Strandings. Put Up Unexpected Fight During First Real Schermaanage

Walter T. Hoy, 36th, Fitled With Strong Mm

Second String Doing Good Work

Yesterday afternoon in the first real scrimmage of the year the freshmen put up an unexpected fight. Hoy's men were unable to punch the opposing threat for twenty minutes and could score for three. The second string scored in seven minutes when the first team fumbled a punt, but were unable to score for twenty-five minutes more during which their own goal line was crossed. The second string was then scored upon Hawley's third string in fifteen minutes of play.

The victory showed up fairly well for the first scrimmage of the year and in spite of the tight game there by the freshmen, it was another good game than the results indicate.

Cros, Willis, Persons, Donaldson and Parzno composed the first string backed and Donaldson later fell for the second string. Barton at quarter showed up well but when Lamon, Davis and McKeone were the shining light for Van Meter's men. Persons was especially good on defense once backing up the line and stepping down by.Wardness in open field. Lamon was the most consistent running back for the Iowa City men and McKeone scored three touchdowns. Britton and Persons ran the team well and, although not first, best the good place.

Though Cornell scored a 26-0 victory over Cornell Wednesday and a new minor game was played Friday at the start of the football season resulted yesterday. The reports furnished exclusively in the Iowa City bureau were paused last night at Brown's Smoke Shop.

New Change Made at Vespers Today

Dr. Steiner Speaks at Vespers Today

“The True Neutrality” is the subject of the Address by the Rev.

Cornelius Professor

Dr. E. A. Steiner, S.J., President of the University, will address the students and faculties of the university in the assembly at 6 p.m. today, in the first of the monthly vesper services for the year, in the subject of “The True Neutrality.” In this Dr. Steiner has completed an interesting essay in which he will address the students and faculties of the university in the assembly at 6 p.m. today. In the first of the monthly vesper services for the year, in the subject of “The True Neutrality.”

President Macbride and the military committee have just adjourned the change of uniforms as proposed by Lieutenant General Pitman. The change was recommended by the General as the only way to make the sheepskin uniforms of the Iowa University company satisfactory and a representative will be here in a few weeks to make the modifications for the cadets. The new uniforms are the drab drab service uniform and consist of wool coat and trousers, canvas cap and canvas leggins.

The advantage of the change is shown by the Lieutenant's statement: "The old uniforms are a great nuisance and are considerable expensive and will take the place of the new uniforms, which are made in the best possible manner and are better than the old ones."

The new uniforms will cost $15.00 or about the same as the old ones. Where they are found to be unsuitable they will be exchanged for others which are more suitable.

UNITED STATES HISTORY
SHOWN BY GRAPHIC METHOD

"An extremely ingenious as well as accurate method of teaching the history of the country," is the ver-due of David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Leland stanford university, regarding Alterman's new visible system of teaching United States history, a prospectus of which has reached the office of the Iowan.

By use of colored diagrams, pictures and graphs the remarkable chart portrays the history of our country. Causes and effects of political development, the laws that have shaped the economic growth of the United States are shown in their exact correlation with every important event of American history.

Particularly interesting is the colored diagram exhibiting the rise, growth and division in the political parties, large and small. This is carried along with diagrams and data of other movements and events, as that the interrelations of political, economic and industrial history are made evident to the eye at a glance.

The chart greatly facilitates the intelligent teaching of American government and history and is recommended by eminent educators and authorities everywhere.

PHYSICAL EXAMES. ARE PROGRESSING

Over fifty Freshmen Examined At

16 Each Day

With over fifty students already examined, and with others following at the rate of 20 a day, the physical training requirements of every freshman entering the university will probably be completed this year by the second week in October.

The examinations include, among the main things, tests of the strength of the students, their height, weight, and other bodily measurements. The more are also carefully examined for any heart trouble, tuberculosis, or similar diseases, at the same time the measurements are taken.

Physical director E. G. Schröder, thus far, has found that the majority of men examined are neither above nor below average in measurements of physical strength. This year, the students are more typical of the average that has been found in preceding years, although this 1910, which has ten examined, thus far, may not prove to be representative of the entire freshman class.

The women's examinations have not progressed quite as far as the men's, but will probably be completed during the coming month.

One of the purposes of the physical examinations, as required of every freshman, is the better and more uniform development of the student, removing of any weaknesses and the turning out of not only well-developed men and women, but physical standards, as well.

When each student is looked over by the statistician, exercises, and requirements are given him, to help him strengthen any weakness, and build himself up all around. Those who register in the physical training classes receive the training in an even larger degree, and the result, both physical and mental, will be a decided advantage in any line of life one may enter.

UNIVERSITY WISE

Because Germany produces more chemists than any other country in the world, there are many colleges and universities over the country that are suffering from want of chemists necessary to supply the labor market. The increased demand for these chemists in the commercial world has caused a demand, and the price of the course of the chemists has increased. The state university has no fortune in securing its supply before the war broke out. The fact, the university's yearly supply is no longer sufficient to cover the increased Atlantic demand, and the university's fortune in securing its supply before the war broke out. BIG INCREASE IN HOME ECONOMICS
New Department To Be Popular—More Rooms Will Be Needed Soon

The department of home economics was established only last year at the University of Iowa and the registration has exceeded all the expectations of not only Miss Wardell but the university administration.

The work of instruction was strengthened this year by the election of Miss Helen Bremer and Miss Gertrude Tucker. Miss Bremer will have charge of the work in textiles; house decoration, furnishing and checking. Her preparation is unusual. She was graduated from Teachers' College at Columbia University, and has taught in that institution. Previous to that time she had been a member of the faculty of Milwaukee University. Miss Tucker is thoroughly prepared for her position by her training at Ohio State University.

PUBLIC SPEAKING ASSEMBLIES TO OPEN IN NOVEMBER

The public speaking assemblies held the last Friday of each month for the benefit of the students of the department, will open this year in November with a recital by Miss Alice Sullivan of the department. The second assembly will probably be given by Professor C. H. Badley of the Commonwealth School of Oratory. The other programs have not yet been arranged for, but there will probably be one or two men of national reputation, in addition to numerous student recitals and perhaps a play by the class in acting. Admission to these is free to all.

LETHBRAN RECEPSON

The English Lutheran church held a reception for the students of the university last evening in the church.

FIRST LITERARY RECEPTION GIVEN OUT INVITATION

On account of the inadequate room in which the addresses of the students of the literary societies could be secured, the committee in charge of the joint literary reception have this evening extended an invitation to all members of the class. The meeting will be held on Tuesday evening at the armory at 8:30.

MOTOR RACES TO BE HELD THURSDAY

These men, who have raced here before, are confident that they will be able to pull down some good money. Among those who are familiar with the local track, and who know business, are the driver of the Burke 'Bear Cub', and the sorcerer. In the race held more than a year ago, the little "Bear Cub" succeeded in badly trimming the Sorcerer. These two races with the same drivers will furnish excitement of the keenest sort next Thursday.

Hunt drove second in the leguege of his right ankle in the serious Thursday evening. He has been playing right half back on the sound variety squad and will be unable to practice for about two weeks.
