IMPORTANT CHANGE IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

NEW DEPARTMENT CREATED WITH PROFESSOR MERRILL AS HEAD

Senior Play Is in Popular Drama

The success of "Pillars of Society," the play which was given by the senior players Monday evening of commencement week, is an exception to the majority of the seniors' dramas in that it appeals to the people in general in regard to its interesting plot and strong dramatic situations.

Formerly the prominent feature of the play, the "pillar of society," in its native Iowa town; his leading features were his model home and his integrity. But this pillar of integrity was chosen as professor and today this reputation upon this insecure foundation rests upon this student, for its foundation the treachery and hypocrisy of his youth. In the end his sweet courtship is succeeded by the heavy part of his absence. He gives this character a tributary to his brother-in-law, the sour-hearted youth. THE E. A. EVANS SHOWS

The E. A. Evans Shows, playing in the city this week are attracting considerable attention. While they do not claim to be the largest of the best shows that have appeared here, they claim to be among the finest that ever appeared here.

The city officials have endorsed their attractions, which speaks highly for the productions.

Among the attractions is the rodeo, this is attracting favorable comment from every one who has witnessed the dare devil riding on the famous percussion, circular track. The exhibition is a combination of skill and daring. One of their favorite stunts is the act where one man stands on the shoulders of another while going at a high rate of speed on the track.

Professor Edwin D. Starbuck, who takes up his work in the university again next fall, will offer a new course entitled "The Philosophy of Evolution." 2. Students of the biological sciences who care to see how the author- ities of men as Haeckel and Hertwig can, without compromising, square themselves with the facts of observation and the life of the spirit.

SUMMER SESSION
IS IN THE SUBJECT

From June 21 to July 31, is the time of the summer session of the State University. Already there are indications that all previous attendance records will be broken. More public school teachers will come to the university this summer than ever before. The offering of courses in domestic science, in the teaching of agriculture and home economics has attracted a large number here. It is understood that the school board of Burlington has offered an increment of $4.00 per month in the wages of the teachers, who take a six weeks course during the summer. This, it is understood, is what other schools of the state are doing. This action on the part of the pub-

Do You Want to Earn $50.00 A Week Every Week This Summer?

You can do it, and some of you can make more than this amount each week. You can do it in Northern Iowa, Southern South Dakota and Minnesota, where the demand is great for our Seed Corn Dryers. You can make your own deliveries, if you wish, or you can merely take orders and we will make all deliveries direct to the farmer in the fall, paying you on the orders as they are received.

The demand is great for this proposition in Northern corn growing territory. We have reduced the retail price of this dryer to one dollar. It was advertised in all the farm papers extensively last fall at $3.50, spending several thousand dollars in this publicity work. Last year the men sold from 20 to 30 per day, the average sale being five to a customer, as the capacity of each dryer is 200 ears and most farmers wish to save 1000 ears for seed.

At the reduced price the men should sell from 40 to 50 dryers daily making an average sale of six dryers to each customer. This is a practical proposition that will make the farmer money. The farmer wants it and will thank you for calling; thus making it a pleasant proposition to sell.
