TALENTED CAST WILL PRESENT SENIOR PLAY

ALUMNI DINNER TO BE IN LIBRARY

Pitcous at Each Table Will Introduce Old Grads to Each Other

Definite arrangements have been made by H. M. Harwood, secretary of the alumni association, for holding the big alumni dinner today in the library of the hall of natural science, instead of at the usual location in the student center. This reunion event occurs on Tuesday of commencement week.

Book stacks and reading tables will be shifted to the hall of natural science and in their stead will appear tables set for the dinner. The selection of the library is considered fortunate because it leaves more room for speakers, besides being splendidly reserved and quiet. If Harwood is a partner and patroon to peruse at such a table, and see that introductions all around are obtained, then the present assembly can get acquainted and renew their college memories. As an unusually large attendance is anticipated, capacity of the library is filled.

Professor E. L. Musser is in coach, this fast line alone will operate favorably toward the success of the performance, as the place he is coached this year, as well as last year, has not been failed to please on his audience. Professor Musser will begin his work about two weeks before the play is to be given and the practice during that time will be intensive.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Lear saw Warren edition of "The Rivals" tried in Detroit by an all-star company, and has composed it to a playing in the coaching giving sections from notes taken at Detroit. You will note the special scenery for which the payment is making elaborate preparation.

Professor Howard Anderson, who is in charge of this year's senior play, sending out letters to alumni in Iowa parts of the state and instances toward a record-breaking attendance as this is the first time play to be staged in the new State. As in former years the play

CAFENTS WILL NOT CAMP THIS YEAR

Failure of Government to Provide
Tents in Cause—Every Attempt

Ends For Enterprise

There will be no military camp this year for the cadet regiment of the University. For the past six years the bar-soldiers have marched valiantly forth each spring such a parade with a display of miniatures and sham-battloe for their grand; and they have returned to the sparse bitters and aching sunburns for the remaining weeks of school. But no such joy is in store for the cadets this year, as the red man—there are no tents.

Lind Hoffmann has exhausted the possibilities of appeals to the state legislature and to the U. S. War department, but no tents are forthcoming. A letter was received some time ago from Mr. H. M. Harwood, secretary of the Rival Society, stating that owing to the expense incurred in shiping tents to and from Iowa City, it has decided to abandon the idea of a cadet camp in the future.

B. F. J. SCRAUB TO GO TO NORTHWESTERN

From Iowa Department of Philosophy to be Head at Northwestern

Dr. E. L. Musser of the department of philosophy at the university has accepted a position as head of the department of philosophy at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., for the coming year. Friends in the city will be sorry to hear of his departure, but are glad of the prospect which is coming to him. He has been the teacher of Prof. Starbuck for the past year while the letter has been on a leave of absence in the east.

AN INTERESTING PROFESSION

It is a profession of many branches, as telephone engineering, telegraph engineering, power-plant engineering, etc., etc.

The University of Iowa has a splendid new building for physics and electrical engineering and an excellent equipment for teaching this profession. Its graduates are now doing some of the most important work that is being done in the country, and there are more openings than graduates to fill them.

Letters of inquiry concerning particular features of any of these vocations will be answered by the various departments concerned.
