The eight week club will be discussed:

Y. W. C. A. People Are to Discuss the Possibility of New Organization Among Those of Rural Districts

On Wednesday evening the Y. W. C. A. are to have a discussion of the eight weeks club. This is a small organization whereby the college girls, especially the ones who live in small towns and rural districts, may help the girls in their own communities. Mary Bowlby would like to do this work and has said she will help the community. Perhaps others who are interested will say such an hour seems to be putting it too strongly to say the month has begun.

Classes could be arranged, but we have been doing this work for the last two weeks. The eight week club brings the girls of a neighborhood together to study, to do things, to have a good time and to help the community. Perhaps the same thing can be done for two people who are in the same place.

The members of the club will be the leaders of one of these clubs and carry back some of the inspiration she has received to college.

The eight week club brings the boys of a neighborhood together to study, to do things, to have a good time and to help the community. Perhaps the same thing can not be done for any two places.

Jesse Wilson Sayer says of this movement: "We all know the food of the nation comes from the country and that new mechanism and power that comes from direct control with few objects are the even more important contributions of our country places in our nation. The more the boys and girls of the rural districts express the latent powers within them as their own initiative and effort, the more timely will we as a strong and wise and righteous.

At the close of the meeting those who have been doing this work in the summer will be given the opportunity to discuss the subject together. Later a training class will be organized.

They taught the dogs and killed the rats. The six hundred acre college campus with its dozen attractive lecture halls is one of the few trained minds at one of the leading spots of the land of cherry blossoms. The students of this department, it seems to me, are expected to discover themselves. They are guided and directed in their historical and theoretical studies; but for the most part they are left free to apply their knowledge to the solution of present-day problems.”

Dr. Stato expressed his admiration for President Macbride. The Board of Regents stated that he held the new president of the State University of Iowa in high regard for his scholarship and administrative efficiency.

Iowa Loses Hard Game to Chicago

DES JARDINES PITCHES STELLAR GAME FOR VISITORS—ONLY ONE MAN MAKES FIRST IMPRESSION

Scored by 8 to 6 Filled Up Against the Home Team—Great Hopes in Ninth Inning Were Spoiled in Short Time

University of Chicago diamond partners staged a twentieth century version of the "real, vital, pit" tag first person of the late Mr. J. C. Cusker, when they gained a rather hollow victory over the Hawkeyes, Friday afternoon, by a score of 8 to 6. Indeed, livery Des Jardines, 24 caret athlete, appearing on the mound for the Maroons by pitching a hit no hit, no run game, won the right to have his picture hung in the annals of immortals. The quality of hitting done by the big Maroon can easily be judged by the fact that the base runners on Norgren's stuff of McConnell's fast throw. For single and two-three innings, the Hawkeyes bashed the other, popped weekly to the infield, or drove an occasional high fly to the outer gardens.

The Chigagoites, on their part, showed no such unfamiliarity with the harmless. Lasko, who started on the hill for Iowa, was pounded up for two runs in the Maroon first frame. McConnell was given a free ticket and then promptly stole second. Harger singled to right and the role of pinch hitter, hit one to left. Harger scored. Grey bounced out, but Des Jardien ended the inning and the game by striking out Norgren and scoring ahead of him. Grey singled over second. Bohm was given free transportation. Grey was caught stealing third but Libonati saved the side to be retired by grounder out Gross to Haskell. Chicago added another visitor to the count. Before the ball would be brought back, the Chicago man was roosting upon third. Gray whiffed. In the ninth a small smudge was shown to Des Jardine's hitherto spotless record. After Baird and Ingham were given a free ticket and Norgren drove a long one to center, the base runners on Norgren's glove and thereby hangs the tale. The Hawkeye jubilation was but short lived however, for lass ended the inning and the game by swinging.
