FORM WOMEN'S CLASSES

GYMNASIUM WORK TO START
MIDDLE OF WEEK

Mrs. Bates's Classes This Year Break
All Records—315 New Girls

"Regular gymnasium classes will begin the middle of the week," Mrs. Alice Bates announced at the women's gymnasium yesterday. "As for swimming classes, we are as yet unable to tell when they will start."

The enrollment in the woman's gymnasium this year breaks all records. From the freshman and sophomore classes 538 students have registered.

"We have already completed the measurements of 315 new girls, all of whom are freshmen, except a few who have transferred from other schools," Mrs. Bates announced. "Former students totalling 167 are registered for regular work. The class enrollments are so large it is impossible for us to handle sections. Neither the athletic accommodations nor the indoor work will permit the number of regular students now enrolled. New sections are being formed and we hope to be able to take the girls out on the hockey field the middle of this week."

New Sections.

"So far, one new regular section of freshmen has been organized, one of sophomores, and two special classes. The term 'special' we use to designate those girls who, upon medical examination have been found below par. In addition to these, twenty-five have been assigned to remedial work. In this latter form the student meets with the instructor for special and individual prescription."

Five hundred thirty-eight women will be doing required work in this department. It is estimated from the popularity of swimming, aesthetic dancing, and heavy apparatus, which has been inspired by one glimpse of the main gymnasium, since the new equipment has been installed, that the total will be several hundred more. Last year 26 girls took some kind of gym work. With the splendid new equipment and the possibilities which surround it, the past record will be far surpassed.

CLUB SELECTS NEW MEMBERS

The university dramatic club, from its two try-outs in the past two weeks, has chosen the following people to become new members: Marjorie Madden, Helen Fisher, Mary Ellen Crane, Helen Schmidt, Alonzo Campbell, Louise Josephine Dobbs, Lewis Holt, Floyd Veatch, Lucile Waldron, Homer Roland, Harry Seams, Irwin Naekel, and Philip Souers. Miss McGovern and Percival Hunt acted as the judges of the tryouts.

PLAN MINNEAPOLIS BANQUET

Minnesota Alumni of Iowa and Students Attending Game from Here To Celebrate.

The Iowa alumni association of Minneapolis will hold a banquet on the night of October 23 after the Iowa-Minnesota game, according to word received from Richard D. Marsh, president of the association. The members will attend the game in a body. Any Iowa student who plans on going to the game is invited to write to Mr. Marsh at the Metropolitan Life building, if he wishes to secure seats with the Iowa followers.

The same invitation is extended for the banquet which will be held at the Dayton tea rooms at six thirty, after the game. The cost will be $1.50 a plate. Students or alumni anticipating attending should let Mr. Marsh know in advance.

President Macbride was asked to speak but will not be able to accept. Professor C. B. Wilson of the German department will go in his place.

GOOD CROSS COUNTRY TIME

Hartman Leads Field of Fifteen Runners Who Compete for Places on Squad.

Harold Hartman, last year's cross country captain, finished first in the tryouts yesterday evening. His time was 30:35.

The other fourteen men finished in the following order: Donald Lister, Luke Linnan, Harold Schell, Cyril Saunders, Vernon Fisher, William A. Wencel, Hugh Guernsey, A. F. Block, Robert Maltzberger, Walter Franke, Clifton Cooper, George A. Atkinson. Ralph Paige did not finish.

The first twelve men in today's trials will compete next Saturday for the nine places on the squad.

STUDYING PLAY OF CHILDREN

Prof. Irving King of the college of education has organized two classes of women, one in Iowa City and the other in Cedar Rapids, for the purpose of studying the educational value of play with children under school age.

The women agree to purchase some carefully selected educational toys, and to study their value with reference to their own children. Observations will be made of the development of the children along the line of play, and of the activities of the normal child. Professor King has about twenty-five in each class, and reports a great deal of interest on the part of the members.

Faculty Members Lecture to Ames Instructors on Essentials of Finished Teaching

Members of the Iowa faculty have begun a series of lectures before the instructors at the state college to teach them how to be good instructors—the polish of teaching is being explained to the Ames faculty.

Upon the invitation of the state college, the department of education has taken charge of a series of lectures which are addressed to the younger faculty members of the college.

The first lecture of the series was delivered last Friday by Dr. Ernest Horne, of the department of education. His subject was "Types of Questions and Common Mistakes". Dean W. A. Jessup is to be the next speaker. He will discuss "Variations and Individuality among Students".

IN CHARGE OF LABORATORY

Dr. Frieda Hirschburg of Grand Rapids, Michigan, has taken charge of the laboratory of internal medicine in the university hospital. She comes from the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago.

BEIFELD ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. A. Beifeld went to Chicago Friday to attend the congress of pediatricians being held there now.

STATE EDUCATORS WILL MEET

College of Education and Extension Division to Direct Annual Conference of Superintendents.

Invitations have been issued by the college of education and the extension division of the university for the second annual conference of school supervision to be held at the university on December 9, 10, and 11. These invitations are extended to all the superintendents, principals, and supervisors in the state.

A good programme is planned for this year, and several men of national reputation along educational lines will be present. Among the noted speakers will be S. A. Curtis, of Detroit, who spoke last year; Dr. Judd, of Chicago university, and Dr. Leonard Ayres, of the Russell Sage foundation. Over two hundred were present at the conference last year and an even greater attendance is predicted for this year.

MEASUREMENTS FOR UNIFORMS

Measurements for the military uniforms of the freshmen will be taken at the office of Lieut. Phinney on Tuesday, and all cadets not equipped with a uniform must report on that day. Deposit of $15.40, the price of the outfit, must be made at the office of the university secretary before reporting, and the receipt for this amount presented at the time of measurement. The war in Europe has raised the price of uniforms generally, but the university contracted for its equipment last winter and the students here do not feel the effects of the high price.

SOCIETIES GET ATTENDANCE

A large attendance at each of the literary society programmes Friday night is evidence that more interest is being taken in forensics this year than ever before.

Zetagathian took in Peter Peterson, Harold Stover, Powell, Kruikshank, Jessup, and Jones.

Philomathean and Octave held a joint reception for the new members. Their programme was closed.

Edward Rate and William Shaw were taken in as new members of Irving.

The John Marshall law society held their first regular meeting Friday evening. The program consisted of the trial of a hypothetical jury case.

At the business meeting held after the programme Orville W. Harris, Leonard H. Racker, and Arben Young were voted into membership.

DR. HAMMAN HOLDS CLINIC

Dr. S. W. Hamman of St. Louis held clinic in the university hospital yesterday forenoon. He discussed various remarkable cases that have come to his notice in his work in St. Louis.

IOWA OUTPLAYS PURPLE

DESPERATE GAME ENDS IN 9 TO 6 VICTORY

Davis Boots Three Field Goals when Hawkeye Drives Stop Short of Posts

Three goals from the field, kicked by Elwood Davis, gave Iowa a 9 to 6 victory over Northwestern yesterday on Iowa field.

Iowa won only after a stiff battle with the invading Purple. Northwestern was outplayed, however, in every period of the contest. The Purple forward wall, unable to withstand the terrific battering of the Hawkeye backs, gradually weakened as the contest progressed and Murphy's team was forced onto the defensive throughout the second half.

When the whistle blew terminating the game, only six inches separated the Hawkeyes from the Northwestern goal.

The Iowa eleven, with but few exceptions, played straight football throughout. On only three occasions did they open up their play to any extent and each time they netted substantial gains. On the other hand, Northwestern resorted to a wide variety of plays. The Hawkeye line held like a proverbial stone wall.

Passes Intercepted.

In the last quarter Northwestern threw pass after pass. They were unfortunate, however, in that most of them failed or were intercepted by Old Gold players. Only two Purple passes met with any degree of success during the game. One from Underhill to Crane netted 20 yards, while another from Driscoll to Underhill gained 25 yards. Two short passes netted small gains.

Practically the entire second half was played in Northwestern territory. On numerous occasions the Hawkeyes worked the ball down to the Purple 15 yard line, but the Northwestern forwards held for downs. Iowa was penalized heavily for offside play during the last half.

On only one occasion during the entire game did Northwestern seriously threaten the Iowa goal. In the first quarter, after Davis had registered the first three points for Iowa with a drop kick from the 20 yard line, Driscoll received a punt on his own 15 yard line and with great interference raced through a broken field to Iowa's 15 yard line. Almost every man on the Iowa team had his hands on him before he was finally brought down. A penalty and two successive smashes by Driscoll carried the ball over for a touchdown after that it was Iowa all the way.

Backs Gain Steadily.

The Hawkeye play was somewhat ragged at the start of the contest, but the team soon braced and the Belle Gray Curtis in Ames Evening Times: "At the recent convention of the Association of American Universities held at Berkeley, California, Dr. Thomas H. Macbride, president of the State University of Iowa, beloved and revered by thousands of students and alumni throughout the United States, was unanimously chosen and elected to the high office of president of the association. This came as a complete surprise to the distinguished scholar and educator, for it was entirely unsolicited by him. Dr. Macbride hopes to bring the 1917 convention to Iowa City.

"Right here we would like to impress upon all Iowans to be more loyal to her state institutions, and send their sons and daughters to our own schools. Too many, we fear, go to other states, to obtain an education. With the largest, finest and best equipped agricultural college in the United States; with a university that ranks with the best state universities, where every profession can be acquired; a university that has sent forth thousands of noted men and women to various high and honorable positions and offices throughout the land; a university, on whose roll of honor are the names of Emlin McClain, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, R. M. Anderson, Emerson Hough, George W. Clarke, Harvey Ingham, Frank O. Lowden, and others too numerous to mention, there is no necessity for Iowa boys and girls to seek knowledge outside the borders of their own state. To the new slogan 'Made in Iowa,' add 'Go to school in Iowa.'

Baseball is about to be a thing of the past at Minnesota because the faculty fears some of the men composing the nine play the game for money in the summer time.

Student self government is now in force at the University of Utah. The first result was a fight to see who still controlled the student council or the faculty.

Not Persecution

To the Editor:

Your article about Canadian universities in this morning's issue does, I believe, grave injustice to the University of Toronto, and in several instances, seems based on complete misunderstanding of my remarks. Mistakes of various degrees of importance may perhaps be passed over here. For instance the German professor's son, who was only a boy, was not forced to leave the country. But your use of the word "persecution" seems to me serious. I should scarcely be inclined to admit that the German professor in question was "persecuted". The University of Toronto, as a state institution, was naturally bound to heed the sentiment of its environment; deaths in Toronto and other Canadian families were constantly reported, and the people could not feel well-disposed toward a German professor whose relatives were engaged in killing Canadian citizens, especially in view of the fact that the professor in question was at that time a citizen of Germany. Some of the native German professors left, I believe, voluntarily, and came to the United States. This course was also open to the professor in question; if he preferred to remain and take out naturalization papers he was bound, necessarily, to swear allegiance to the country of which he wished to become a citizen, and I fail to see why this requirement should be called a "persecution". On the contrary, the attitude of President Falconer, who is a man of broad and liberal ideas, was thoroughly admirable, and left the professor in question no cause for complaint. I expressly told the reporter who interviewed me that no blame attaches either to Canada or to its main university, which, as a university, is conducted upon a broad and humane basis; and though I did say that I was sorry for the German professor in question, who through no fault of the university, was placed in a trying situation, I never for a moment implied that he was "persecuted" or unjustly treated. Could England in such a time be expected to allow a non-naturalized German citizen to occupy a teaching position at Oxford? Yours very truly, FRANCIS SNOW, October 14.

 backfield worked with clock-like regularity. Time and again Laun and Kerwick dashed around the ends and through the tackles for good gains, and Gross frequently broke loose for substantial advances. In the second half Garretson assumed the smashing burden and ripped up the Purple defense.
 Davis was, however, the bright star for the Hawkeys. In addition to his drop kicking, which brought victory to Iowa, he was a power on the defense and his tackling was sure and hard.

Driscoll and Patterson were the Northwestern stars. Driscoll's punting featured the Purple game. He had a slight margin over Kerwick and Laun in this particular.

"A Fool There Was"

Presenting Theda Bara in
Robert Hilliard's Greatest Success

An Adaptation from Rudyard Kipling's
Famous Poem
"THE VAMPIRE"

By Porter Emerson Brown Direction of Frank Powell

This sensational play, one of the most successful of the century, and for many years the starring vehicle of Robert Hilliard, has been converted into a supremely vivid and startling photo-play by the William Fox forces.

Edward Jose, former leading man with Sarah Barnhardt, portrays in a masterly manner the "Fool" who forsakes family and friends for a soulless, sensational creature in the guise of a beautiful woman.

Theda Bara, leading woman at the Theatre Antoine, Paris, has been cast as the "Vampire," one of the most fascinating, though revolting female characters ever created.

Miss Bara's interpretation is remarkable for intense dramatic realism, while her wonderfully seductive beauty serves to enhance the illusion created by her art. Her gowns in this production were designed by the leading costumers of her native Paris.

Mabel Frenyear, Victor Benoit, May Allison, Clifford Bruce, and little Runa Hodges, the clever child actress, together with many other players of reputation and ability, form a supporting company such as has seldom been gathered for a single production

A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I!
To a rag and a bone and a hank of hair
(We called her the woman who did not care)
But the fool he called her his lady fair
(Even as you and I!

Oh, the years we waste and the tears we waste
And the work of our head and hand,
Belong to the woman who did not know
(And now we know she never could know)
And did not understand.

The fool was stripped to his foolish hide
(Even as you and I!
Which she might have seen when she threw him aside—
(But it isn't on record the lady tried)
So some of him lived, but the most of him died,
(Even as you and I!

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white-hot brand—
It's coming to know that she never knew why
(Seeing at last she could never know why)
And she never could understand.
