Hawkeye Board of Editors announced

THIRTY-SIX JUNIORS APPOINTED TO HAVE CHARGE OF ANNUAL FOR COMING YEAR

Grads Department Added to Book--To Have Fifty More Pages and Larger Pages--Editors Not Assigned to Departments

Editor-in-Chief Verne Folei', Business Manager C. E. Brooker yesterday announced the staff of the 1933 Hawkeyes. Thirty-six men and women of the junior class will have charge of the different departments of the annual, they were chosen from among the most prominent inter- ests and organizations of the university as possible.

An innovation was made in the Hawkeye yearbook. The members of the staff were not assigned to particular departments, and no distinctions were made as to the position of the member. The men were simply enunciated as the editorial and art staff, and the work will be assigned according to the ability and taste of members and will be under the supervision of the editor-in-chief and business manager.

This is the largest staff ever appointed to the Hawkeye by the university as possible. It was thought necessary in view of the increased number of students and the extra size of the book to be issued. The 1933 Hawkeyes will contain more pages than the annuals of the last two or three years. Each page will be one and a quarter sizes.

 Though the curriculum of the university aims to emphasize the personal element in instructing the individual, Mr. Buchholz, a student in this college and an instructor in the political science department, will have charge of ed-

BIGGEST MEET YET PLANNED FOR TUESDAY

University of Chicago invites students to Visit Club While at Game--Dinners and Dance May Be Used to Raise Funds to Start.

Pictures of the Michigan Union, the Reynolds clubs at the university of Chicago, and other student buildings at midle were universities will be shown before the Iowa union mass meeting to be held Tuesday evening in the natural science auditorium, at 7 o'clock.

Through the kindness of John W. Currill, director of the department of geology, special sides are being arranged for the meeting. Both interiors and exteriors of the Reynolds club will be shown. They will be explained by Gordon Richardson, a student in the university's geology department, who will appear at the Iowa-Chicago football game last perty while in Chicago to attend the Iowa-Chicago football game.

A special invitation was extended to the Iowa students in a letter which was received by Prof. Robert Reiss, assistant dean of men, from the university of Michigan. Reiss extended the invitation to the committee which met Thursday to draw up the program for the meeting next Tuesday evening and said that they would accept the invitation and visit the club. The views of the student clubs houses in other universities was valuable to the men upon graduation for the experienced men can point out many things of especial importance that might go unnoticed by the novices.

The engineering college of the university aims to emphasize the personal element in instructing the individual. Mr. Buchholz, a student in this college and an instructor in the political science department, will have charge of ed-

The eighth number of the Iowa Historical Quarterly, the official organ of the State Historical Society, is now off the press. The volume consists of the life of James Harlan, United States senator from Iowa from 1845 to 1851 and from 1867 to 1872, and secretary of the Interior in President Lincoln's cabinet. Its author is Mr. Johnson-Stichman, author of several books on Iowa history and several magazine articles. Mr. Brigham was at one time editor of the Cedar Rapids Republican and Sunner and editor of the short-lived Midland Monthly which was published at Des Moines.

In size, paper, and binding the volume is similar to the already published numbers of the series. It consists of 244 pages with a production of Prof. Benjamin P. Shamburger, editor of the series. The frontispiece is an excellent portrait of the subject of the biography. In the editor's introduction Prof. Shamburger says of the career of James Harlan, "It stands as a perfect exemplification of the history of Iowa as a state and offers a cross-sectional view of the momentous years of slavery agitation, war and reconstruction. According to the author's statement in preface, the biography is based principally upon "The Antebellumiana Manuscripts and Papers which James Harlan himself prepared and arranged." This consists of 12 volumes. In these thousands of pages are quoted and compiled diaries, journals, letters written and letters received, and speeches and addresses. Through the able work of Mr. Robert T. Lynds, daughter of Mr. Harlan, these were used by Mr. Brigham.

The life of Mr. Harlan is from his birth on March 5, 1819, in August 26, 1829 to his death at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, Oct. 5, 1893...
Foster will speak on extension work

EXPERTS TO COME TO UNIVERSITY WITH NO CONTEST

NEW DEPARTMENT

In President of Hard College in Oregon—One of the Youngest College Presidents in the United States—spoke at Uppers.

William H. Foster, president of Reed of Oregon, will be the speaker at an “Extension Program” to be held at the university, November 14. President Foster has won a reputation as an excellent analyst of extension problems.

On this day the extension department at the state university will be climaxcd. A program of events is designed to impress the visitors at the university, homesickness and the student body with the values of extension services will be given. Other features will be announced later.

President Foster has an unique record. He is one of the youngest living presidents of the United States. The founder of the college gave him three million dollars to spend. As a result, all the buildings have been built from the ground up. A portion of this money has been expended in extension and in the future the university will be a model.

How this accomplishment will be told is by President Foster.

Two years ago President Foster described the vacant spaces where there had been a district a fashionable impression.

“Our extension department is starting to work,” President James G. Boylan yesterday, “We have laid the foundation for a great service to the people of Iowa. The details will be thoroughly outlined on November 14.”
