TENNIS OUTLOOK

ALMOST HOPELESS

The courts have not been in shape to play off throughout the season. New courts may be ready for the players by next spring—hopes of Graduate and Undergraduate Tournaments Planned For the spring work.

According to the present outlook the tennis tournament has little chance of being played this fall. The daily freezing and thawing kept the courts soft and muddy. The present warm weather would dry them quickly if it were not for the fact that they are situated directly north of the armory where it is almost impossible for the sun to strike them. Thus for the first round has been finished. One more round, the semifinals, and the finals remain to be played. Mr. Van der Zee had intended to arrange for a double series and for an undergraduate series but these will now be postponed until next spring when it is possible that a new court may be ready.

About three years ago a large quantity of cinders were hauled into the vacant space at the south end of the athletic field to prepare the foundation of a new set of tennis courts but at the last moment it was decided that the place was too far from the armory to be convenient. Consequently the idea was abandoned. A plan to put the new courts east of the present set was then proposed. As this is a direct encroachment on the military department and as that institution is also short of space, that idea was also rejected.

Finally a suggestion was made to locate them at the foot of the hill west of the hall of astronomy. A new difficulty arises here also. The land has a very decided slope to the eastward and a large amount of grading would have to be done in order to get them on any semblance of level. Mr. Fiske, the superintendent of grounds and buildings says that grading may possibly be done this fall in order to allow the clay to settle by next spring but it is extremely doubtful. Just at present there seems to be little hope that any immediate action will be taken to pave the way to greater achievements in the field of tennis.

Mr. R. E. Master, Purdue, '12, spent the week-end at the Theta Xi house.

W. H. Schwab, A. B. '14, spent the week-end at his home in Waup Talk. Miss Josephine Thiesen and Miss Mae Brinkman were initiated into Alpha Chi Omega last Monday. Miss Kathleen Kennedy visited over Sunday in Marshalltown with an aunt. She also met her mother there.

The regular meeting of the Baconian club will be held in the physics lecture room, Friday evening at 7:30. Doctor Chase will read a paper entitled, "Medical Inspection of Schools." It is also quite probable that the new wireless set which the university recently received, will be fully set up and in operation at the time of the exhibit. It will be a strange sensation to be standing beside a machine which is talking out all over the world and which is making a speech at Washington. If you want to see the original history of your own country, and in history of your ownership corner, you will see the writing that is inside the room, that the machine is printing, and you can have the message taken the next hour—just as you do it.

If you want to see a man talk to the United States up and down the country, it could not be easier. It is quite feasible to sell a man's message at $1500.

In addition, a complete miniature of a model street lighting system will be shown to the visitors. This will show the progress made for many years by the home, "Municipal street lighting is a thing that is attracting much attention over the scale just now and on the whole the exhibit will prove very instructive to those who see it.

AUDITORIUM WILL BE USED FOR PRODUCTION

Philippean-October play to be produced there: Thanksgiving

Manager Gabrielson announces date and place of the societies are willing to make to start to use new facilities.

The Philippean and Colcure Theatre societies have taken the initiative in putting on a play in the auditorium. Their play is dated for Thursday November 26, one week from next Friday. Manager Guy Gabrielson said yesterday, "The audience as it is now, and the publicity by the play producers, however, we are wishing to make the experiment and thus hope to aid the movement for a university stage. If following the theatre stage could be remodeled so as to be a thoroughly modern stage without detracting from the room's beauty in a concert and assembly hall. Our play has many difficulties in stage presentation, but I think we can overcome them successfully. Some special additions have to be made to the campus; and the university, but we shall make them, of general nature to permit of their use by others.
