C. R. Scovelige, Proprietor and Manager.

606 Youngmana Bldg. Des Moines, Ia.
Mr. Pilkgton dwelt throughout his speech on the character of the people connected with the sale of goods. He pleaded for living wages that would bring more efficient men and women into the field as clerks and assistants in the business world. He scored the man who dragged his employee down to a pitiable because he earned more for the sale of more than humanity. He spoke on the character of the clerk. He said that the services of merchandisers should be just as good as that the merchandisers (itself) really key up with modern business. He closed by saying that modern business was looking in the direction of good men and women as well as good merchandisers.

Following Mr. Pilkgton’s speech, Professor Waller, spoke on advertising and its connection with the retailer. He gave an analysis of the retail advertising illustrating it with lantern slides of advertising clipped from various sources. In those lantern slides of advertising clippings he pointed out the errors of different appeals to the reader and how they might be worked out. He ended by saying that the scientific side of retail advertising.

Last night was given to the address of Dr. T. W. Black, of the Marshall College. "Getting the Business". Mr. Norris is a practical and entertaining speaker and a successful man. Following his address, of the extension department, gave a discourse on "The City Beautiful", using President Macbride’s lantern slides, the president being unable to fill the engagement. Following the evening program in the liberal arts assembly room, the Iowa City Commercial club gave a smoker in the club room at the beginning of the business men and professional men attended.

All sessions of the conference are open to the public. Following is the list of speakers:

Fred W. H. Jones, Cincinnati; William G. Raywood, president.

“Iowa’s Springtide,” presented with the orchestra. Mr. Jones is the president of the University.

The sweetest and most harmonious of all sweet music is that of a well-modulated full orchestra played up on by a master musician. The harps, the horns, the flutes, the clarinets, the violins melt their dulcet tones into one balanced melodious strain that swells and sinks, now gay, now grave, now tender, now tempestuous, in answer to the deepest emotions of the soul.

And when the music is produced by such a company as the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, with its sixty instruments, each played by a master, and all blended together by the consummate skill of such a conductor as Frederick Stock! Like it? Of course you will like it. "Like" is a feeble word. You will love it. Its power can get hold of you as nothing else can.

Decide this moment that you will take advantage of the rare opportunity to hear this great orchestra in the two grand concerts of May 21st. And remember that this is the last week of the special price, $2.50 for a season ticket. Think of it! A rate of $2.50 to hear the Thomas Orchestra. You often throw away more on trifles.

FIRST BETTER BLITZ SHOW IN IOWA CITY NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Two Hats Win First Prizes in the Different Classifications—Prominent Women and Physicians are Interested in the Conference

Entrees for the "Better Baby Show" are already being received by Mrs. Charlie Baker, the organizer for the first annual Child Welfare Conference and Exhibit, which is to be held at the Commercial club rooms in Iowa City Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31.

This morning the executive committee in charge of the conference stated that prizes will be awarded to the ten babies that win the first places in the different classifications. It is expected that this announcement will result in a large number of additional entries in the next few days.

There are classes for the contestants on babies between one and two years of age, and between two and three years of age—those being separate classifications for the boys and girls. There will be similar divisions for the Iowa babies, and in addition, there will be classes for those in which any baby between 15 and 24 months old may be entered for the private, non-competitive examination.

To promote "better baby" action is the main aim of this conference, and every baby that enters the contest will receive a direct benefit, because the store card will show the mother where the child is up to the standard of the nation. It is expected that the author of the first score card, Dr. Margaret Clark, of Waterloo, will be present to act as a judge, and also Dr. Lena Mason, of Des Moines. It is probable that two of Dr. Florence Brown Sherbon, of Collins and Mrs. Mary T. in Iowa City, will also be present.
