IOWA SPORTS

IOWA'S INDIAN

WINTER SPORTS ARE NOW IN full swing at Iowa. The gymnastics teams, the wrestling crew, the hockey boys and the university football squad are all working out daily in preparation for the contests to come. Much interest is being shown in these teams and the interest is likely to increase.

The Iowa basketball team is now in full swing. The men have been working hard and are looking forward to some great contests. They have had some tough breaks, but they are determined to win.

RECENT VOLUMES ON NEW BOOK SHELVES

"Woman's Suffrage, The World War, and Religion Are Some of Them"

Mr. Grether points out the advantage of meditation over discussions. In his "Suffrage-Votes for Women-Religion," he says, "The most one-sided of all the subjects is religion. It is the one subject that is not discussed in the world."

"The Main Character of the University of Iowa" by E. P. Jordan and H. E. Dobson, Jr. The authors have written a book on the history of the University of Iowa. It is a well-written book and is highly recommended.

"Emerson in the Western World" by W. H. D. Rouse. Emerson's lectures and speeches are reprinted in this volume. The lectures are well-written and are highly recommended.

"The Poet-Emerson" by H. D. Rouse. Emerson's life and work are discussed in this volume. The book is well-written and is highly recommended.

YELOW JOURNALISM

The day of so-called "yellow journalism" is a dark page in the history of American journalism. This revolting type of sensationalist, crass method of news reporting has had and is still having a deleterious effect in creating a public which is not only gullible but is somewhat educated. When the newspapers are not being used as a means of providing information, they are being used as a means of disseminating slander and libel.

AN OFFICIAL NOTICE

The State Board of Health, at a special session held in this city, has issued the following official notice:

"The health of the community is of the utmost importance to the well-being of all individuals. It is therefore imperative that all citizens cooperate in this effort."

the heavyweight class.

The gymnastic team is working under Coach Borchard, a member of last year's team. There are two interstates out, including Norman Perr, who led the 1914 team. A twelve man team will be chosen for this year's competition as soon as the season is opened.

Progresses are very good. The annual meet of the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic association will be held at Lincoln this year early in April. The Iowa gymnastic teams will not be entered but the Hawkeyes competing squad will compete in addition, Chicago, Minneapolis, Winnipeg, Winans and Illinois will be represented. The state gymnastic meet will be held at Ames early in March and the Iowa gymnasts will be entered in this event. Last year's meet was entered and a large numer will probably compete this spring.

A. K. Killeen, manager of athletic department, has just sent out invitations to all the accredited high schools of the state to the eighth annual state track meet which will be held in Iowa City May 11.

Black Island and Moline were included in the invitation and 200 were sent out in all. Last spring 17 schools competed and about 175 were entered. Davenport was the host school and the meet was finished second. It is expected that a larger number of entries will be re-

SEVERAL NEW VOLUMES ON NEW BOOK SHELVES

Professor Hadfield has given recitals at Princeton University for five consecutive years, and Dr. Robert K. Root, Professor English there, says that all who heard him, both undergraduates and family were unanimous in their appreciation: that the renderings were characterized by a fine discrimination, a sense of values, and an unflagging good taste which made the recital works of real art.

Mr. Hadfield has also appeared several times at Yale University, Willam College, Dartmouth College, Phillips Academy, Amherst, Bowdoin College, and in many other places.

His first appearance seems to be a guarantee of return engagements. His appearance in Iowa City is endorsed by the Public Speaking Department of the University in connection with which repayment the recital has been arranged.

entrance examinations. The period of the Civil War retarded educational progress, and in the later 60's, the requirements for admission to the university were decidedly lower than those first established. From this time on until comparatively recent years, it was not difficult for a student to obtain some sort of education in the university even though he might not be able to meet the specific requirements for admission, as announced in the catalogues.

In 1875, the Regents held the foundation for their present system of receiving students by certificates from secondary schools. By that time, the period of secondary study was advanced from 4 to 5 years required for admission to liberal arts. By year, greater latitude in choice of subjects was permitted. In 1871, the period of secondary study was advanced to 4 years, and the number of units required fixed, at present, at 15, about half being required, and half elective. At the present time, however, instead of being limited to a few subjects, the College of Liberal Arts of the University will accept practically anything that is taught in an accredited high school.

For more than 20 years the period of study required for the Bachelor's classical course. Beginning with that year, a student is able to proceed to the degree Bachelor of Arts without Greek or Latin, though culture and training, appropriate to the major in commerce, physical education, and some standard college with a major in physical education. The present period is characterized by great liberality in both secondary and college subjects, and there is evidence that still further changes will be made in the very near future. There are many who believe that the modern degree represents more in cultural value than that of the past; yet it must not be forgotten that never before have the youth of any people had better opportunity than is offered our own. Today, to prepare for the duties which they are expected to discharge, they are less proficient in the classics, and in mathematics, but enjoy vastly more training in those things by means of which the public is educated. Some degree of the present education as lacking in culture, yet with the practical, but many held that in the education of the boy there are served two ends—culture and training, approximating the new definition of culture. The capacity to understand, appreciate, and react to the concrete and problems of modern civilization.
