IOWA RUBS INDIANA WITH 13 TO 6 SCORE

Hoosiers Sent to Cellar in Conference Race by Brilliant Hawkeye Victory

Stiff Come-back and Countless Iowa Errors Make Things Look Bad in Latter Half But "Pepper" Fails Home Team.

In the first meeting of the two teams in the history of the game, Iowa won from Indiana yesterday in the latter's own yard at Indianapolis. Before a great crowd of residents of Indianapolis and students from the university at Bloomington, the men from the west ground their Hoosier rivals into the dirt, and won a victory which was much easier than the score of 13 to 6 indicates. It was hard lines for the Indianans, who had confidently expected to trim the Hawkeyes and so redeem their conference standing. But the Hawkeyes outplayed them in every department of the game, and should have had a much larger margin of victory.

Three times the Hawkeyes were repulsed when on the Indiana one-yard line. Once a penalty did the business, and again Curry failed on a quarter back run with a yard to go for the touchdown on the fourth down. Again it was McGinnis, the smashing fullback, who was stopped when he had only a yard to go. On two other occasions the Iowa team got within the Indiana five yard line, when something went wrong. Time was called for the end of the game with the Iowa team in possession of the ball on the Indiana ten-yard line.

The last half was a constant march down the field by the determined Hawkeyes, with the Hoosiers battling grimly to defend their goal and win such honor as they might. Once, in the first quarter which was also an Indiana rout, Dick, the slippery Iowa half, got away around the Indiana right wing for twenty-five yards and a touchdown. The kick-out was blocked, and the score at the end of the first half stood Iowa 6, Indiana 0. The Hoosiers rallied briefly, and gave hope to the big home crowd which cheered them on by carrying the ball thirty yards at the beginning of the second half; but it was only a flash 'n the pan, and soon the fleet Iowa backs, aided occasionally by Captain Hanson's long punts or his terrific rushes around the end on fake kicks, and by Kirk's bullet-like forward passes, took up their march toward the Crimson goal. McGinnis went over for a touchdown after one of these marches, and kicked his own goal afterward. Then the rout began again, and Hoosiers were backed rapidly toward their goal lines, but always something went wrong, and the game swung rapidly to and fro between the center of the field and the Indiana goal. Time after time the Iowa backs tore off five, ten and fifteen yard runs, but the advance was halted always before a touchdown could be made.

Late in the fourth period, after Indiana had taken the ball on downs in the shadow of their own goal. Erehart, the big Crimson halfback, took the ball on a fake kick and skirted the Iowa end for eighty yards and a touchdown. The goal was missed. The Hawkeyes came back furiously, held the Hoosiers, blocked a punt which was recovered by Indiana on her own two-yard line, and at the close of the game had fought their way back to the Indiana ten-yard line. How much the score should have been according to the merits of the two teams cannot, of course, be told. Certainly it should have been considerably larger. The Hawkeyes made one great stand on their own three-yard line, but aside from this were never in danger except when Erehart made his great run. The Indiana team fumbled badly in the second half, but the Hawkeyes had similar misfortunes in the first.

STUDENT SLAMS AN EX-STUDENT LETTER

"FRIEND OF OLD GOLD" EXEMPLIFIES FEELING OF STUDENTS ABOUT ACTION

Goes After Arguments of Ex-Student's Letter in True Iowa Spirit, Making Strong Appeal for Lovers of "Old Gold" to Fight to End.

Iowa City, Nov. 8.

Editor Iowan:

In the last Friday's issue of the Daily Iowan there appeared an article by an ex-student of one of the state institutions wherein this ex-student attempts to uphold the action of the state board of education. I do not know which one of the state institutions he attended but I do believe that he did not attend long enough to get any kind of college spirit whatsoever.

This wrongfully informed person speaks about the power of the board. As it is understood here, I believe that the board has no power at all but is simply a managing body. He speaks about the loss of the engineers as a good thing for the university, in as much as he says that the interest of the university must be taken into consideration as well as that of the college. That is the principal reason exactly why the engineers should forever remain an integral part of the university. For by taking any good part away from the whole you so cripple the entire body or organization that it becomes a wreck and one which perhaps will perish in the first tempest.

He says the presidents of the three institutions are too close to the problem to be able to offer any solution. I ask you all candidly as to who would be better able to talk about the State Teachers' college than President Seerley, who has lived with and built up that institution until it has only one equal in the entire world.

He says that if the legislature does not sustain the action of the board they will be the laughing stock of our sister states. It seems to me that if the state boards' action is not reconsidered, that then the legislature will be the laughing stock of the "sister states," as he calls them.

It is true that the board was given the power to control the three state institutions but they were never told nor ordered to destroy or annihilate that part which is essential to any college or university. They were given the power to build up and not to tear down. They were supposed to make things better and not worse. There should be a constructive poli-

ALUMNI BANQUET "BIGGEST EVER"

Many Iowa "Grads" at Des Moines—Banquet at Hotel Randolph a Great Success

With the largest attendance of Iowa graduate teachers at the State Teachers' Convention at Des Moines, one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of alumni ever held, took place at the Hotel Randolph Friday evening. Places had only been reserved for 100 guests but 125 finally crowded into the cafe of the new hotel. D. D. Murphy of Elkader, a member of the state board of education, acted as toastmaster for the banquet and took care of the speakers in an excellent manner. Mr. Murphy is one of the men who is helping make the fight against the attempted destruction of the university by the state board. Lafayette Young, Jr responded to the toast "College Fellowship." Miss Sarah McBride spoke of "Iowa College for Iowa Girls" and President Bowman closed the program with "What the University has to be Thankful for".

At the close of the program the whole crowd arose and sang "Old Gold" following which the "Who Wah Wah" was given with as much enthusiasm as is always shown by Iowa men and women.

Accomodations for the banquet were better than ever before. The new Hotel Randolph is an ideal place to hold the banquet. Music by a good orchestra was a new feature this year that added materially to the pleasure of the occasion. Much credit is due to H. M. Harwood, new secretary of the Alumni Bureau of Information, for the work he did in making this gathering of "Iowa" teachers a grand success in every respect.

Vesper Services

At the natural science auditorium at 4:30 this afternoon will occur the second vesper service held this year. The address this time will be delivered by Dr. G. T. W. Patrick of the department of philosophy on the subject "The Message of Recent Philosophy."

Few students attended the first vesper service and it is to be hoped that a large number will be out to hear the talk by Dr. Patrick. The Sunday afternoon meetings which were instituted by President Bowman last year to take the place of the former mid-week assemblies, proved very popular last year when the students became acquainted with the pleasure of a quite Sunday afternoon hour.

IMPORTANT PLANS ARE MADE BY COMMITTEE

TAKE ACTION TO RAISE FUNDS TO CONDUCT FIGHT AGAINST EDUCATIONAL BOARD

Detailed Plans Cannot be Announced—Making Strong Appeal to Alumni—Individual Support of Student Body is Needed.

The Student Central Committee at its meeting Friday evening adopted important plans with regard to the proposed state-wide campaign of publicity in opposition to the state board's action removing the engineering college from the university. Action with regard to the raising of funds among the student body to finance the work was also taken.

The meeting called by President Boer was attended by the new members of the committee together with those previously in membership and the benefit of the larger committee was very apparent in the way of enthusiasm and additional ideas. The committee appointed with regard to a mass meeting for the purpose of soliciting financial aid of the student body submitted its report in favor of a subscription campaign to be carried on throughout the whole university rather than to bring the matter up in a mass meeting and this report was unanimously adopted. The mass meeting planned for the coming week will not be held. This action seemed advisable because of the fact that other mass meetings will be held next week prior to the Ames game and because a mass meeting does not afford the best opportunity to acquaint the students with the plans and to raise money. Instead of such a method every student in the university will be canvassed to make a voluntary contribution to back the work. The complete report as to the nature of this campaign will soon be announced as a committee to take the matter in charge was appointed at the meeting.

While detailed plans as to the way in which the whole educational campaign will be carred on cannot as yet be announced, a very definite notion of what is being done can be gained from noting the nature of the work which has been submitted to various sub-committees. One committee was appointed to take charge of the work through organizations of students and alumni throughout the state. Another committee is preparing communications to the alumni to acquaint them with the need for a determined action. A third committee is now engaged in the preparation of a bulletin which

DR. TRUMAN MICHELSON GIVES REMARKABLE ACCOUNTS OF THE MESKWAKIS

Interesting Traditions of These Indians—Peculiar Phases of Language—Indians With Same Characteristics Found in Eastern States.

The state historical society entertained Dr. Truman Michelson this week and heard from him remarkable accounts of the Meskwaki Indians at Tama, Ia.

How a woman in a nation unknown to us, has a thousand ways of saying things different from the expression of the man; how to look north is a forfeiture of luck, and how some day translation of folk lore will bring to the American people the history of a remarkable division of races in this United States—all of these things, and more, were told by Dr. Michelson in the rooms of the state historical society to an audience of over 100 university and Iowa City people.

Dr. Michelson came to Iowa City direct from the Tama reservation where he has secured valuable data relative to the Indian tribes of the country. Following a return to the Bureau of Ethnology at Washington, Dr. Michelson will return to further his investigations in this state.

Peculiar Language

One interesting phase of Dr. Michelson's address last evening was his account of the language of the Tama or Meskwaki Indians. The men of the tribe never say "nephew." Rather they leave that to the women, and when they speak say "the son of his brother." A thousand tenses for every verb, declared Dr. Michelson, existed among those Indians. At every turn of time they had a different way of saying things.

Dr. Michelson told of attending a buffalo dance given by these Indians, and they approached the dance from the south side, but were suddenly told to change their courses of approach. To look upon an object, and show or piece of property from the south side is the worst of luck by these Indians' traditions. Never will they group themselves on the south side of a tepee.

More to Learn

Dr. Michelosn expressed himself as distinctly unsatisfied with the translation of the language of the Meskwaki Indians as given by the guides. He believes a more correct interpretation of the Indians' phrases and a more careful explanation of each fairy tale told by them will develop remarkable history to the aid of Indian research workers in this country.

Strangely enough concluded Dr. Michelson, Indians of the exact characteristics of the Tama tribe have been found in Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, and Wyoming. Some time the ethnology bureau hopes to present to the American people a remarkable account of the separations of what was once one great nation of redskins.

STUDENT'S DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS

Philosophical Club

Among the most valuable additions to the purely scholastic department of any institution of learning are those voluntary gatherings of faculty members and students for the purpose of discussing scientific, philosophical and literary questions. If the strength of such organizations is any indication of the educational status of a univeristy then Iowa may well be placed in the front rank, for in our school there is a large body of students who are strongly enough interested in the different branches of knowledge to make investigations in them of their own free will and talk over the results with their fellows.

In this class are included only those clubs connected with some certain department, largely directed by faculty members, and open to any student specially interested in the subjects considered. It is purposed in a series of articles in this paper to give an account of the origin, history, and purpose of each student-faculty departmental club in the university of Iowa.

The Philosophical Club, the first to be considered, is an organization designed for the discussion of questions in philosophy, psychology, education, logic, aesthetics, and kindred subjects. It admits to membership faculty members, graduate students who are pursuing these subjects, and a few undergraduates who show special interest.

The club was organized January 17, 1902. Of the charter members, those now in the university are Professor Patrick, Dorcas, Seashore, Williams, and Miss Joy. Since that time the club has had a most successful history, and has brought to unversity a number of national authorities on the subjects discussed by this organization. Among some of the most noted visitors have been J. R. Angell, head of the department of psychology in Chicago university; J. H. Tufts, the eminent authority on ethics; Chas. F. Dole of Boston, the well known Unitarian clergyman and thinker; Florence Richardson, professor of psychology at Drake; Luther Weigle; Arthur Fairbanks; J. D. Stoopes, and Paul Carus. The German scholar, Dr. Guenther Jacoby, was one of the latest thinkers who have given the philosophical students some of the results of his investigations.

The following summary of the papers read shows the range of subjects covered since the founding of the club.

Papers read by visitors: Nine of a philosophical nature, 3 in education 7 in psychology, and 2 miscellaneous.

By members: Eighteen in philosophy, 16 education, 21 psychology, and 5 miscellaneous.

Total number of papers, 45.

Regular meetings of the Philosophical Club are held fortnightly, alternating in time with the meetings of the Political Science Club. Unless otherwise announced, meetings are held in room 213 of the liberal arts building, and at such times are open to anyone interested.

Classy Song Hits

"Her Eyes are Blue for Yale," a great college song which is one of the many song hits in the musical fantasy, "The Prince Tonight," in which Tom Arnold will appear at the Englert theatre Tuesday night, is one of the most striking as well as tuneful numbers ever heard in musical comedy. The chorus is accompanied by the various college yells of the prominent universities, and each familiar yell is generally echoed by some of the auditors who know by experience the joys of college days. Mr. Arnold himself is a college man and naturally enters into the college spirit while portraying the youth in the above role.—Adv.

"The Prince of Tonight"

Is it possible for a musical play to be over burdened with girls? One reviewer has complained that there are too many pretty girls in the chorus of "The Prince of Tonight," and that in consequence his attention was alineated from the theme and the principals of the attraction. Certainly LeComte and Flesher, always contrive to enhance their offerings with unusually attractive choruses, for they realize that beauty is only skin deep and the girls in "The Prince of Tonight," have also filled their qualifications in singing and dancing. Tom Arnold heads the important cast of principals in this great musical success which will be seen here on Tuesday night, November 12.

The book and lyrics are by Adams and Hough and the music by Joseph E. Howard, among the many song hits introduced are "Her Eyes are Blue for Yale,'5' "You're a Dear Old World After All," "I Can't Be True So Far Away," "Can It Be Loce?" and "Tonight Will Never Come Again." Much praise has been accorded the scenicv production which has been built with a lavish disregard of expense.—Adv.

YOUR SUPPORT NEEDED

Ever since the announcement of the state board's action with regard to the engineering college the student body has been, figuratively speaking, "up in arms". The feeling has been intense. Numerous good and unanswerable arguments have been advanced to prove that such a dismembership is both unwise and disasterous to technical education in the state.

With all this enthusiasm and interest there has been but one serious difficulty. That has been in the lack of an effective organization of the students of the entire university in their opposition to the plan. But within the month a number of students representing all colleges of the university have formed a Student Central Committee whose prime purpose is to crystallize the individual student interest into an all university action. This central committee answers a pressing need and has in it great possibilities. Because of the little time within which it can do effective work it has been forced to assume certain prerogatives both as to its composition and modes of to its composition and mods of action. We are sure however, judging from the frequent expressions of opinion, that the student body is heartily in sympathy with the work of this organization and will back it up in all its endeavors.

The student central committee has a number of aims and plans. It proposes in addition to its work among the students to thoroughly educate and acquaint the people of Iowa with the situation here. It will show them what a splendid engineering college in the way of equipment and work done we have here at the university; the advantages which are gained by this college in being connected with one of the strongest liberal arts colleges in the middle west; the value of the hydraulic plant here in engineering work and the historical reasons for retaining the engineering college. This campaign will be carried on through the students, individual alumni, alumni clubs and newspapers. Such a campaign will unquestionably show that the action of the state board, if carried out, will be extravagant as well as ill-advised.

In order to do all these things which the Student Central Committee proposes and believes necessary to do, it must have funds. It takes money to send out letters and bulletins on a large enough scale to thoroughly educate the people of the state. Some plan whereby voluntary contributions will be solicited of every student is to be used. Let us get back of this organization and give it a loyal support. Remember that financial as well as moral support is needed. Enthusiasm without funds will not suffice. When you are approached on this matter stop for a moment and realize what the university would be like without our loyal engineers and their strong and growing college. Then contribute accordingly.

YOU HELP TOO

It would surprise you if you saw the number of letters that are appearing in many of the local papers of the state, in regard to the engineering situation. Iowa is a community of small towns. It is here that the influence to help the engineers in their fight must be aroused. Many students have already sent signed communications to their home papers expressing their sentiment on the fight. But enough of these will not have been sent till the overwhelming public sentiment in the state will force engineering to remain at Iowa. Have you contributed your share? If you have not, sit down this afternoon and write a letter to your home paper to be published next week.

You know the facts, if you don't any engineer can give them to you. It is only a little to do and it will help show your spirit for "Old Gold." It is your chance to do something that will be felt. Your opinions go further than you realize with the people of your town because they know you are at Iowa and they respect your views. Won't you write that letter today?

Notice

Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 12, from 5:00 to 7:00 the Methodist girls travel club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. C. Trowbridge, 403 E Davenport. Every member is urged to be present.

Student Slams Letter

Men and women of the university, you and your university have been imposed upon for years. You have been under the censure of people all over Iowa and the United States. The worst blow of all has been struck. Can you as students and you who have passed out from under the protecting walls of "Old Gold" with honor, stand by and see the engineers depart? Can you allow a part that is yours be taken away from the university and leave a vacant place here that can never be replaced by anything else, without making a protest? Show your colors. Work for Old Gold. Demonstrate to the people of Iowa what you are made of and cause that ex-student, whoever he is, to blush with mortification because he dares to go against the traditions of his college and yours.

You must fight hard and never give up until the engineers and every part of the university is so solidly fixed under the flying colors of old Iowa that they can never be budged from their foundations.

Fight like men who are going in to battle to win or die and you will be the victors. Do more than talk. It is easy to say what you think should be done. Say it and say it right, but from now on until those engineers are here to stay,

"Till the water no more in thy river shall run, Till the stars in the heavens grow cold,"

fight and act for old Iowa, until the people of the state will respect you and reward you for the sacrifices and work that you have done.

—A Friend of "Old Gold."

will be sent out not only to alumni but to all counties. This bulletin will probably give by pictures and written contents some idea of the strong engineering college which we have here at the university, the nature of its equipment, the splendid advantage of its being connected with a strong liberal arts college as well as the historical, legal and economic arguments in favor of its retention at the university.

Travel Club Meets

The first meeting of the Presbyterian girls Travel Club was held at the home of Mrs. Francis M. Fox yesterday afternoon. About eighty girls were present at the meeting.

FINAL CROSS COUNTRY PULLED OFF YESTERDAY

Sumner Won in 30 Minutes—Was Closely Contested Race—Avery is Hurt

The final run of the cross country series was held yesterday afternoon. In one of the closest contested runs of the season Sumner came out first with a time of 30 minutes, 13 1-5 seconds. Brunner followed second, time 30 minutes, 20 seconds. Out of the whole squad eight ran entire course, finishing in the following order, Sumner, Brunner, Tyler Jones, Cook, Mak, Hobbett, and Mortimore. Since the team which will go to Evanston Nov. 23 to compete in the intercollegiate run will be selected from the records made at the final home run the first six of these will constitute the squad.

One accident marked this contest. Avery, who was up with the squad on the home stretch stepped into a rut made by a wagon wheel, and severely sprained his ankle.

MEDIC-PHARMACEUT GAME SCORE ENDS 6 TO 6

Good Offensive Game Played By Both Teams—Was Very Interesting Scrap

The medic-pharmaceut game, that was played yesterday afternoon, was undoubtedly the best played so far in the interdepartment league. The teams were evenly matched, each scoring a touchdown but failing to kick goal thus leaving the score a tie, 6 to 6.

The game was interesting throughout, time and time again starting plays were pulled off which brought the crowd of spectators to their feet. Both teams played an excellent offensive game but were weak defensively. The medic ends held well but the pharmaceuts resorted to line smashing with great success. Harvey and Wood gained consistently for the pharmateuts, Bryant and McGoey also played good games. Donnelly, Myers, and Royal were the medic start, and Stuart's punts were very effective.

The line up of the pharmaceuts is as follows:

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Last Saturday the Princeton gun team won from Dartmouth by margin of 6, the team score being 198-192.

Harvard has a wonderful crop of mustaches this year. The crop is so far above the average as to be called a bumper.

A new song has been offered to Dartmouth college by the Rev. B. T. Marshall '97. He has composed the song to the air of "Men of Harlech."

Few men turned out last Saturday to try out for place on the track team, that will compete against the first year men on the coming Saturday at Cornell.

Little interest has been shown here in the Freshman Golf Tournament, although the winner and runner-up will receive gold and silver prizes respectively.

"What flower is to be worn at contests at the Stanford bloom,' is a question which has been referred to the Women's Conference after much discussion in the press.

General Mario Garcia Menocal, '88, a graduate of the college of civil engineering at Cornell, is the leading candidate in the field for the office of president of the Republic of Cuba.

A poll of the 179 candidates for the state legislature reveals the fact that but 8 candidates are graduates of Nebraska and only a few more have ever attended the state school for a shorter period.

On Thursday night the annual underclass flag rush at Cornell will take place on the Armory green. There will be three rushes, one for the lighweights, one for the middleweights, and a third for the heavyweights.

One of the most popular courses in the curriculum of Minnesota is the recent addition of the study of the Scandanavian languages. A large number of students are enrolled in the new courses.

The annual Sophomore-Freshman cane spreeing contest will take place on Thursday, November 14. It will be held on the campus, on that evening. So far, the Freshmen have shown more interest in practice than their opponents.

President Edmund James, thanked the students, though the Daily Illini, for the spirit shown at the mass meeting at which they drew up resolutions against riots and celebrations endangering life and property.

The four debating societies of California have organized a base ball league, for the fall. The societies have arranged for each team to play six games each. The three losing societies will present the winner with a gavel.

A bear cub mascot of the Texas football team chased a couple of coeds until one of the players tackled the frolicsome beast. The girls were rescued but the cub insisted on leaving the field with a portion of the gallant hero's moleskins.

The Farce Committee of the junior class will present a play written by two students of California university. The play is entitled "A Full House." The production is centered around a local fraternity house at the time of a recent home-coming.

A very unique plowing contest is to be a feature of the annual field and track day at the agricultural college of Minnesota next Monday. The points won will be counted in with the field day scores. In addition to this the winner will receive a $45 sulky plow, and second best man a $25 hand plow, both donated by a Minneapolis firm.

Philosophical Club Meets

The Philosophical Club will meet at the home of Professor H. C. Dorcas on the West Side Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. Dr. Mable Williams will read a paped on "The Psychological Significance of Protective Coloration and Mimicry."

Fred Jensen Honored

Fred Jensen a former S. U. I. student has been elected county attorney of Clay county on the democratic ticket. The event of a democrat being elected to county attorney in Clay county is without precedent. Mr. Jensen was the only democrat elected. This popularity is apparent owing to the fact that his opponent in the race for office was the strongest progressive leader in the county.

MOORE'S
THE ORIGINAL NON-LEAKABLE FOUNTAIN PEN
Always ready to write at the first stroke without shaking.
That is a vital point which is lacking in ordinary fountain pens. You can readily understand how this is made possible in a Moore when we explain that the pen when not in use lies submerged in ink which keeps it moist and prepared for instant writing, positively eliminating the necessity of shaking.
But that is not all of its strong features. The Moore can be carried in any position without the least fear of leaking. Has a large ink capacity. Always writes freely and evenly, and is easily filled.
Every Moore Non-Leakable Fountain Pen carries with it the most unconditional guarantee.

ANOTHER COLLEGE ROMANCE CULMINATED

News has just reached university friends of the culmination of another college romance.

The marriage occured the first day of June at the Methodist parsonage at Marion and the parties were, a senior in the liberal arts college and a graduate of the college of medicine last year. Miss Mary Main, daughter of W. F. Main of Iowa Ctiy, member of the Delta Gamma sorority, and senior in the college of liberal arts was married to Dr. J. G. Clapsaddle, interne in the Washington Heights hospital, New York City, a member of the Phi Beta Pi fraternity and a graduate of the college of medicine last year.

Dr. Clapsaddle expected to come to Iowa City Christmas time and the wedding was to be announced then but the news leaked out in a peculiar way. Dr. Clapsaddle underwent a serious operation at the hospital early last fall. Previous to going under the knife he left word that should the result prove fatal or threaten his wife should be notified. He had a sinking spell after the operation and his relatives at Algona were notified, mentioning the fact that his wife had also been told. Thus the Algona papers got hold of the story and thence it speedily traveled to Iowa City.

Dr. Clapsaddle finished his interneship at Christmas time. He is so successful with his work that the hopital desires to keep him as an asistant and instructor. The couple had planned to live in Colorado, but at present it is not known whether the doctor will remain in New York City or not.

Some Comedy

One of the most attractive novelties in the musical comedy line will be seen in LeComte and Fleesher's spectacular musical fantasy, "The Prince of Tonight," in which Tom Arnold will be seen at the Englert theatre next Tuesday evening.

In the first act one of the real features which as an oddity has seldom been equalled is the college song, "Her Eyes are Blue for Yale," sung by Mr. Arnold, and the male chorus. During the solo the chorus men dressed in college attire form the varsity letter of the several important colleges mentioned in the song, and give the college yells with a snap and dash that makes them seem real, instead of in the mimic world.—Adv.
