Why We Can Sell
Clothes So Cheaply?

Our ads in the local papers—quoting prices as Suits and Gents' Furnishings at nearly half the ordinary prices—has often raised the question in the minds of the readers of how we sell so cheaply.

This is the reason—we have a high rent to pay—other clothiers must pay from two to three times more rent. We have no expensive fixtures—others have thousands of dollars invested in machinery. We have no high priced clerks—our competitors pay hundreds of dollars a month in clerk hire.

In merchandising, the customer must pay the original cost of the article plus the cost of doing business, plus a profit to the retailer.

We buy just as good merchandising but our cost of doing business is only a fraction of our competitors'. Hence we can sell for nearly half as much as simple. Not just better it think over and decide to buy your clothes where "the cost of doing business is lowest."

Iowa Union Dance Saturday evening

Second of University Dances for the Year to be Held at Armory Saturday

The second Iowa Union dance of the year for university students is to be held on Saturday evening at the university armory as the busiest attended earlier this week. It has been thought wise to change the dances from Friday to Saturday evening, as other entertainments then interfere under the old system. Last year, these dances were attended by scores of university students, who took advantage of this opening for social recreation. In this way the Union filled a want which was felt by many who did not have the social opportunities of some of the university students. Here, the dance are given at cost prices they proved immensely popular.

The first dance this year, which was given a few weeks ago and for the dancers that had been anticipated, but with no football game event, it is looking to make up the deficit on Saturday night that was incurred at the first dance.

Fredon's two band will furnish the music on a small and will have an assortment of the latest pieces which to keep the floor in the voice of the favorite art. The floor will be put in good shape before the event entertainment and everything possible will be done to give the students a good time.
