UNION MEMBERS TO MIX TONIGHT

First Mixer in New Quarters to Be Given Tonight—Foote's Band to Play

Foote's Tango band is to furnish the music tonight when the formal evening entertainment is new opened. Everything is in readiness for a big celebration, and the union is to move in the new building of the union. All are invited to attend the mixer, whether members of the union or not, to learn of the joys and benefits of the new building.

Of late men have taken to congregating about the quarters in the evening and there have been lively gatherings and lots of tipple music. The union is becoming a social center in this true sense, and the window of the new apartments is becoming more evident every day.

No definite program has been arranged for this first evening except the music by the famous band, but the committee is authority for the statement that there will be some things other than music and perhaps some other forms of entertainment.

Food at cost will be provided as has been the case at the last two mixers, and the new building has proven very popular as it enables the union to come out even on the proposition and the fellows would rather pay their ten cents for their food with the rest of the men than go to one of the restaurants after the celebration.

The new president takes up work today and has been marked by a serious change. As early as Aug. 4, 1913, he announced his intention of stepping down to take a short trip to the east, and the more uncommon coins of some other countries will be found on the slides statement that there will be some school was said, to see every department of the school shown, and never the evening and work does not only possible, but excellent.

The girls' Macbride Women's League today, April 29, 1913, presented Mr. Farran Zerbe, Associate Professor in the Department of Classical Studies in Rome. He has been a trustee of the New England Archaeological Association, and also of the Archaeological Institute of America. In 1913 he published "A First Latin Book," and three years later he was the joint author with J. E. Bouchier of "The Elements of Latin." He has also written various articles on classical subjects.

Professor Moore spent the month of March in lecturing at Grinnell college, and during the month of April at Knox College, Galena, Illinois.

Phi Beta Kappa is an honorary society with chapters in all the leading colleges and universities of the country. Members are elected on the basis of high scholarship. Providing Professor Moore's lecture at the university the committee on invitation and program, will be held.

A story with a strong moral—one you can’t afford to miss

The students at Iowa State University have been divided over the issue of child labor. The university had been hosting meetings to discuss the problem and the state labor committee was scheduled to meet on Saturday, April 11. The speakers at the meetings were Professor R. McKitrick of the Philosophy Department and Professor H. Lewis of the Economics Department. The meetings were open to the public and all university students were invited to attend.

The meetings were being held in the state labor committee's office at the university, and they were expected to cover a wide range of topics, including educational and vocational training in child labor. The meetings were scheduled for 8:00 o'clock at 113 liberal arts hall.

The county. This social worker, paid by the county and backed by county authority co-operates with the county charitable institutions.

H. R. Hollingsworth, secretary for the associated charity work of Des Moines, spoke at eleven o'clock. He told of the work in that city using some statistical and illustrative charts in describing the work, and proved that organised charity is far better than the old-fashioned informal manner of helping the needy. He said that the cost of helping the poor in America was very high, but not with the new method. He said that we could have a country taxed to the seemingly impossible sum of $100,000,000, and that one out of every thirty in the United States is dependent on charity. He said that the present number of 80,000 tramps in this country would soon be increased to 1,400,000 if people did not quit feeding and otherwise giving them their help, for hop-harvest giving was worse than to do. He also showed that internecine drinking is responsible for 25 per cent of the cases of poverty, and that tuberculosis was responsible for 10 per cent. He defined charity as the application of business principles to relief. In explaining the work at Des Moines he said that investigations were made after relief had been given, and that the association would find out whether they did the poor any better than the old methods. One of the main results of the work is that the capital, or course, is the employment forms which has been of great help in caring for the poor of the city. The program for today follows:

10:08 A. M. -- Address by R. E. Hopkins of Sioux City, on Vocational Protection Work in Sioux City.

11:10 A. M. -- Address by A. S. Hollingsworth of Des Moines, on Vocational Guidance, Room 219, Boston Vocational Bureau.

4:30 P. M. -- Conference on National Guilds, Room 218, led by Mr. Meyer Bloomfield of the Boston Vocational Bureau.

4:40 P. M. -- Address by M. E. Morse of Bloomfield on Vocational Guidance, Room 218, National Guilds, "Legal Aspects of Welfare Work."

The board of governors of the men's union at Minnesota will make a new plan for to look over plans for a new building which is to be built as soon as possible.
