AUDIENCE NOTICE

The first meeting and rehearsal of the University orchestra will take place at the new headquarters of the university, spent work this fall, and will continue at Fort Des Moines.
CONVOCATION

This morning at ten o'clock the Fifty-seventh annual convocation will be held in the Business School auditorium. It is the duty of every student in the university to be present. For over half a century this annual gathering of the students of the state university of Iowa has taken place.

Memories of this annual convocation linger in the minds of thousands of U. I. graduates and old students. Is one of those who take part in the official opening of the academic year of the state university of Iowa?

YOUR ACQUAINTANCE

How many men and women in the university do you know? Does your acquaintance extend beyond your hearing house, your classroom, or your club or fraternity? Every student of the state University of Iowa should ask himself that question. The students and alumni of this institution have for many years prided themselves over the democratic spirit existing here. It is true that the larger the student body becomes, the farther away the line is drawn. As the numbers increase there are proportionately fewer opportunities to acquire a general acquaintance outside the campus. Is this fact your fault or the fault of the men and women of the university to meet and become acquainted with each other? Can you be so foolish as to say, "I have never even seen the inside of the high school and a few, and they were few, university men could not get support from their classmates in the work."

It is probable that some university men in all faith worked to show the "freshmen" a good time but the work that is carried on by the town riffraff and high school boys should be stopped. If the high school men wish to help with the initiation of first year men they may do so but when the leaders of the gag and the larger per cent of them are not in the university, Iowa men should take it upon themselves to set the Iowa people know that they are not needed to assist the university.

It is highly significant that not many years ago a crowd of high school men, after a big Iowa game, worked their way into two picture shows and one of the men said afterward that the university men would be blamed anyway and they might as well in good time.
