ANOTHER PHASE OF THE BIG QUESTION

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR IS AGAINST ACTION OF BOARD

Feels that Boys and Girls of State Are Being Made Victims of Ill Considered Experiments—State Schools Are Being Made "Football"

The recent action of the state board concerning the removal of the engineering college to Ames has taken a hold of the general public. Some of the candidates for state offices call this year's work is frankly stating their views on the subject. The democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor is strongly opposed to the removal of the college, he points out.

The letter received from him is given as follows:

"It is time that the citizens of Iowa are judged by Iowa, is in my judgment still considered and irrevocable in the legislature.

"It is high time that the alumni and students of Mt. I., should awaken to the fact that our school and the boys and girls of Iowa are being made the victim of ill considered experiments and our state schools the football of "practical politicians.

"The engineering school must remain at the S. I. L. and I take pleasure in assuring the alumni and students of S. I. L. that if I am re-elected governor, I shall endeavor to have the senate committee on schools and colleges be appointed who is not opposed to the change.

Very truly yours,

G. A. Gerdener.

ON POLITICS
Last evening at the democratic rally Judge Wade made the following statement in the course of his remarks: "Politics is the science of government and vitally interests the men, women, and children of the nation. It places as important a part in the home as it does in the legislative halls of the state and nation. This statement is indeed axiomatic. The present campaign will go down in history as one of the greatest educational forces in the nation. It is unique in the fact that the names of one of the great parties of a former college president. Time was when the college man was looked upon as a dreamer and a theorist, but the present political agitation has done more to explode this time worn prejudice than any other single movement in educational history. It is gratifying to see the interest manifested by the students of the university in the coming election. For this interest indicates the development of the idea that politics is not a "dirty" game. The future of the republic depends upon the enlightened view of the people, and the educated men of the country must form the nucleus for the development of the correct ideas of government.

The proper understanding of the science of government requires a definite knowledge of the political, social, and economic relations of the people. Government is both practical and theoretical. But practical government can never be obtained without an understanding of the theoretical. Our present system of government is the result of the conditions that was made practical. The great mass of mankind are more interested in their position in the present situation, so that the safety of a nation depends entirely upon the efficiency of the check that is placed upon the masses by the free exercise of a just judgment. Democracy exists in name only, for the ultimate government of a nation is always the expression of the wishes of the people as directed by a coterie of the brains of the commonwealth. Many of the present democratic statements would lose their plausibility were they placed under the scrutiny of one trained in scientific government. The privileges of exposing our judgment in politics is not only right, but a duty, and it behooves every one of us to read the importance of that duty. It is our duty to every student, regardless of party affiliation, to take this opportunity this year of exposing his theory of government in the politics booth next Tuesday. For it is upon the student of today that the future safety of the country will depend.

Getting all that's coming to you

YOU young fellows are right about clothes; some men may smile a little at the importance you put upon small differences in style and design; but don't let that bother you.

Your business just now is to make good; and you're wise to the fact that the good looking clothes made by Hart Schaffner & Marx are an asset; and while they don't make the man, they're a help in his job of making himself.

Be very critical about style, but no less critical about the workmanship; get all that's coming to you. When you find a style that satisfies you, and a fit that's right, and Hart Schaffner & Marx name in, buy it. Then you will have it all; not only style, but quality. Without quality, style does not last.

Look at our Varsity models this fall; we know you'll like them.

You can tell beforehand if you get the style and fit you want. Afterward, if you find you didn't get all that's coming to you—in wear, in shape-keeping, in satisfaction, we'll make good the lack. That's part of our business.

See the new fall styles for men and young men.
