'17 HAWKEYE PLANS ADVANCED

Editor Van Nostrand, Far Ahead—
Will Talk to Printers.

Frank Van Nostrand, editor of the 1917 Hawkeye, has been hard at work the last week finishing the plans for this year's annual. He began last spring and expects to have the entire plans for the book ready to submit to the printer by the last of the week.

The plans now are about three months in advance of what they ever have been before, he believes, and will enable the staff to put more time into details of the book which they have heretofore been forced to slight.

The remaining members of the staff are being rapidly chosen and the announcement of the appointments will probably be made next week. A great many changes have been made in the lineup of the staff this year in an effort to select those who can and will work to put out the largest and best Hawkeye ever published by a Junior class.

EXPECT VICTORY TODAY

IOWA TEAM IN FINE CONDITION
FOR SECOND GAME

Light Scrimmage against Freshmen and Signal Practice Feature Final Preparation.

With a long signal practice and a light scrimmage work-out Hawley's Hawkeyes completed their preparations for the Morningside game yesterday afternoon. Today on Iowa Field they will face the Sioux City eleven in the second contest of the year.

Every man on the team is in perfect physical condition today, barring one or two minor injuries. The work of the backfield is still somewhat ragged, however, and the interference is not nearly as efficient as Hawley would have it.

Expect Hard Game.

The Hawkeyes are expecting a hard battle this afternoon and it will not be surprising if their margin of victory is large. The Morningside eleven is known to be very strong. They have a heavy line, while their backfield performers are all heavy and fast. They have adopted a forward passing formation which is calculated to give Iowa considerable trouble.

Unless Morningside proves stronger than anticipated, however, Iowa will play nothing but straight football. Coach Hawley is keeping his bag of tricks carefully guarded for the Northwestern and Minnesota games and will resort to old fashioned line smashes and end runs today. Morningside, on the contrary, is expected to give a brilliant exhibition of open field football, as they have been working with the idea in mind of trimming the Old Gold squad.

Team Selected.

Coach Hawley will start his varsity eleven against the Methodists. If they succeed in rolling up three or four touchdowns early in the game, he will probably give several of his second and third string men an opportunity to get into the fray. The men who will start this afternoon are:

The varsity yesterday showed great adeptness in solving the Morningside plays, used by the first year eleven, and succeeded in breaking up the formations before they fairly got started. The forward passing, as copied from the Morningside style of play, continued to give them much trouble, however.

ROOTERS FILL AUDITORIUM

Second Mass Meeting of Year Brings
Out Big Crowd for Speeches.

The auditorium was filled to capacity last night for the second mass meeting of the year. The whole affair was full of life and there was plenty of evidence of the "get together" spirit that the Hawkeye club is working to establish.

Under the hands of Dean Teeters everything went off with a snap that was maintained by the various speakers. Assistant Coach Adams emphasized the need of student support off the field as well as on it. If you can't play, tutor some of those that can," he said. His statement that the union is the melting pot of the university was well received.

Cornelia Prentiss argued that there is no connection between football and "fussing". "You don't need the men's support . . . yet . . ." she told the girls, "but the team does need yours."

"Feet" Hands stated the position of the Hawkeye club on their endeavor to amalgamate the spirit of the several colleges. He made an appeal, and then said that he would make it a personal issue if they didn't give them a chance to "try it out."

"Bill" Purcell and H. G. Walker clinched the endeavor to get the students to organize their spirit. "If I were the president of the United States I would make Hawley commander-in-chief and Barron a general, and Kellogg head of the commissary department, and have 'Jimmy' carry the flag," Walker said.

VOLUNTEERS TO DRILL TODAY

All men who are going to Cedar Rapids with the company which will drill at the military tournament are requested by the commandant to report at the armory this morning. Practice drills will be the order in preparation for the demonstration work.

TENNIS PAIRINGS ARE POSTED

E. G. Schroeder, physical director, announces that those who have entered the tennis tournament now being staged on the university courts will find the pairings posted on the bulletin board on the tennis courts. Every man entered is urged to look up his man and play him as soon as possible.

Those who have not played off their singles by Saturday, Oct. 16, will be declared eliminated and the doubles will be begun at that time. The drawings for the doubles will be found on the bulletin board Monday, Oct. 11. The entries for them will close tomorrow.

MEDICS WIN FOR HINDT

THIRTY UNEXPECTED VOTES
DEFEAT BARRON.

Kroppach and Whole Ticket Carry Junior Election, Winning from Bannick and Mates.

Bringing in thirty votes of sophomore medics, William Hindt won the presidency of the senior liberal arts class from Stub Barron by a vote of 38 to 68.

Hindt's performance was a surprise to his opponent. It was a new move for class politics, but ruled a perfectly legitimate one. It resulted in the election of three others of the representative ticket which Hindt led.

Three Independents In

Cornelia Prentiss, Grover Jacobson, and F. A. Barricklow are the only candidates of the independents who won in spite of the surprise move of the Hindt faction. They were elected vice president, class delegate, and treasurer, respectively.

The vote in the senior class was as follows: for president, William Hindt 33; Stub Barron 68; for vice president, Don Harrison 58; Cornelia Prentiss 95; for recording secretary, Katharine Cook 85; Magdalene Freyder 66; for corresponding secretary, Kittle Kurz 80; Helen Dowlin 72; for treasurer, Shannon B. Charleton 74; F. A. Barricklow 76; for class delegate, Edna Murphy 58; Grover Jacobson 95; for athletic manager, M. E. Mortimore 120.

Kroppach Junior President.

The ticket led by Art Kroppach carried without a break, in the junior election. The vote was as follows: for president, Art Kroppach 112, Ed Bannick 78; for vice president, Gwendolyn McClain 107, Ernest Hunter 81; for treasurer, Francis Barnhart 99, Ralph Fritz 73; for recording secretary, John Parsons 112, Irene Stapleton 76; for corresponding secretary, Myrie Robinson 108, Milton Stadt 77; for class delegate, Mary Kinnavey 118, Ruth Rath 65; for athletic manager, Loren Schiff 138.

LOWDEN AND LAW

When The Chicago Tribune asked Frank O. Lowden, Iowa graduate of the class of '85 who is one of the prospective candidates for governor of Illinois, how he stood on the subject of Sunday closing of saloons, he replied as follows:

"There can be no dispute between good citizens as to the question of enforcement of the law. As executive, if I should be nominated and elected, it would be my duty to invoke and employ whatever power is invested in the office by the constitution and the statutes, to execute and enforce the law, and this duty would apply to the Sunday closing law as well as to any other. If I am elected governor I shall perform this duty without fear, and without favor."

His reply shows exactly the frame of mind Iowa education tends to develop. Chicago is making a great fuss—over what? Over passage of a restrictive law? Not at all. Chicago is in a near frenzy over the fact that Mayor Thompson has decided to enforce a state law that has been ignored for years. In Iowa we take law enforcement as a matter of course. We are so simple as to hold that laws are made to some purpose. Does anyone believe that the whole state of Iowa will raise half the cry when the absolute prohibition law goes into effect next January that Chicago is making over the proposal to observe a law that has long been on the statute books? Of course not. Lowden has the Iowa attitude in his political philosophy.

NOW TO WORK

Class elections are over for another year. The atmosphere we have been living in the last few days has been much too political to be either natural or comfortable, and there have been trials for some of us. It's mighty hard for a man to have not only to count his friends but also get out and see that they get safely to the polls. But now we can all take a deep breath and settle down to note books and lectures, common every day things. We are all satisfied with yesterday's returns. Let us congratulate the victors. We may assure ourselves that the affairs of our class are in safe hands for the year.

FOR THE FRESHMEN

Freshmen, here is something for you. It is the advice of The Michigan Daily to the Michigan students. It expresses what is expected of you at Iowa. Here it is:

"If you can give the best that is in you for the university; if you put the university above clique, above class, above fraternity; if you keep her name clean and her record bright we are with you, otherwise —"

One hundred engineers at the university of Utah were arrested when they "rushed" the main gate and several sideshows at the Utah state fair. The six hours or more they spent in jail they made enjoyable for themselves and miserable for the regular residents by practicing songs and evolving new college yells.
