New and Modern Wing to be Erected—Preparing for the Greatest Medical College in Middle West.

The newPsychopathic ward which was announced recently will be incorporated in this new wing. This will make the facilities at the state hospital in northwestern Iowa the best west and provide adequately for the extra number of students who will be here from Drake university next fall.

The idea is to have the addition contain as many private rooms as possible, 100 is the maximum, and eliminate the deficiency in the present equipment for students. Students have to be placed in wards owing to the crowding of the building, and the extra number of rooms on the new wing, will permit of less crowding and better accommodations of an individual. The construction will be finished throughout and the plans similar to that of the present buildings. So that the building will be balanced in appearance. The water from the well next door so that the hospital could have pure water, will be piped through the wing.

A novel procedure and plan room will be constructed at the top of the building, on the roof in so to speak. It will differ from the fire rooms on the other wing in that it is not a part of the building proper. The file will be carried upward from the roof of the building until they are about three floors above the flat roof. Then, the windows being cut, the extra room being, a skylight, the roof will be put in. There will be no laboratories in the new addition, as the present rooms were made for the same purpose and for the last wing that was built.

The new water supply will be brought into the hospital for running use next week, the last week of this fall or the first week of next. The heating plant new con-

Mrs. the women's reformatory.

Again we say it: Just think of such an idea and then, in your disgust will set you, over thirty large buildings turned over to this purpose. The most expensive building in the world today is deoted to a women's reformatory.

Iroquois. An unusually large audience greeted Madame Iroquois Ixplorer. The audience was large and the noise was deafening. A rich central voice with a wide range and pleasing modulation, and a true art which is the gift of nature, was heard in the main hall of the music and dance hall.

The audience was charmed with the quintessence of what is called the "Canadian" style. The audience was eager to hear the story of Madame Iroquois and the history of her native land. The audience was charmed with the stories of her youth and her adventures as a singer.

Iroquois was a pixelated image of a woman. The audience was captivated by her beauty and grace. The performance was a success and the audience gave her a standing ovation.

The success of Madame Iroquois has been greatly criticized. The declamation was held up to the audience, and the chorus of scientists from throughout the state will take place in the form of a reception to the noted explorer who is now touring the continent lecturing on his recent discoveries.

Prof. Notting will make an attempt to bring the noted explorer to Iowa City to deliver an address here and in the belief his request will be granted.

BIG INVENTION BY IOWA MAN

While living in Chicago Hospital, Harry L. Ogg Invents New Way of Lighting Auto.

While bedridden in Chicago and Don Moines hospitals suffering from pneumonia which long been thought to be incurable, Harry L. Ogg, of Newton, Invented a new electric lighting system for automobiles, completed a demonstrating model of the device, and now appears to be on a fair way of saving a fortune from the invention.

Mr. Ogg is a graduate of the University of Iowa, class of 1902.

Believing in the virtues of this product of his fancy, Mr. Ogg took his model in Chicago in time for it to be exhibited at the automobile show there. According to letters recently received here by relatives and friends, it seems such a favorably impression that those thousand points now are necessary to supply the demand. Mr. Ogg is now in the postgraduate hospital, Chicago, where the most famous specialist in America is giving him treatment. According to Mr. Ogg's letter, it has reduced his intake for a half percentage that those thousand points now are necessary to supply the demand. The performance of the Drake medical college is to be announced in Iowa City, with the subsequent great increase of patients who will naturally come here, then the old talk about a number of doctors here pooling interests and building a great private university near the city has again been revived. That the moving of the Drake college, will materially increase the number of all clinical patients in Iowa City, but will also greatly assist the hot, so-called medical schools, is assumed, but in short will mean that large hospital facilities will be needed, and so the talk of holding the private emergency for the par class of patients. Under the new regime Iowa City will be the only place in Iowa where a great public medical college is maintained and this fact alone will have a vast influence in bringing here annually hundreds of patients from over the state.
