ENGINEERS MAKE SOME MOMENTOUS DECISIONS

Set Time When Events of Mecca Week Shall Transpire—Toast Program for Banquet Announced

Another meeting of the Associated Students of Applied Science was held last evening and the following points and topics in regard to the forthcoming celebration were decided upon:

The parade will start from the engineering halls between twelve and one o'clock, Tuesday, March 16th, and will proceed as announced below. The method of interesting engineering apparatus in the various institutions is being considered among the parade. Uniformed gardeners will be found at the entrance at the engineering building to pilot visitors over the buildings and shops.

The show will be given on the campus between March 17th and 19th in the National Science Auditorium. The "ticket-takers" that the engineer put for distribution among relatives and friends will be appreciated not less than those of you who will be entering the carnival this afternoon.

The show will be held Wednesday, March 17th, in the parts in the basement of Mr. Smith's school, corner of Crescent and Jefferson streets. Time, 6:15 p.m. The following are the principal speakers on the toast program together with their addresses:

Dr. E. W. Smith, for well representing the students—"Crow;" Prof. J. B. Hill, Department of Electrical Engineering—"Some Questions;" Prof. A. C. Warwick, Geography Department—"On the Hints;" Dean W. G. Raymond, College of Applied Science—"The Problem;" President Thos. M. Hill—"The Us of Our Hand;" Prof. B. R. Lambert will deliver the annual "Chances of Massachusetts" C. L. Bricker to present the toastmaster.

The dance will be given in Co. B Hall Saturday night, March 27th. Peck Dinkham's orchestra will furnish the music. Programmes may be had from dance committee of the Associated Students in Room 198 M, engineering building. Wednesday afternoon, March 17th.

It was further decided, in answer to the many queries put forth by the interested students, that all such students, who had registered in some class or not present, and who had paid up all associated Students' Society dues as of March 19th, 1915, would be entitled to three tickets to the show, as regular members of the Associated Students.

MILLER'S MOTHER'S DAY

B. Russell Miller, L. A., was called upon, and after a short address, said:

Foretelling and Foreseeing Success—Moral Program Inspiring

A professor and instructor inspired me in a most fervent manner, is the way Dr. Gardner's "wonder, "The Secret of the Universal Theme of Success" before the student body last Sunday afternoon at Temple services. It is given reference by all who hear it.

The script, as discussed by the speaker, is that intimate knowledge of truth and life which Christ possessed, and which is the foundation of the Christian religion. Dr. Gadd is the author of the book, and he is in the process of writing several more works in this line of religious education. NOTES

Admission to the Iowa football games was closed, as this season's tickets should have been bought by every student in the university, yet only a small proportion of the student body was present. An opportunity to hear one of the greatest speakers of the day was lost to hundreds of others.

Some of the greatest thinkers, preachers, and lecturers, have been here to pass the year in the college lecture room per se.

It is through the efforts of President Meader that these men have come to address the student body. Other noted men are coming, with lectures and sermons out of the ordinary.

Every student takes his liberty to join afternoon on a month to last these messages.

"The Master Key"

By John Fleming Wilson

"Shall I write them down now, or wait until I am alone?" he thought. "I'll try and be alone."

Both returned to the common room. Mr. Faversham said, "Mr. Doran granted me his consent but only at a fearful price."

"I'll see to that," said Faversham. "I will get this man council and have him tried."

"I want to get you put in jail of my own accord," he told Mr. Doran. "I will not wait for you to ask for it."

"It's my duty," said the man. "I'll do it for you."

"I can't do it," said Faversham. "I will do it for you."

"I can't do it," said the man. "I will do it for you."
