Two Thousand Cases Admitted to Hospital

Annual Report of University Hospital Shows Increased Proximity

Increase of 128 Patients—Omn. Hend. More Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat Cases—New Wing Raised Capacity to 177 Beds.

Nearly 2,000 cases were admitted to the state university hospital during the year ending June 30, 1912, according to the report received from the hospital. This shows an increase of about 8 per cent, the number last year being 1,791. Of these the great majority were clinical and distributed as follows: Medical, 325; surgical, 504; gynecological, 117, obstetrical 144; eye, ear, nose, and throat, 54. In addition there were 181 unspecified cases. The greatest increase was in the eye, nose, and throat cases, nearly 300 more patients having been admitted this year than during the period from July 1, 1911, to June 30, 1911.

By the erection of the new eye, nose, and throat wing of the hospital, the capacity has been raised to 177 beds, but these will not accommodate all the patients who apply. Plans are now under way for the construction of a new wing, with a basement and two stories, for the further accommodation of the patients. The report of the surveyor's training school and the high school assembly have been published, and, with the hospital, showed an enrollment of 15 graduate and 50 student nurses.

MUSIC IS WRITTEN FOR GREEK CHORUS

Professor Schoettle Composes Melodies for Songs for Which Only Words Are Prescribed

The members of the chorus of the Greek play are hard at work learning the songs and trying to improve the diction which accompanies them. The ancient music has long been lost, but Prof. Gustav Schoettle has set the verses to a beautiful series of his own composition in full sympathy with the old melodies as they are known from several old codecs that have been preserved.

Like the play within the play of "Hamlet," the choral music has now role to play in harmony with the work of the actor. All the members are enthusiastic in their admiration of the main set for them, and are working out their part with great energy. The "Hippityrus" is peculiar among Greek plays, in that it contains double choruses. Prof. Robert Parkerton, as the leader of the chorus of men, and Miss Irene Jones, as leader of the women, have also important speaking parts in the play, which are working out very successfully.

All told, the play promises to be the great dramatic event in the generation of students, and is likely to meet with a cordial reception from a large audience. Greek plays are not frequent and the opportunity for everyone is rare. Some people have not understood that the play is to be given in English.

YOU WILL ENJOY IT

You certainly will be delighted with the Greek Play on Friday evening. The PLAY is thrilling in human interest and will be given in a superb ENGLISH TRANSLATION; the ACTING will be first-class; the SCENERY will be attractive; the MUSIC will be new and charming; the COSTUMES will be beautiful. The full cast numbers about thirty --- the principal parts being played by Professor Merry, Miss Harrison, Miss Willard, Mr. Squepp, Professor Lauer, Miss Mathiesen, Miss Azten, together with a fine chorus of 15 girls led by Miss Jones and a group of huntsmen led by Professor Fullerton. You will be sorry if you miss it.

The box office opens Wednesday, 9:00 A.M.; or you can get your seats further in advance by sending order and check to MANAGER OF GREEK PLAY, IOWA CITY. Reserved seats, 60c, 75c and $1.00.

A NEW FIELD

That should prove very attractive to any one who is fond of chemistry and science is CHEMICAL ENGINEERING.

The great advance in manufacturing processes dependent on chemistry, as gas making, steel making, packing house and canning processes, etc., call for a knowledge of mechanical engineering and chemistry and inventive ability.

The first two the University of Iowa is well equipped to give, and the man who possess all three has many opportunities to secure wealth and reputation.

Letters of inquiry concerning particular features of any of these vocations will be answered by the heads of the various departments concerned.
