A campaign was launched to improve Iowa's criminal justice system, led by Governor Shortly to be inaugurated. The campaign was to be held in the state capital, Des Moines, on the steps of the capitol building. The campaign will run through the month of July and will include a series of public meetings, debates, and town hall events. The campaign is being led by Governor Shortly, who is running for re-election this year.

The campaign will focus on issues such as police reform, criminal justice reform, and the fight against mass incarceration. Governor Shortly has stated that the campaign will be a key part of his platform, and he has pledged to work with the legislature to pass meaningful reforms.

In addition to the public meetings, Governor Shortly will be holding a series of roundtable discussions with criminal justice experts and stakeholders. The goal of these discussions is to hear from those on the front lines of the justice system and to learn from their experiences.

The campaign will also include a series of advertising efforts, including TV and radio spots, social media ads, and targeted outreach to key constituencies. The campaign will be funded through contributions from individuals and organizations that support Governor Shortly's vision for a fair and just criminal justice system.

The campaign will be launched on July 1st, and Governor Shortly will be available for interviews and media appearances leading up to the event. The campaign will be a critical part of Governor Shortly's re-election bid, and he is committed to making meaningful progress on behalf of Iowa's criminal justice system.

SUGGESTIONS FOR REFORM:

1. Reform the bail system to ensure that individuals are not held in jail simply because they cannot afford to post bail.
2. Increase funding for community-based alternatives to incarceration, such as drug treatment programs and mental health services.
3. Implement evidence-based sentencing guidelines that take into account the unique circumstances of each case.
4. Expand access to legal representation for low-income individuals who cannot afford an attorney.
5. Create a statewide system of restorative justice to replace the current system of retribution.

Governor Shortly has stated that these reforms are necessary to address the systemic problems that have led to mass incarceration in Iowa. He has pledged to work with the legislature to pass these reforms and to ensure that they are implemented effectively.

The Iowa Coalition for Criminal Justice Reform has also launched a parallel campaign, which includes a series of public events and a legal challenge to the state's bail system. The coalition is seeking to bring attention to the issue of mass incarceration and to push for meaningful reforms.
The Big Savings In Ready-to-wear Apparel Continues At YETTER’S ANNEX TODAY AND ALL THIS WEEK

Come to The Big Store Come to The Big Store’s Annex AND SAVE

The Old Capitol
Lighting struck the Old Capitol building Sunday evening. The people of Iowa may be surprised to find that the historic old structure is standing today. If lightning strikes again it may not be so fortunate for the state and for the state of Iowa.

We can consider ourselves lucky that the old building did not go up in smoke the other evening as it is said that there was a fire start in the Old Capitol, there is little that could stop it. A certain member of the historic building for a few years ago that she would like to see money appropriated to make the old building fireproof. She said that the interior of the building should be reconstructed of fire-proof material and the old stone facing removed to prevent further deterioration.

That was a good suggestion. When that old structure is gone it cannot be reconstructed. Iowa will have only one capitol building in the state and the Iowa and the university of Iowa possess a building which is architecturally perfect. When that old structure is gone it will be very much a loss to the people of Iowa. The Iowa and the university of Iowa should have pride enough to preserve for all time a building which for grace, simplicity and ease cannot be excelled.

THE DEER MEET
The Hawkeyes were overawed, last Saturday in their dual meet with Drake. Let us not be disheartened by such a score. Anyone on this state of Iowa is a worthy opponent. The people of Iowa and the university of Iowa possess a building which is architecturally perfect. When that old structure is gone it will be very much a loss to the people of Iowa. The Iowa and the university of Iowa should have pride enough to preserve for all time a building which for grace, simplicity and ease cannot be excelled.

THE DEER MEET
The Hawkeyes were overawed, last Saturday in their dual meet with Drake. Let us not be disheartened by such a score. Anyone on this state of Iowa is a worthy opponent. The people of Iowa and the university of Iowa possess a building which is architecturally perfect. When that old structure is gone it will be very much a loss to the people of Iowa. The Iowa and the university of Iowa should have pride enough to preserve for all time a building which for grace, simplicity and ease cannot be excelled.

THE DEER MEET
The Hawkeyes were overawed, last Saturday in their dual meet with Drake. Let us not be disheartened by such a score. Anyone on this state of Iowa is a worthy opponent. The people of Iowa and the university of Iowa possess a building which is architecturally perfect. When that old structure is gone it will be very much a loss to the people of Iowa. The Iowa and the university of Iowa should have pride enough to preserve for all time a building which for grace, simplicity and ease cannot be excelled.
NEW IDEA FOR DOUBLE GYM

Jacobsen, of 416 5 2 1 0
Hansen, 23 4 1 0 1 0
Snyder, M. H. 2 1 1 0 0
Heath, 7 6 7
Eason, 1 2 0 7 0 1
Buresh, 1 0 6 0 0 1
Sorvelding, 6 3 0 10 1
Leaves, 2 1 0 1 4

Total: 29 4 2 11 7 2

COE: ALL H. R. P. A. E.
Page, 15 2 0 1 1 1
Bates, 2 1 1 0 0 1
Butler, of 2 1 0 1 0
Park, 2 0 0 1 0
Palmer, of 3 2 0 1 0
Dunlap, 2 0 0 0 1
Gough, of 2 0 0 0 0

Summary--Two base hits, Palmer, Heath, 2. Snyder. Reck out by Lane, 1; by Dunlap, 4. Bases on balls, off Leaves, 1; off Dunlap, 2. Umpires, Bathehelter.

PHILADELPHIA DELTA
10; PSI OMEGA 7

The first game of the Professional Fraternity League was played Black Sprigs and resulted in a victory for the Phi Alpha Delta over the Psi Omega's. Houghton was in the box for the batters and after the second inning had the batters at his mercy, holding them runless. Phi Alpha Delta won the game in the ninth inning by brushing both batters with the Psi Omega's errors.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
P.A.D. 3 2 6-10
Psi Omega 4 2 0 6-2 2

Batteries, Houghton and Herringham; Qualey, Orr and Cauth. Umpires, Benson and Shum.

Six weeks over four years in school was the name of Northwestern's N. O. L. contestant being deferred insurance.

TO THE CANDIDATE FOR A DEGREE

We have again secured the exclusive agency of the E. R. Moore Caps and Gowns of Chicago.

Come in and see the samples now on display, and also leave your order.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

TRIANGLE CLUB HOLDS IT'S ANNUAL BANQUET

The numbers of the Triangle Club of the university faculty organization hold their annual dinner Saturday at the club rooms in the state bank building. A splendid course dinner was served, after which the following toast program was carried out, carried by Fred. L. Park as toast master. The main topic of the toast was "the future from different points of view." The several speakers gave these point of view from their own profession. As the Philosopher Sees it--Mr. Perry. As the Man in Education Sees it--Mr. Jessup. As the Professor Sees it--Mr. Dunn. As the Man in Law Sees it--Mr. Dunn. As the Man in Politics and History Sees it--Mr. Cather. As the President Sees it--Mr. Macbride.

DEAN KLINKENBORG ENTERS

Believing that the Junior girls of the university would be thoroughly thrilled to enjoy a compliment in the way of a campus breakfest Dean Klinkenborg acted as host to the entire junior class girls. The morning found the girls with the sun shining bright and the sun shining forth in all its glory. It was a time never to be forgotten by the girls.

DELTA SIGMA CHI ENTERTAINS

Believing that the Junior girls of the university would be thoroughly thrilled to enjoy a compliment in the way of a campus breakfest Dean Klinkenborg acted as host to the entire junior class girls. The morning found the girls with the sun shining bright and the sun shining forth in all its glory. It was a time never to be forgotten by the girls.

WASHED IN NINE WATERS

We wash and rinse your clothes through NINE WATERS. Elbow-four of these blinding waters too. Besides, we use a more neutral soap that will not injure the finest fabrics. Then, we use a good wash in a contraduc- tural dryer so as not to tear them, and iron them with gas- heated irons that simply cannot aber. Your clothes come back to you CLEAN and WHOLE.

Phone us your name and ad- dress. We call and deliver.

New Process Laundry Company
Tel. No. 204

THE CAFETERIA

Try It
218 E. College

EVERYTHING HOME COOKED

MEAL TICKETS

Encourage the Men Trying for the Track Team

Gridiron, Field and Floor

Get Behind That Baseball Team
When nature accords beauty of proportion, has a gentle undulating abdominal curve. “This line is beautiful,” said Houdini, the World’s most famous sculptor, “for true nature is always beautiful.”

Dries, the most noted fashion artist of the day, in his drawing, portrays the woman of fashion in an attitude that betrays an unmannered abstraction. Models of Prolet frost front-line corsets which are designed for the slender and average figure, not only give modified prominence to the beautiful abdominal curve, but also to the actual arch; another work of nature, the beauty of which is hidden by back-laced corsets. Allow us to fit you with a Proletrost.

Very Special Values at $3.50 AND $5.00 Ask to see the New Tango Proletrost Front Laced Corset—Extra values at $6.50 AND The New Lyra Tango Front Laced Corset—A Marvelous value, at each $3.50

FRATERNITY GAMES
In one of the best interfraternity games of the year Kappa Sigma defeated Sigma Chi 4 to 3 at Black Springs Sunday morning. Wright pitched good ball but received poor support. Few for the winners struck out thirteen men in seven innings and scored the winning run himself on a wild throw by McNeil. Betties Ives and Deans, Wright and McNeil.

Houghton pitched Phil Alpha Delta to victory over Phi Omega 10 to 7. The game was leisurely played but was a tie until the sixth inning. The Alpha Delta Delta plated up three runs. Batties: Houghton and Shiverding; Ort and Cobb.

Java Union Intercollegiate Hop Saturday night, May 16th.

STOCK GREAT SUCCESS TO THEODORE THOMAS
Mr. Stock to Lead Chicago Symphony Orchestra
May 21

There was much conjecture after the death of Mr. Theodore Thomas, January 3, 1905, as to who should succeed to the conductorship of his great orchestra and at the great concert of the world was supposed at one time or another, to the music the concertgoers were going on without any break, under the leadership of Frederick Rock, who had been assistant to Mr. Thomas for five years before his death. Only a few, who were in a position to know, realized that this brilliant young musician, at that time only thirty-three years of age, was already a great conductor and one who was carrying on the work. The audiences must be musical and vocal critics, however, were not soon in discovering the fact that Mr. Stock was the unanimous choice of the Trustees of the orchestral association, and was formally elected to the conductorship on action which met with the hearty approval of the orchestra’s large following in the home city.

Mr. Stock was born in Jafft, German, on November 11, 1872, the son of a bandmaster in the German army. Under him he began his musical studies, entered the Conservatory of Music forty years ago, at age, was graduated as a violinist, and then took up seriously the study of theory and composition under Engelbert Humperdink, Heinrich Boeller, Cieslav Jensen and Franz Wolfen.

In 1895 he came to America and became a member of the Chicago Orchestra. Mr. Stock has written a considerable number of works in the larger forms—opera, symphonic poems, a set of symphonic variations which have been repeatedly played in Chicago, and for which he has received many honors, and his operetta, "The Princess and the Pea" is a favorite of the public.

The death of Mr. Theodore Thomas has meant the marriage of his annual picnic at Black Springs Friday afternoon. In addition to the fourteen members of the class there were about fifty students, friends, and parents. The picnic was held at the home of C. D. Waterman, who was the host. Misses Irene and Belva, the Mis.

Stock's annual picnic.

SEALED WITH A KISS
John Hoppers dead.

"If music be the food of love, play on: Give me excess of it: that surfeiting, The appetite may sicken, and so die. That strain again—it had a dying fall: O! it came o'er my ear like the sweet south. That Breathes upon the hark of violets, Stealing, and giving about."—Twelfth Night

The sweetest and most harmonious of all sweet music is that of a well-modulated full orchestra played upon by a master musician. The harps, the horns, the clarinets, the violins melt their dotes tunes into one balanced melodic strain that swells and sinks, now gay, now grave, now tender, now tempestuous, in answer to the deepest emotions of the soul.

And when the music is produced by such a company as the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, with its sixty instruments, each played by a master, and all blended together by the consummate skill of such a conductor as Frederic Stock! Like it? Of course you will like it. "Like" is a feeble word. You will love it. Its power will hold on you as nothing else can.

Decide this moment that you will take advantage of the rare opportunity to hear this great orchestra in the two Grand concerts of May 21st, and that this is the last week of the special price, $2.50 for a season ticket. Think of it! A rate of $1.25 to hear the Theodore Orchestra. You often throw away more on trifles.

To be wise, and get your season tickets today at Weisels’.

STOCK GREAT SUCCESS TO THEODORE THOMAS
Mr. Stock to Lead Chicago Symphony Orchestra
May 21

There was much conjecture after the death of Mr. Theodore Thomas, January 3, 1905, as to who should succeed to the conductorship of his great orchestra and at the great concert of the world was supposed at one time or another, to the music the concertgoers were going on without any break, under the leadership of Frederick Rock, who had been assistant to Mr. Thomas for five years before his death. Only a few, who were in a position to know, realized that this brilliant young musician, at that time only thirty-three years of age, was already a great conductor and one who was carrying on the work. The audiences must be musical and vocal critics, however, were not soon in discovering the fact that Mr. Stock was the unanimous choice of the Trustees of the orchestral association, and was formally elected to the conductorship on action which met with the hearty approval of the orchestra’s large following in the home city.

Mr. Stock was born in Jafft, German, on November 11, 1872, the son of a bandmaster in the German army. Under him he began his musical studies, entered the Conservatory of Music forty years ago, at age, was graduated as a violinist, and then took up seriously the study of theory and composition under Engelbert Humperdink, Heinrich Boeller, Cieslav Jensen and Franz Wolfen.

In 1895 he came to America and became a member of the Chicago Orchestra. Mr. Stock has written a considerable number of works in the larger forms—opera, symphonic poems, a set of symphonic variations which have been repeatedly played in Chicago, and for which he has received many honors, and his operetta, "The Princess and the Pea" is a favorite of the public.

The death of Mr. Theodore Thomas has meant the marriage of his annual picnic at Black Springs Friday afternoon. In addition to the fourteen members of the class there were about fifty students, friends, and parents. The picnic was held at the home of C. D. Waterman, who was the host. Misses Irene and Belva, the Mis.

Stock's annual picnic.

SEALED WITH A KISS
John Hoppers dead.

"If music be the food of love, play on: Give me excess of it: that surfeiting, The appetite may sicken, and so die. That strain again—it had a dying fall: O! it came o'er my ear like the sweet south. That Breathes upon the hark of violets, Stealing, and giving about."—Twelfth Night

The sweetest and most harmonious of all sweet music is that of a well-modulated full orchestra played upon by a master musician. The harps, the horns, the clarinets, the violins melt their dotes tunes into one balanced melodic strain that swells and sinks, now gay, now grave, now tender, now tempestuous, in answer to the deepest emotions of the soul.

And when the music is produced by such a company as the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, with its sixty instruments, each played by a master, and all blended together by the consummate skill of such a conductor as Frederic Stock! Like it? Of course you will like it. "Like" is a feeble word. You will love it. Its power will hold on you as nothing else can.

Decide this moment that you will take advantage of the rare opportunity to hear this great orchestra in the two Grand concerts of May 21st, and that this is the last week of the special price, $2.50 for a season ticket. Think of it! A rate of $1.25 to hear the Theodore Orchestra. You often throw away more on trifles.

To be wise, and get your season tickets today at Weisels’.

STOCK GREAT SUCCESS TO THEODORE THOMAS
Mr. Stock to Lead Chicago Symphony Orchestra
May 21

There was much conjecture after the death of Mr. Theodore Thomas, January 3, 1905, as to who should succeed to the conductorship of his great orchestra and at the great concert of the world was supposed at one time or another, to the music the concertgoers were going on without any break, under the leadership of Frederick Rock, who had been assistant to Mr. Thomas for five years before his death. Only a few, who were in a position to know, realized that this brilliant young musician, at that time only thirty-three years of age, was already a great conductor and one who was carrying on the work. The audiences must be musical and vocal critics, however, were not soon in discovering the fact that Mr. Stock was the unanimous choice of the Trustees of the orchestral association, and was formally elected to the conductorship on action which met with the hearty approval of the orchestra’s large following in the home city.

Mr. Stock was born in Jafft, German, on November 11, 1872, the son of a bandmaster in the German army. Under him he began his musical studies, entered the Conservatory of Music forty years ago, at age, was graduated as a violinist, and then took up seriously the study of theory and composition under Engelbert Humperdink, Heinrich Boeller, Cieslav Jensen and Franz Wolfen.

In 1895 he came to America and became a member of the Chicago Orchestra. Mr. Stock has written a considerable number of works in the larger forms—opera, symphonic poems, a set of symphonic variations which have been repeatedly played in Chicago, and for which he has received many honors, and his operetta, "The Princess and the Pea" is a favorite of the public.

The death of Mr. Theodore Thomas has meant the marriage of his annual picnic at Black Springs Friday afternoon. In addition to the fourteen members of the class there were about fifty students, friends, and parents. The picnic was held at the home of C. D. Waterman, who was the host. Misses Irene and Belva, the Mis.

Stock's annual picnic.