Fighting to the last ditch, Iowa had the superior weight and strength of Nebraska, and the game was going down in defeat, with colors flying. In the last quarter, Iowa made the most of their superior weight and strength, and now the game was over. The big Cornhusker line was unable to break through the Nebraska primary defense, led by the Cornhuskers. Thus, in time, the Cornhuskers buried themselves into the carried ranks of the Scarlet and Blue, only to be crushed by earthy greater weight.

HANDBOOK ISSUED SOON

The seventh annual handbook of the forensic league is now on the press and will probably be issued in a few days. It contains the program of the league for the coming year, the names of the officers of the league for the coming year, and much of the history of the league.

Wouldn't You?

In all seriousness I would just about as soon go down to your war-light, dirty, nasty, sticky pair of "anti-suits" socks and wear them as to my best girl as to rent an old worn-out, second-hand, good-for-nothing rustlebag of a typewriter. As a matter of fact, I believe I'd prefer a warbelt in the warbelt.

But Iowa lumps are not in the sec-around handsocks class. No, indeed. Neither do you have to rent an old worn-out, hands, has-been, "easy" socks and wear them as to

There's another kind, and it costs no more. Phone 10x any time.

By the time of the Biology Club meeting Friday evening, Mr. Dayton Underwood had organized the "Coaching Trip to the Canadian Pacific Coast." Mr. Underwood is a graduate student working for his doctorate in biology and had been sent to the Canadian biological station.

"It is the largest of the three biological stations supported by the Canadian government. The director is a Swiss, Dr. Werner, and he is planning to have an interesting program at the beginning of the year." Dr. Underwood assisted Mr. Underwood in the collection. They had gathered samples for the university. Dr. Underwood stated that, in fact, the station is less than three per cent utilized.

Mr. Underwood also mentioned that the man and his wife were brought back by Dr. Underwood.

MORTALITY RATES IN EXTENSION BUREAU'S LATEST

To Investigate Cause of Deaths Among Infants in the State of Iowa.

How many babies die in Iowa? Why do they die?

To answer these two questions the bureau of mental hygiene in the extension bureau is conducting a statewide investigation, according to the announcement made yesterday by Mr. Ralph E. Hellman, chief of the bureau.

Representative sections of the state are being set aside. which are typical of every grade of mortality. Here surveys will be made and comprehensive data gathered which shall be used later to make a "Here and There" campaign effective.

"In the first place we will try to find out the ratio of the babies who die before their first birthday to the babies born," said Mr. Hellman, yesterday. "This is to be accomplished by the Bureau of Vital Statistics in districts which are typical of the state as a whole. We will learn information of how the babies die, the sensational in the home, and we will probe other contributing factors. With this information we can then plan a campaign of education. The theory is sound that much of the loss of life is preventable."

Throughout the United States about one in five every four babies born dies before his first birthday. The bureau of social welfare in Washington will cooperate with the universities in the surveys to be completed in this state.

STAFF WORK ON PANKHURST

A rehearsal of "Pankhurst" in strange affair. Few people are acquainted with the controversial work of a stage by a musical production unit of the United States. The act is taken part in such an event. And no less than three per cent of the student body ever participate in any aspects of this nature in a unique interest.

The first meetings are always marked by a feeling of restraint. The members come during spring in the little groups. Once inside the large studio, everyone is set and laboriously proceed to follow the individual more with one eye and the scenic gesticulations of the leader's balance with the others. Some harmony is noticed as a feeling of voice. But joy is short lived, either a base strikes a false note, the accent comes in too fast or the alto comes too slow. Or it may be that the tenors do not sing at all. Thus the leader wisely and parts must be discarded, the trouble produced.

The first two meetings are about the leader of the alto may have tried all the choruses and the principal role is to lead in their individual roles.
