Town Clyde 6:40—On Saturday Light Signal Dent Was Engaged by In Town—Coachess Afraid of Over-Confidence.

As a reward for their meritorious performances last Saturday, Coach Hawkeye did not require the maximum amount of work from the signals' boys being employed. After a short talk on the secrets of the team plan which came to him in the Jr-ior game, a light signal practice test held after which the men were dismissed.

Work in preparation for Ames begins today with a vivid sense of the importance of the game. Many work is in a characteristic feature of the Iowa football practice from now on.

Saturday's game with the Borderers presents in a decided sense the effort of the training methods in evidence under Trainer Jack Watson. Only once was taken because of work which must be done in the in case of a continued disability. This was in decided occasion to the time taken by the Hawkeyes who seemed to be under-some work as regards their physical condition.

At present, the coaching staff is working on the big boys over bag of cereals which passes in between two Iowa fields. Hawkeye and his assistants are doing their best to

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

"What does \['Val de Vire\' mean?"

This question has been asked many times since the name of the entertainment went Saturday evening was announced.

The word, vauville, is a corruption of \['Val de Vire\, or in old French \['Vaire de Vire\, which was the name of the valley of Oliver Basselin. A Norman poet.

Basselin was the founder of a certain class of comical songs, which he called after the name of his own valley. These songs are the basis of modern vauville.

\[For the \"Variety Val de Vire\" were held yesterday afternoon in the natural science auditorium, and at the conclusion seven all-star acts were announced as the program for Saturday night. This would include a pleasing variety of song,

At Brown's American
George Klein's Photo Drama
The Last Days of Pompeii A MASSIVE PRODUCTION IN 6 REELS

This picture has been hailed as a master effort greater even than George Kleins famous eight reel production of "Quo Vadis."

Through the beautiful, ideal, sumptuous City of Pompeii, following closely the course of a love tale styf然而, Lord Lytton's mighty story sweeps us up to scenes of almost superhuman power.

The destruction of Pompeii—the mad struggle of thousands amidst a ball of flaming cinders and blasts of flame—the falling of great pillars—the collision of temples—makes one feel that his ears ring with the shrieks of the terror-maddened multitudes of the ancient city. This story, adapted from Hamilton's celebrated novel, again demonstrates the wonderful artistic qualities of the foreign producer and displays a marvellous stagecraft.

The acting of principal players is unusually finished and clever, particularly among the women. Among the leading artists who appear are Signora Lina Lombardia as Petronia, as Greta, the blind flower girl; Signor Francesco Tintori as Agrippa, as the handsome Attilius; Signor Francesco Schellini as Stratonicus; Signora Maria Bologh, as the Sorceress; Signo. Ubaldo Mantoni, as Lucius; Signor Vittorio de Stefano as Othello; Sig. Antonio Grisanti, as Aretius; Sig. Gian Carini, as Apelles; Sig. Forte Williams, as Silla, and Sig. Cesare Zocchi, as Bardo. In addition there were a host of other players as gladiators, senators, marines, soldiers of society, etc.
