MEETING IS HELD BY ENGINEERS

PRESENT SITUATION IS DISCUSSED FULLY—EVERY ENGINEER PRESENT

Committees are Appointed—No Condemnation Whatever of the Board of Education or the University Officials—Mass Meeting Contemplated.

Yesterday afternoon the students of the college of applied science held a meeting to discuss the action recently taken by the state board of education regarding the removal of the college to Ames.

The meeting was notably free from sensational addresses and there was no condemnation of the state board of education or the university officials. The meeting was delayed until every engineer was present then the situation was discussed until every man had fully grasped every detail.

Committees were appointed who will adopt resolutions which will embody the stand taken by the engineers regarding the action of the state board.

One of the committee appointed has in charge the contemplated mass meeting of this evening. Owing to the absence of president Bowman no definite action could be taken regarding the matter.

Merry Talk at Y. M. Good

Sixty men turned out for the mid-week meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night and listened to a highly interesting and practical talk on "A Man and His Manners," given by Professor Glenn N. Merry, head of the public speaking department. In the first place the speaker made the point that in order to have good manners, we must first have the man. We must have the right kind of wood before we try to apply the polish; it would be a hard job to polish basswood. He then grew more specific and by several concrete instances brought his lesson close home.

While in college it was once his duty as monitor of the campus for his fraternity to observe closely the manners of the students on the campus and in the buildings, and the results of these observations he presented a number of points in which he thought the manners of the students at Iowa could be improved. Among the other things he spoke of personal appearance, of the duty of speaking pleasantly to passers by, and writing to the folks at home. He ended his talk by exhorting everyone to support the church, the Y. M. C. A. and the athletics of the university.

The Erodophians entertained a bunch of girls last evening.

MASS MEETING ON IOWA FIELD

Girls Urged to Come out En Masse—Yell Masters to be on Hand

Great things are promised for the monster mass meeting which will be held on the athletic field this afternoon at 4:30. This mass meeting is for the purpose of arousing some pep for the Cornell game tomorrow and showing the team that the whole student body is back of them.

"Pete" Fisher, brother of "Al" Iowa's greatest yell leader, will be out to lead the yells, and as was shown in the mass meeting last Friday night he bids fair to follow in his famous brother's footsteps.

The band will be out to a man, and Lieutenant Mars as is usual will no doubt dismiss the regiment and send them over to the field.

The medics have asked that an entire section be reserved for them, and the engineers are promising something novel by way of surprise. All the different colleges will be out with their yell leaders.

A special plea is made that the girls get out in full force and show that they can be just as loyal as the fellows. At Ames and other colleges over the state when a mass meeting is held the girls fill the bleachers and the fellows have to stand up. It is hoped that it will be this way at the mass meeting this afternoon.

With the game only one day off all that remains is for the students to get some good Old Iowa spirit and come out and show that they are behind the team and that even though they have had bad luck the last week they still think that Cornell will be beaten by an overwhelming score.

Dr. King at Ottawa

Dr. Irving King of the school of education of the university of Iowa will address the County Teachers' association October 11 and 12 at Ottawa, Ill., on the subjects "The Social Development of the High School" and "The Problem of School Inventives."

Edda Notice

There will be a meeting of Edda, Saturday evening in Irving hall. All Scandinavian students are invited to be present.

Iowa City Ad Club

At the next general meeting of the Iowa City Ad Club, Mr. Harwood, head of the Publicity Bureau is to read a paper on the educational value of advertising.

Miss Louise Barr, the Y. W. C. A. secretary, will speak next Sunday evening at the vesper service at Oakdale.

IOWA ALUMNUS HAS NEW IDEA

ALUMNI OF IOWA ARE TREATED AT LENGTH—DOING THINGS IN POLITICS

History of Different Inter-Collegiate Athletic Contests are Given—To Be a Regular Feature—Summer Reunions are Taken Up.

The first Iowa Alumnus of the school year comes from the press today. There are forty pages of it this issue and it is filled with interesting news about Iowa's eight thousand alumni.

The frontispiece of the magazine is a picture of H. M. Eisher, the newest member of the State Board of Education. The leading article is concerning "Alumni in Politics." The article deals with the alumni of Iowa who are going to shape things both in Iowa and in the nation in the coming big fight next month. One article deals with the big "Home Coming" on the day of the Wisconsin game November 23.

The alumni have been busy all summer holding reunions to boost Iowa. The alumnus gives an account of the reunions in California, Minnesota, and Washington as well as the one at Guthrie Center, Iowa. Because of the coming medical clinic there are two articles dealing with the College of Medicine. One of these is on "Iowa's Medical Progress" and is written by Dr. J. T. McClintock, '09 and it describes the improvements that have been made in the College of Medicine since 1887. The other article is by Dr. William Jepson '86 and is entitled "Medicine Now and Then." It makes a contrast of the way the student became a doctor at Iowa twenty-five years ago and how he does now.

The magazine contains the locations of the 1912 graduates and many short articles of interest about alumni and university happenings. "The 1912 Football Outlook" is reviewed down to date. Along with this are two articles on "Exciting Moments in Iowa's Athletic History". The first one of these deals with the game with Chicago in '99 when Iowa, supposedly weak, tied Chicago for the championship of the west. The story is told by S. Clyde Williams, D. '03. The other story is of "Nebraska's Downfall" the year before and is by Dr. Sam W. Hobbs, '01. The alumnus is to continue this department, telling each month of some big event in the history of Iowa Athletics.

Octave Thanet entertained last Tuesday evening.

The annual business meeting of the university Graduate club was held in the drawing rooms of the hall of liberal arts Wednesday evening, Oct. 9. Different members of the graduate faculty gave short, inspiring talks after which following officers were elected:

President. C. F. Malmberg; vice-president Miss Kathryn Stewart, secretary and treasurer, Joseph Gadbury.

Professor Cummings Lectures

Last evening in the studios of the fine arts college Prof. Cummings gave his usual Wednesday evening lecture on art. A good sized audience was present, and after the lecture, tea was served and a four of the studios was made.

These lectures are free to the public, and extremely interesting. Prof. Cummings has lived abroad for many years among the studios and art centers of France, Germany and other countries and is able to give his personal experiences and observations on the inhabitants' customs and characteristics in connection with his discussions on their arts.

Invitations have already been sent out for the big dance and reception which the Theta Phi Fraternity will hold October 18 in Company I hall.

METROPOLITAN BLOCK ALMOST DESTROYED

FIRE ENTAILING LOSS OF $100,000 BREAKS OUT AT 5:42 LAST EVENING

Explosion Spreads Flames Shortly After First Started—Was Under Control in Forty Minutes—Feared for Time That Whole Block Would go.

Fire, entailing a loss of over $100,000, last night caused almost complete destruction of the Metropolitan block on the corner of Washington and Dubuque streets. The firms suffering loss include six of Iowa City's foremost establishments.

The fire started at 5:42 according to the Keith and McChesney's regulator, which was stopped on account of the explosion that started the flames. Forty minutes after the fire started, the firemen had it under control. Five lines of hose played continuous streams on the burning building and the water pressure was inadequate, but soon worked well when the city supply was cut off.

The center of the east wall facing Dubuque street fell a few minutes after the fire reached that side. Flying embers and falling boards made the task of fighting the fire still more dangerous, and several narrow escapes are reported.

The cadets of the university worked like Trojans carrying goods from the stores. They had just completed their drill, and came rushing up Washington street to the rescue. Falling bricks and burning timber dropped everywhere about them. That the loss was not much greater is due largely to their efforts.

For a time it was feared that the whole block was doomed, but the firemen working in the face of great danger gained control but not until much damage had been done. Those suffering damage are, Speidel Brothers, Zager and Wallick and Flater, Taft and Company, Stewart and Sons, Keith and McChesney, and the Pioneer Knitting Company.

THE LITERARY QUESTION

When a man or woman starts to college, it is usually with the desire to get all the possible good and enjoyment out of the four years. However, there are a surprisingly large number of students who do not even entertain the thought of entering upon certain branches of college work which are of the utmost good and benefit to all students.

One of these important phases of college life is the literary society. In organized forensics, a man may derive benefit such as is received in no other way, and which is very similar in its effects to the military training one receives on the field. The trained debater must have as much personal character and self-possession as the trained soldier, and must rely absolutely upon himself in all emergencies, for there is no one to do his thinking for him, or give him orders.

of days gone by have in most cases received their early training in literary societies. The great lawyers of the day will be found to have made names for themselves in college literary work in practically all cases. This should prove the advisability of an early beginning. No man knows what he can do until he tries himself and the place to try is in college.

TO MOTHER

A gift to mother is the best gift in the world.

She is more interested in you and your college course than anyone else. Gifts to her now mean pleasant memories to you in the future.

Why not give her nine copies of a standard college magazine telling her each month of this university you are attending.

The Iowa Alumnus can be one the of letters you write home---and you little realize how these letters are appreciated.

The Iowa Alumnus is out to-morrow. Get a copy. Look it over---satisfy yourself completely---then leave a dollar at the Alumni Bureau in the Old Capitol Building (second floor) or mail it.

You'll not miss that dollar next week---and just think of what it means to those at home.

LINE-UP DOUBTFUL FOR GAME ON SAT.

MANY CHANGES MADE SINCE MISFORTUNES OF LAST MONDAY MASS MEETING TODAY

No Estimate of Probable Line-up of Cornell as They Have Been Silent so far—Will Hold Practice This Afternoon.

The man who attempts to pick the line-up which will start the game for Iowa tomorrow must be a person with much indifference to the way his prophecies look in the light of after events. Since the recent casualties struck the local hopes, change has followed change so rapidly in some of the positions that the best possible prediction is no better than the worst, nor worse either. But here's the way it looks right now. Center, Houghton; right guard, Clemons; left guard, Loudin; right tackle, C. Brueckner; left tackle, Trickey; right end, Carberry or Krof; left end, Buckley; quarter, Meloy; right half, Parsons; left half, Dick; fullback, Bowen.

The center position seems assured, and it is fairly certain that Clemons will be at right guard. Left guard is a puzzle. Loudin was used there last night, and his experience on scrub teams in the past will probably get him the call; but L. Brueckner has also been used considerably at the place this week. C. Brueckner will probably start at right tackle, but Schulte is giving him a close race for the place, lacking only in "pepper" and tackling ability. Trickey, although not in good shape and excused from scrimmage last evening, seems likely to play left tackle.

No estimate of the probable strength or weakness of the Cornell team is obtainable. The Purple has been laying low and saying nothing this week, and this may be taken as a sign that the Methodists are fixing for a repetition of last season's doings. FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Yost, Michigan's world famous football coach, takes no more chances than he can help. The weather man decided that a wet field was about due so no outdoor practice was indulged in Friday, but Yost put his men through a strenuous signal drill in the gym. Michigan as usual will have a heavy team in the field. The whole squad at present averages about 164 pounds, while the varsity itself weighs about 175 pounds.

Out of all the men who entered the university of Wisconsin last year 37 per cent either failed or were conditioned.

Dr. R. Tate McKenzie of the university of Pennsylvania says that college athletics benefit the men who take part. "No permanent damage to the heart can result from athletics", he says. "He will fall exhausted or give up the contest long before the danger point is reached." His statement applies to those who have sound hearts before they go into the contest, but not to those who have weak hearts at the outset.

David Starr Jordan, President of Leland Stanford University, and at one time President of Indiana Union, has resigned his position as head of Leland Stanford. His resignation will take effect in 1915. Professor Jordan will then study peace arbitration.

Wisconsin students who, following the example of Chicago, wish to wear red felt rooting caps at the approaching big Chicago-Wisconsin game, are having difficulty with the local athletic council, which objects to the use of the "W" on the cap.
