THE DAILY IOWAN

THE DAY'S WORK

The October number of the Bookman contains the first of a series of particularly interesting articles by various writers upon the subject, "What the Day's Work Means to Me." This month Alton Fellows Bacon has written of her daily life and of what it means to her.

In her charming style, Mrs. Bacon tells us of the nature of her work, of her family, and of her social duties. Then she describes the occupation of her few spare hours, and tells how she crowns the splendid literary work of which she is so capable into the moments of the day and night when she is free from other responsibilities.

We are given an opportunity to read in this article what the day's work means to one woman of prominence, and in the following articles we will have a chance to compare Mrs. Bacon's view with that of other articles of note. The names within.

The Bookman announces as future contributors to this series are those of Louise Moorhead Hall, Oasis Gale, Ids M. Parkett, Geraldine Albertson, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, and others.

The Harvard Critic is to have a new home in the near future. The library has been raised through donations from former editors and managers, accumulated funds and popular subscription. The approximate value of the contemplated building and the land is $60,000.

The students of the University of Kansas failed in their attempt to clarify bus cars to ride to Norman, Oklahoma, in order to witness the Kansas-Oklahoma football game.

The University of Oklahoma also tried, and failed, to send five hundred "Texas" fans to the game at two dollars a head. It's getting to be an epidemic.

At Minneapolis, the editor has gone out from the governing student council that from this time on the Truckers shall wear uniform caps.

Reorganization Sale of the Golden Eagle Clothing Store of Iowa City, Iowa, will open Thurs., Nov. 4, 1915, and will continue until the entire present stock is sold out.

The sale of all sales $40,000 worth of high-grade clothing and furnishings for men, young men and children will be offered to the public at less than cost of manufacture.

Store closes all day Wednesday to arrange stock.

Bremner Bros. of Illinois have purchased through the attorneys, Messrs. Otto, Otto and E. B. Wilson, the entire clothing stock of the Golden Eagle at a very low price. As we are here to stay and make this our home, we are going to put forth our greatest efforts to make this the Ideal clothing store in Southern Iowa. Therefore, we are going to hold this sale in order to sell out the entire present stock of Fall and Winter merchandise so as to enable us to begin the Spring season of 1916 with an entire new stock and new fixtures. This store will be known as the Golden Eagle, Bremner Bros., Proprietors.

At $2.00 Blouses That Closely Resemble the Far More Costly Models. New Models on Sale Tomorrow.

We have frequently made some very complimentary remarks about those $2.00 Blouses, and many people are greatly surprised that Blouses of this character can be bought for such a very moderate sum. In the usual course of events we could not sell them at this price, but as we have so often stated, we have a particularly fortunate arrangement with the makers, that makes it possible. These arrangements are made with but one good store in every city.

The Welworth Blouse is Sold Here Exclusively.
