For some years Iowa has been somewhat of a haven for the taxidermy hobbyist. Iowa is sometimes called the "hunting and gathering center of the United States." The collection of birds is considered one of the finest in the nation, and the Iowa Natural History Museum is one of the largest in the world.

The Iowa Natural History Museum is housed in a beautiful building on the campus of the University of Iowa in Iowa City. The museum contains a variety of exhibits, including a large collection of birds, mammals, reptiles, amphibians, and fish. The bird collection is particularly impressive, with over 10,000 specimens on display. The museum is open to the public and is a popular destination for visitors to the area.

One of the most popular exhibits at the museum is the "Living Museum," which features a large collection of live birds that are native to Iowa. Visitors can see these birds up close and learn about their unique characteristics. The museum also offers a variety of educational programs and activities for visitors of all ages, including guided tours, workshops, and hands-on activities. The museum is a great place to learn about the natural history of Iowa and the region. Visitors can also purchase souvenirs and gifts at the museum gift shop.

The museum is open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Entry is $10 for adults and $5 for children. The museum is located at 141 North Gilbert Street in Iowa City. For more information, visitors can call 319-335-3457 or visit the museum's website at www.museum.ui.edu.

PROGRAM FOR WOMEN
BY FLYING SQUADRON

Mrs. Coliva J. Vayhlinger by her distinguished appearance and winsome personality makes a most creditable appeal in her public address. She has been successful, engaged in individual work ever since her graduation from More H. Hill College. Her greatest appeal is to the women of the county and should prove delightful to her audience.
The author, Miss Laura B. Shaw, some of a musical family and has traveled in the large cities of this country and spent the past summer abroad. She joined the Flying Squadron immediately after her return from Europe in September. Her voice as a female speaker of great expressiveness and full, rich beauty.

CURLEY HERBERTSFIPPEL says that Ames can hold the hokkers for three quarters the chances are that.

The American University will be interested to learn that Mr. HerbertsfippeL and Mr. Pfeiffer have bought the University Telephone company, which has been for the past year controlled by the Burnham brothers.

Mr. HerbertsfippeL and Mr. Pfeiffer are both prominent students in the university, and have taken charge of the business with the idea of giving the best for the money that students can buy. Both men have considerable business experience and they select the grade of the student body, promising that everybody will get a square deal.

The business will be conducted along strictly the same lines that it has in the past. The new firm will sell, rent or exchange all kinds of telephones, and carry a large line of supright supplies and student paper.

AMES ENTERTAINS IOWA

KEVIN BIRD BRED IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

This marks the passing of the last survivor of a species and their preservation.

The National association realizing the widespread interest in the do- plorable incident announced that it would give anyone on request five Col. John No. 6, with the portrait of the pigeon in colors. The response was instantaneous and from all over the country, so that about 3,250 copies were sent out, many of them to persons of great influence and of social prominence. This is an admirable indication of the widely diffused and highly intelligent interest in birds of the world.

HAWKESWAY OUTFLAP

HEAVY AMES ELEVEN

Hawkeyes called the ball over for their second count. Then the second count to rest and did again score until the last period. Once or twice in the third quarter a new formation was sprung with success, but Iowa immediately returned to straight football. When the Hawkeyes opened up Ames was startled at sea. Both teams played old style stand- ing football to a large extent, but Hawley's steam combined tripk plays with a powerful attack and gradually wore down the heavy Ames eleven.

In the last quarter the Cyclone line weakened perceptually by continuous battering and Iowa's last two touchdowns were the result of sweeping runs and terrible line rushes, which took the Ames forward well off its feet. The Hawkeyes ran their plays off with precision and snap. In the great half, however, neither team was able to gain consistently through the lines and resisted to pushing through.

Gronnors and Good Star

The Ames adherents are still talking about Sammy Gross and the chances are that the deed of the star little Iowa quarter will furnish Iowa with its best athlete until the coming winter. Time and again Gross tore loose for ten, twenty and thirty yard runs. When he took the ball Ames roosted his length and burst a sigh of relief when he was brought down. The Cretons seemed unable to stop him. He shook off four and five tacklers at a time and finally tacked, would crawl on another yard or so. He established his reputation Saturday as the greatest open field runner the west has seen since the days of Walter Ebersoll and old stars at the game stated that he had never seen his equal.

Captain Gummbron playing his last contest against Ames, put up the greatest game of his career. The Saturday was noticed only as that of Gross and the Hawkeyes bashed a game that should have al- most making him all big and danderen was in every play break- through repeatedly and thrashing the Ames fieldmen for telling loose. On the offensive he was also a tower of strength and opened great gaps in the Cyclone line. In addition he broke up most of the Ames passes. Garrrean, and Dany for others who starred for Iowa.

Two Week Spots

The Saturday contest showed up two great weaknesses of the Iowa eleven. The line most strength and the men must improve in tack- ling. In the early minutes of the game the Iowa line did not hold. While throughout the contest the Hawkeyes failed to get men, whom they should have brought down with ease. On the other hand Hawley had succeeded in building up a great in- terference for his backs and the off- fensive and defensive work was brilliant. The Hawkeyes especially devoted to advantage in breaking up Ames forward passes.

The Iowa roosters carried the team of the field off the after the whistle blew for the final quarter and jubilations ran high. The Ames roosters did a fine sprint. Between halves both hands passed the field and the Iowa roosters showed the Ames students how to put on a real real show.
