn't be surprised. They are not tame but only the first year men chosen to maintain the tangle of the season's best in which he finds himself, and his struggles to disentangle himself from this tangle of complications and entanglement which he finds himself.

The impression of the new entertainment the more new members will present, they are unanimous in their opinion of it.

The season's first band will hold their band practice for the championship during the holiday season. GREAT SPIRIT IS SHOWN AT LAST MASS MEETING

Iowa's Unfortunate Past Has Not Damaged Spirit

"With "New for the Year" and "Toll the Hoo-Doo," which means Northwestern, as the watchwords of the last football season, the new year opened with a plausible spirit. The last year was a season of defeat and disaster, but this year has promised to be a season of success and glory. The team is expected to be a strong one, and the fans are hoping for a victory over the Maroons.

Dr. P. O. Hoy, one of the scientists connected with the National museum at Washington, D. C., and who is an authority on paleontology, left Iowa City Thursday evening after spending some time here. Before leaving he spoke of his work here and its purpose as follows:

"I am engaged in preparing for the state geological report of Professor Hoy's, and the report of the vertebrate animals of the period. Among the most important of these animals are the mammoths, elephants, horses, camels, etc., Iowa is certainly abundant in these species, and the most abundant of any state except California. The paleontological collection at the University is a very large one, and it ought to be better housed and displayed."

men, they are sure to start. Iowa's standing in the Northwest is that of a large horse upon a small cat. There is no excuse for a worse game on the part of the Iowa. If the team is not better, the Iowa will lose.

FILM AT THE KAPPA HOUSE

The theme of the Kappa house will be "The film at the Kappa house." The film is a short one, and the guests will enjoy it. The film will be shown on Saturday night, and there will be a dance at the Kappa house on Saturday night.
