UNION ELECTION TO START WEDNESDAY

SUCH WORK AND LITTLE HONOR IS GIVEN OF OFFICERS SAYS PRESIDENT RPIEU

So Party Lines Developed—Election Will be Carried in Regular Manner—Yet Vote for Men To Become Members

The first election for the officers of the Iowa Union will be held for offices from 8 in the morning until 8 in the afternoon of the last day of the session. Ballots will be furnished the voters and every- thing will be carried on in first class election order. The election board will be in charge of competent and non-partisan officials.

There is but one ticket in the field. Twice as many men have signed the cards as expected; it is said that there are no party lines which enter into the contest at any time. It is the idea of these men that the one candidate that best shall hold the positions. According to President Rpieu, who kindly released his sentiments before the members of the freshman class, there is little honor and a great deal of work and responsibility to those down the hill. The idea of those ground in the rear of the engineering building and then carried Freshmen: (R) Loretta Lane. (L) Helen W. L. E. Dodd

DEATH OF FATHER OF LEONARD RACKER BUTORZ

Racker to Return Same Time at the End of the Week to Resume Debate Practice

University people were shocked yesterday on receiving the news of the death of Leonard Racker's father. He died Sunday after a short illness.

It was thought at first, when word was received of his illness that the trouble was not serious but events rapidly took a turn for the worse and the hopes of relatives and friends were soon disappointed. This will prevent Racker's return to debating activities till the end of the week or the beginning of next term.

HAWKEYE CLUB MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Hawkeye Club next Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 8 o'clock in the furnace room. The committee on constitution which was appointed at the last meeting, will report. Representatives from each college are requested to be present to vote on the report.

ENGINESKILL ENHANCED IN ARCH

Professor R. J. Lambert Furbished the Design to Students for the Structure—The Applied Science students found occasion for the exercise of their ingenuity in the erection of their arch over Washington street Thursday afternoon and Friday. To get an adequate lodgment to stay yet and sufficiently well designed to look neat was rather a difficult problem. To get the thing up in the air after being made was another thing that caused some trouble. The students solicited a design for their arch, which was given by Professor Lambert in charge of structural engineering, and this he obligingly furnished. Professor Lambert's wide experience in the making of bridges and other structural works enabled him to get out a suitable design in shorter time and one better fitted for the purpose. This was what the students themselves could have arranged.

The arch was put together on the ground in the rear of the engineering building and then carried Freshmen: (R) Loretta Lane. (L) Helen W. L. E. Dodd

STUDENT IS ROBBED AT THEATRE DOOR

Sophomore relieved of Pocket book and Change in Time Honored

While entering a local show house last Saturday evening, Ray C. Founs- tain, sophomore, was robbed of the contents of his pocket book. There was a large crowd at the entrance and no one noticed the thief. Two men felt their ways within on either side of poor Ray and at the finish the pocket book was on the floor. He released his hold. This slight loss is a common occurrence, but Ray Fount's students seem to feel that the two men were working together. The police are work- ing on the case but no new clues have been discovered.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT
Ance colors as well as Old Gold were wound around the arch of the engineers at the top of the hill last day. This is only another of the many indications that prove that the right spirit is alive. Although some of the old college classrooms were the center of a big fight with fames as the objective point the fight is over and the past forgotten.

The Crimson wound with the Old Gold plainly showed that there was no malice in the hearts of the applied science students. This is the true Iowa spirit, the spirit that will forge ahead and build here one of the greatest universities in the middle west.

THAT ATHLETIC BOARD
When the huskies have worn out their hamstrings and the smoke of battle has cleared away there is one thing that stands out paramount to the average student mind. That one thing is the fact that the athletic board did everything in its power to accommodate the immense crew of homecomings last Saturday. When the first storm of ticket buyers had come and gone on that memorable Monday morning of November 19 the task of providing seats for the large and unexpected crowd seemed a thankless task. Each and every student seemed to have a special grievance which would not be satisfied until things had been torn from their foundations and radical changes made at all costs. We are happy to say that this criticism was not manifest on the part of all the students but it was on the part of a large minority.

And it was in the face of all this criticism that Manager Kelling went to work with a will. Substantial blankets which lay seats were built immediately at every possible place on the entire field until when the first vehicle sounded for the great game practically everybody had made an attempt to get a seat before the last minute had been provided with seats. Certainly from an athletic manager who will come to the rescue in time of need.

NATIONAL TYPISTS ASSOCIATION
Just received this letter from the National Typists Association:

To the rescue like Kelling did at the Ance game the student body has reason to hope for a radical change that will take care of these as big or bigger in the future.

Iowa jiu jitsu has ever yet been presented on an Iowa field. Of course the work of the line can not be discounted because it is the forward wall which makes it possible, by opening up holes for the backs to pull off some of their most spectacular plays. The most prominent factor in the victories of Iowa this fall and unless Nebraska can devise some method of holding the Iowa speed merchants Iowa will add another scalp to its belt next Saturday.

According to the final computations of the athletic department, the total attendance at the Ames-Iowa game was eight thousand three hundred. This is by far the largest audience that ever witnessed a football game in Iowa and by far the largest crowd ever assembled on Iowa field. Not only were all the reserved seats filled but six hundred box seats were sold and all of the general admission seats were filled to overflowing. In addition to this practically every available square foot of ground from which a glimpse of the game could be obtained was impressed into service by the enthusiastic roars of Iowa fans.

The Japanese students of the university presented an interesting program Saturday night. This was the first of the national night entertainments staged yearly by the different sections of the Cosmopolitan club. An increased attendance of Japanese students made possible a fuller and more interesting program than has ever yet been presented on this occasion. Six participants succeeded in charming their audience with highly instructive scenes from their national life.
