Mr. Maxwere last year’s calendar of Iowa made its appearance, a success to be regarded as a perfection of work well worthy of being duplicated as it is, to the Iowa engineers.

This issue of the calendar by T. W. C. A. will probably be the best and will certainly be the best. All who have seen the finished product are unanimously figuriung on second for their Christmas gifts. The calendar this year will have, just three times the number of pictures that last year’s issue had; it will have two covers, and the body will be made of old gold leather and fabric with cover of black and gold deep embossed curl in gold making it a beautiful and lasting souvenir.

Junior Prom January 17.

"Elevating a Husband" The eagerly awaited local engagement of Louis Mann is definitely announced. Arrangements just have been concluded whereby the distinguished character actor is to be seen at the Ogden Opera House, Tuesday evening, December 12th. It is anticipated to Mr. Mann’s C.U. to have been numerous and there is little doubt of the strong hold this delinquent actor has on local theatregoers. He is to be seen in "Elevating A Husband", the dramatic comedy by Clara Lipman and Samuel Shipman in which for six successive months he appeared in New York City. During this remarkable engagement, no street was the demand for seats that Mr. Mann occupied in succession four theatres, the Library, the Criterion, the Garrick and the Grand Opera House. This success has been explicated in Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans. St. Louis and in fact in all the cities in which Mr. Mann has been seen during his present tour. His appearance here is in the course of this short preliminary tour, previous to inaugurating the winner’s run at the Chicago Opera House.

In his present vehicle Mr. Mann has been fitted with one of the best roles he has had in recent years and one supplying him with splendid opportunities for the display of those remarkable talents which have made him so immensely popular among discerning playgoers. He is seen as Charles Sample, a young man and ambitious five and ten-cent store merchant of splendid mental culture but a bit unhallowed as an effeminate and "mesmer." Amusing affluence in business fortune fails violently in love with a young and pretty music teacher, fellow-hedge at his humble boarding house. The girl is found enough to manage him, but being of a more refined fiber, she determines after the union she will proceed to "elevate" him. It is in the method she pursues that the humor mission oak; hot water heat, with and interest in the unison she makes of the Western.

A system of time service has been installed to regulate the buildings of the Illinois university campus. The service is furnished from the master clock of the Western Union Telegraph service based at Washington.
