INJURIES ARE NOW BOtherING COACHES

NED POSITION AND IN WOUD RESULT OF SATURDAY'S GAME IS KNOWN

Our observation in Four Corners, Ann. Tow, known for fighting spirit—Many Old Guys Coming Back to Help Team.

Having recovered some degree from the hard knocks which fell to their last defeat, Hawkeye's coaching staff a half hour before the freshest yesterday was remarkable for its serenity. The clerical error which occurred in this fact, because the very fact that there is such a game which it appears "to some extent, with that same, but not so obviously presented by the big fellow. Carberry has a bad side, remember. It will be a bad time, but we hope to make it a good one.

Dawson's hip, which was not healed up, is the one game in the Iowa's game is still giving him trouble. These unfamiliar disabilities, coming as they do, upon the eve of an important game have a tendency to cause the coaches to do some rearranging late at night. Hamilton has been selected by Hawkeye to hold himself in reserve for a heavy call to go at the filling line at either of the wing positions. His wide experience and his most valuable, as at that time. All members of the staff will be on the job at that time. All members of the staff will be on the job at that time.

A special bulletin will be issued during the week which will contain statistics and points of information for the men of the college. Professor Fleming, Ford, Young and Dodge have given their students free rein to do their own labors and cooperate to put up a larger and better exhibit than ever. Nearly all of the twenty thousand dollars worth of new equipment will be up to operation during a time, as much equipment made by the students themselves during the last hour. Professor Fleming will return to make the affair popular in appeal, and as representative of the college's activities as possible.

PROFESSOR SHINKE'S RETURNS

Professor Dr. Shinke has just returned from a trip in the northern part of the state where he has been giving the course in rare varieties of oats to be found in that region. Iowa is recommended for the many varieties of oats taken in his borders and Professor Shinke has planted some of these in the city park.

KINGSTON TO SPEAK

O. E. Kingston, chief of the bureau of municipal information, will speak before the next meeting of the alumni association. This club is composed partly of students and partly of townpeople and makes a study of political and social conditions.

We will cross the work of the university Iowa extension service.

SEE AMERICA FIRST SAY ENGINEERS

INTERESTING ALUMNI SECTION IN HAWKEYE

The engineers have a new slogan. It's nothing about Mississippi or St. Patrick, or any of their relatives, rather it is "See America First." They come from the air frequented to those who would visit other countries in search of amusement or interesting things. The people, they claim, does "See America first" on the principle that there is just as much interest in the home country as in any foreign country. It will be a great feature at the end of the week. They have a feeling that a lot is more prominent in the political world, as Governor Clarke, Judge Wade and C. A. Fleming, the alumni who have become prominent in the political world, as Governor Clarke, Judge Wade and C. A. Fleming, the alumni who have become prominent in the political world as well.

The homing of the regulars will be the first creation on which orders for the book will be taken. "For alumni only" is the announcement, which means that subscriptions will be accepted only from alumni at that time. All members of the staff will take orders and for this purpose will be stationed in every college of the university, at the alumni headquarters and other central places. Members of the freshmen have already sent in an Old Gold badge to "Hawkeye" and there won't be an alumni who orders a copy of the book before the book is open to alumni at that time.

With every order each alumnus will be asked to deposit the sum of fifty cents. A receipt will be given for the money collected. The order book will be in the office of the management to be paid on delivery. The price of the book, as usual, will be $1.50 for the leather. Orders will be taken of students two or three weeks later from the freshmen who are interested at the time of the announcement. It is planned to have the book out about May 1, and if the present cooperation of the students is as good as the past, it will be easily done. The special hot lunch Friday was an enjoyable affair. The members of the staff for more correctly, the check so made, the goods, and plans for the book.

An important meeting of the staff, including the editors and managers of the different college papers will be held Thursday night at 7:30 in the office of the Hawkeye.

HOMECOMING WORK IS DONE BY COMMITTEES

PREPARATIONS FOR THE IOWA-AMES GAME ARE BEING ARRANGED

The alumni department of the 1875 Hawkeyes will be more complete and representative than ever, say the managers of the junior annual. As usual, they will be made to take a picture of all the alumni present at the big Iowa- Ames game Saturday night and other pictures of old student groups will be made at the time. One new feature will be the special accounts of alumni who have become prominent in the political world as well. Governor Clarke, Judge Wade and C. A. BEN GREEN PLAYERS
REVIVE SHAKESPEARE

Shakespeare to be Shown in True Light by Famous Organization of Players

A great deal of interest was manifested yesterday in the Ben Green players' project to present amusement lovers here that sparkling and entertaining Shakespearean classic "The Comedy of Errors." The seed was sown yesterday morning.

Ben Green, the organizer and trainer of this company in the pictures, is revising the stage effects and play customs of the Elizabethan age. For twenty years he has been giving open air performances in England and for nine years in America. It is considered today, one of the greatest living English dramatists, and has succeeded not only in correctly reproducing the play customs originally adapted but has ensured the boys and wholesome humor that so popularizes Shakespeare as to make it highly enjoyable in the people generally.

There has been a wonderful revival of Shakespeare in late and there is no doubt that this is largely due to the influence of Ben Green and his scientific work in presenting the plays in such fashion as to make them truly enjoyable.

The Ben Green players have depicted the most critical audience of the great classics and have played before the king of England and on the White House grounds at Washington, D.C. Everywhere they have inspired a new interest in the plays and corrected false impressions as to the native popularity of the modish of dramatic art as set forth by the immortal Shakespeare.

Other Groups Waiting to Visit Re­quested to Notify Engineers

Delegates to the two conventions to be held in the city at the time of the homecoming, the Southern Methodist students' conventions and the national convention of the Catholic Students of America, will be shown over the engineers' exhibit by Special Request, the first on Friday afternoon and the second Monday morn­ing. The engineers will hold open house Friday afternoon and Saturday to all visitors, whether they came alone or in groups.

Any other groups of students, alumni, or volunteers, who would like to go over the exhibit in a body in charge of special guides, will cheer­fully offer a favor on the Associated Students if they will please the engineer­ing building in advance, announcing their intentions. Extra guides will then be provided for the occasion especially.

All Lutherans and Evangelical students are cordially invited to attend the meeting of the Lutheran club at 8:30 o'clock in close hall.

DISTANCE RUNNERS WORKING IN EARNEST

Wasson Putting Men Through Severe Training—Cold Weather No Breakback

Jack Watson, Iowa's able coach, has begun to push the cross-country squad forward in dead earnest and will continue to do so until the meet takes place on varsity Friday. Until now he has been somewhat fearful of the raw condition of the man and has been rather conservative in his demands on their strength, but now the work is being pushed forward regardless of the consequences knowing well that they will be able to stand the strain.

The cold weather not only is no hindrance to the men but is an added incentive to attain high speed. In view of the fact that the squad is rounding into shape beautifully, the trainer is wearing the smile that won't come off and expresses his belief that it will be able to hold its own in the coming meet. As there is now little danger of over-exertion to be anticipated all anxiety and care are flung to the winds while a spirit of confidence pervades the ranks of the Hawkeyes.

WEATHER STILL CONTINUES BAD FOR TENNIS GAMES

Tournament May Be Abandoned for Fall if Conditions Remain Same

In spite of the warm weather of the past few days the tennis courts have not dried sufficiently to permit the holding of the annual tournament. Some few enthusiasts devoted of ping pong have been playing during the last week but those scheduled failed to take advantage of the sun and postponed their matches until more favorable conditions prevail. According to present indications there is very little likelihood of tournament being finished this fall.

On account of the course being unsatisfactory north of the armory the son is unable to reach them and consequently they remain muddy long after the rest of the campus has dried. Several suggestions for the location of the courts have been made but some of them have proven satisfactory. The location that nearest approaches the need of this sport department is at the foot of the hill west of the dental building where a considerable amount of grading work has been done in order to level the ground sufficiently to meet the requirements of a tennis court. Just what will be done next year is unknown.

UNIVERSITY STAGE WILL RAISE TONE OF DRAMA HERE
University Persons Prominent in Dramatic Work State Views on Question

That the creation of a university stage will improve the standard of amateur plays in Iowa is the latest argument of the present situation. This statement came from those of Iowa's faculty who are most prominent in the advancement of dramatics.

Professor Hunt of the English department feels that a stage as propitiously of the university will inevitably raise the tone of amateur dramatics. He is well pleased with the plans that students are now preparing to put on. But it should be the aim to strive for better dramatic standards he asserts. With rental price obstructed, and all necessary accessories to a successful production are to be had, money can be paid toward results on first class works of real fame and historic merit.

Professor Glenn M. Merry of the public speaking department, regards a university theatre a valuable adjunct to the property of the state. He is in favor of a place where good dramatics and large spectacular productions may be presented.

Miss Norma Harrison, instructor in public speaking and drama, feels a possibility of such being taught in the university if there were a well outfitted stage at hand to be used, could result if the wanting the plays were better accentuated at an outdoor stage work in practice.

Here anchor and the aggressiveness was the subject of much commendation from the stand. In addition to the troubles at the end positions,.

There is a growing sentiment around the campus that the Aggies should be in a more dominant role in the Iowa class. Unfortunately, overconfidence has been the cause of blasted hopes and has spelled of the mood to smite more than one coach contact. Saturday's game will be far from a pleasure juncture. The Aggies have rounded into form at a better than the battle shown promise of being much closer than the hooters hope for. It is a matter of tradition
