The Hawkeye plans advanced

Editor Van Nestorren, far Ahead;

Will you or Prentiss?

Frank Van Nestorren, editor of the '17 Hawkeye, has been busy to get the plans for this year's annual. He has just last spring and expects to have the full plans for the book ready for the press by the last of the week.

The plans are now three weeks in advance of what they have been before, he believes, and will enable the staff to get more cost of the plans for the book, and to keep on previous work. I have been hurried up in the event of the book by the best of the week.

The remaining members of the staff are being rapidly chosen and the arrangement of the appointments will probably be made next week.

The Hawkeye is not going to go on the press this year. It will be printed in the press by the last of the week.
