GIVE PRAISE TO EXPLORER ANDERSON

American Museum's Journal contains an appreciative account of the results of the recent Bender-Anderson explorations, the geologic work of which was in charge of Dr. Anderson, who speaks here next Friday as a guest of the university. The combination of exploration and collecting makes a most difficult one, as an account of the necessities of the field the entire work was done in a small tent, good weather being favorable for traveling, interfering with the closer study of the animals of any kind. There were few successes to report, but the important group of bats was secured, and Dr. Anderson has been able to do for shelter on skin tents of tent houses which he and his Expedition abandoned as soon as the snow came.

Four years of life constitute the common rule in the case of bats. The mountains range was crossed when snow was hard and was to be had, and Dr. Anderson has done to...
DEBATE HANDBOOKS
ARE MUCH IN DEMAND

Over Forty Calls Out—To be Held Under Auspices of Forensic League

The debate handbooks will be out by the middle of February, according to Professor Merry. The books will be printed by the H. W. Wilson company, a book-printing concern of Minneapolis.

Already there have been close to fifty applications from high school, college, and university debaters all over Iowa and adjoining states for copies of the Iowa intercollegiate debates, and for this reason the printing of the booklets has been rushed. Iowa's reputation in debate naturally attracts many more inquiries for debates than come to less prominent schools.

The debates will be held under the auspices of the Forensic league, instead of being leased, as would be necessary if they were not printed in book form.

FRANK PALIK TAKES PARTNER IN BUSINESS

My Tailor — Rapidly Pushing to Front—Been in Business Since July

It was announced yesterday that Victor Martin, who several years ago was with Court & Style, and since tailoring in Chicago, has bought an interest in the tailor business of Frank Palik, who styles himself as "My Tailor." Mr. Palik went into the tailor business for himself in this city last July and has rapidly pushed to the front, as an exponent of style and fit in clothes and reasonable prices.

The new firm will assist its customers and friends a prospective new year and seek only a trial to make clothes for the lovers of style and fit.
