Contract Now Closed For His A

ouncement by the University on

January 22

The contract for the appearance of Alfred Noyes, the well-known Irish poet, at the Iowa City commercial club, Friday, January 22 has been closed by his New York manager. He has been assured only public opinion effect and to the fine of a series of noted literary men among the Iowa City literary club is extending its invitation to Noyes to come to Iowa City from time to time.

Mr. Noyes is probably the most noted member of that far so grand but still so new beginning, is probably the most popular English poet and in the unique distinction of having a work both critically and popularly approved.

He is also known to be a good reader, and will be asked to read selections from his own works to give one of his lectures.

It is interesting to note that in poet's wife is an American lady, Mrs. United States was, in fact, the first country to which has virtual supremacy his native land. On his first trip just past year he was everywhere greeted with enthusiastic and on this year trip has made it a point of speaking at the most noted educational institutions of the country.
