Love is enough, though the world be a-waving.

And the woods have no voice but the voice of complaining.

Though the sky be too dark for the eyes to discover

Though the hills be held shadows,

And this day draw a veil over all don'ts ever,

Yet their feet shall not stumble; their feet shall not fall!

The void shall not weary, the fear shall not enter.

The Rhodes scholarship for the state of Iowa has been held by fourteen from Grinnell College, one from Drake University, one from Central College, one from Luther College, and one from the State University of Iowa.

The winner of a Rhodes scholarship is entitled to spend three years studying at Oxford and travelling in Europe generally, his expenses from the Rhodes trust $5,000 a year.

The examination to select the student for 1915 will be held October 1, 2 and 3. Among the seven applicants for permission to take the test, the university has no far only one representative.

SOLVING A PROBLEM

The Y. M. C. A. everywhere has proved itself particularly able in meeting problems of the social life of youth. In its development of the college, the Iowa association illustrated this peculiar ability of the general institution.

The "inter" is a democratic affair. It brings together a great crowd of young men under circumstances that make each feel kinship to the rest. To the inter, particular, is a welcome solution of the perplexing problem of getting acquainted.

No encouragement of the "inter" is needed. It will continue, and grow in importance, because of its own worth. But no harm will be done by having the men who give their effort to making it a success know that the university recognizes the value of their timely service.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED

It is apparent to those who have taken the trouble to investigate that the reconstructed emory makes a much better man's gymnasium than was thought could be made of it.

The best friends of the particular method of building that was adopted would admit that the result is an university interior. To offset the fault there is the advantage of having much additional space and good equipment on the interior for indoor use.

THE UNOFFICIAL STAFF

More than ever before The Daily Iowan belongs to the students of the State University of Iowa.

The news and editorial columns are open to reports of their activities, and to intelligent statements. The special operation of the readers with the editor and the members of the staff is a feature in the "copy" that has seldom or never will do more than any other one thing to make it a representative newspaper.

The best material for the Iowan is the telephone of the writer, and leave it at the office.

With an enrollment of 3,000 and situated in a city of 12,000, Iowa strives to meet on an equal basis the Athletic Teams of the great western universities, some with a student body of 6,000 and situated in cities of from 30,000 to 2,000,000. In order to overcome this handicap, it is imperative that the student body support Athletics financially. YOU owe it to yourself, the athletes, and the University to support the University teams. IOWA GETS WEST HIGH STAR

Nicolai Register and Will Jouda Freshman Squads—Other Good Men Come.

Nicolai, the north-south West Des Moines high school football star, is now registered as a student in the liberal arts college at Iowa. Information to that effect was issued from the registrar's office yesterday afternoon and was the occasion of much joy on the part of Hawkeye supporters, who immediately began to make predictions regarding the 1916 season.

Nicolai starred for three years in the West Des Moines football, and was picked for the past two years as all-state half. He has been sought by several mid-west colleges and universities. Two weeks ago, Minneapolis papers announced that he had decided to enter Minnesota. The same day the statement was issued, however, Nicolai was in the office of Director Kellogg making arrangements to enter Iowa. He is expected to add much to the Hawkeye backfield next year. He will work out with the freshmen team this fall.

McKenna, another West Des Moines athlete of fame, is also registered at Iowa this year. He has a brilliant reputation as a high school star. His position is at tackle. Garwin, an Ottumwa golden star, is also enrolled among the freshmen students at the university. From East Waterloo high school, Iowa secures two corn husk football performers as in the persons of Dick Rath, half back, and Fred Becker, center. Rath is ranked as one of the fastest backs in the state. He is rather light, but has tremendous driving power and possesses a knack of picking holes in the opposing line. "Red" Albon, a West Waterloo star, will also be seeing those who will try not to be a place on the freshmen squad. He is a half-back.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE FEED

NiswIng and Kent Return from Chicago with Conference Games Arranged.

CONFERENCE SCHEDULE

Jan. 18—Waukon at Iowa City
Jan. 19—Chicago at Champaign
Jan. 21—Minneapolis at Minneapolis
Feb. 15—Chicago at Iowa City
Feb. 22—Minneapolis at Iowa City
Feb. 25—Waukon at Madison.

Director Nelson A. Kellogg and Coach Maurice Kent returned home from Chicago Sunday afternoon where they were in attendance at the annual gathering of the conference athletic managers for the purpose of arranging the big nine basketball dates for the coming season. Iowa will play six conference games this year, each with Chicago, Minneapolis and Wisconsin. Three of the games will be at Iowa City and the other three on foreign fields.

The schedule, although not quite satisfactory in the matter of length, is good from the importance of the names standpoint. The three teams that the Hawkeyes will meet are the strongest in the conference. Director Kellogg is now at work arranging the state basketball schedule for the coming season.

FORMER HAWKEYE POSITIONS

in the University of Iowa, where he served last year as instructor in geology. Leighton studied five years at Iowa, taking his M. A. degree in 1910, and his M. S. degree in 1912. The following year he was elected in a graduate fellowship in the University of Chicago, which honor was again conferred upon him last year.

He completed his residence work there last June for the degree of master of philosophy, and the past summer has been engaged in geological investigations for the Iowa State survey.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton have left for their new home in Seattle. Mrs. Leighton will be remembered as Ada Beach, another graduate of the university.

LEIGHTON NOW AT WASHINGTON

Became Geology Instructor in State University at Seattle After Finishing Graduate Work.

The following text contains information about football practice, student activities, and other events at the University of Iowa. It also mentions the departure of a graduate student.

Football Practice Begins

The fall-practise is also prohibited this year and the rule will run Iowa of a tramp that was frequently resorted to last fall. The Hawkeyes used the fall practice to advantage in almost every game played. In the Chicago contest, however, it worked dismally to Hawkey's man, the Missouri breaking it up for losing issue.

Coach Hawley will also be prevented from coaching in a few of the practices in the last minutes of play in the practice games, as the substitution of players in the last period is prohibited and no re-admission allowed except at the beginning of the period.

Coaching Staff Same

The coaching staff this year will remain the same as last season. Jack Watson will be head coach, Maurice Kent, first assistant coach; and Ed Adams, second assistant.

Jack Watson will continue to take care of the branched and injured athletes.

Iowa opens the season Oct. 7 when Cornell comes to Iowa Field. Morningfield college comes to Iowa City Oct. 5. These two contests will conclude the practice games and Oct. 14, Hawley will take his charges to Minneapolis, where they meet the gophers. Northwestern plays here Oct. 25 in the first big home game. There is then a two week's respite. The Hawkeyes swing into action again Nov. 6 with Purdue as opponents at Lafayette. The annual Ames game falls on Nov. 13 at homecoming time. Iowa closes the season Nov. 20 with Nebraska at Lincoln.
